HOOVER TO GET KIND OF TARIFF BILL HE FAVORS

Radicals Dislike It; Fight Nearly Over.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 4.—[Special.]—With all rate controversies disposed of and with yesterday's house actions pointing to elimination of the senate's export debenture and flexible provisions, the tariff bill now seems destined to reach the White House in form acceptable to President Hoover.

As the bill stands administration Republicans believe that it conforms fairly well to the President's original recommendation for generous increases in duties on agricultural products and a "limited" revision of industrial rates.

The bill fails to satisfy completely the Republican senators from eastern states who would like more substantial boosts in duties on products of their industries. It is much less obnoxious to them, however, than the bill as passed by the senate.

Lumber Action Suits Hoover.

The house approval of retention of lumber and shingles on the free list and of the lower senate rate on sugar is believed to have made the bill much more pleasing to Mr. Hoover than it would have been otherwise. Although the President refused steadfastly to mix in rate controversies it is known that he disapproved of some of the high rates of the original house bill and particularly of the placing of various building materials, including lumber, on the dutiable list. Duties on cement and brick remain in the bill.

Mr. Hoover has won out so far on the only two propositions on which he took a definite stand, the export debenture and the flexible tariff. It is believed that as a result of the overwhelming votes of the house yesterday against the senate provisions for an export debenture farm relief scheme and repeal of the flexible tariff the senate will approve the dropping of both proposals. This action set for the middle of the week will not come without a considerable amount of oratory and criticism of the President.

Farm Groups Satisfied.

Spokesmen for the farm groups express satisfaction with duties on most agricultural products, although they do not like certain features, such as the rates on hides, leather, and shoes. The Democrats expect to find ample campaign material in the bill.

In a statement issued today through the Democratic national committee, Representatives James W. Collier [Dem., Miss.], who had charge of the tariff bill for the house minority, says that it goes back to the senate carrying "the highest rates of any bill ever enacted by the American congress."

The radical Republicans also are dissatisfied with the final bill in view of the upward revision by the conferees of many of the industrial duties which they were instrumental in reducing in the senate.

Compilations by the tariff commission show that the duties in the conference bill, as approved by the house and awaiting approval by the senate, when converted to an ad valorem basis represent an average of about 41 per cent. The house bill average was [illegible] per cent, while the senate bill average was 38.97 per cent. The average of the present Fordney-McCumber law is 34.59 per cent.

Economists Against Increase.

A final blast at the enactment of a tariff bill increasing present duties was issued today in the form of a statement signed by more than 1,000 economists who are members of the American Economic association. Dr. Clair Wilcox, associate professor of economics at Swarthmore college, has presented copies of the statement to President Hoover and to congressional leaders. It urges that the President veto the bill if congress approves it.

"We are convinced that increased restrictive duties would be a mistake," says the statement. "They would operate, in general, to increase the prices which domestic consumers would have to pay. By raising prices, they would encourage concerns with higher costs to undertake production, thus compelling the consumer to subsidize waste and inefficiency in industry. At the same time they would force him to pay higher rates of profit to established firms which enjoyed lower production costs. A higher level of duties, such as is contemplated by the Smoot-Hawley bill would therefore raise the cost of living and injure the great majority of our citizens."

SMUGGLE CHIEF OF INDIA REVOLT TO CELL IN FORT

Arrest of 'Holy Man' Stuns Followers.

JALALPUR, India, May 5.—[Monday]—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the Indian civil disobedience movement against British rule in India, was suddenly arrested in this village this morning.

The "holy man" was smuggled aboard a Gujerat mail train and taken to the town of Borivli, a station 30 miles from Bombay. There he was transferred to an automobile, which immediately dashed off toward Poona.

Held Without Trial.

Gandhi was taken to the central jail at Yerroda, a town near Poona. Poona is a British military stronghold and the headquarters of an army command. Elaborate precautions were taken by the authorities to prevent violence or attempts at rescue. Gandhi will be detained without trial.

Under the terms of regulation 25 of the laws of 1827 the idol of the Hindu masses will remain in prison at the pleasure of the government of India.

His arrest, following a week of comparative tranquillity since the riots at Calcutta, Karachi, and Peshawar, which were disavowed by Gandhi, had been heralded by many rumors, but finally came with a shock of surprise.

Effect Not Visible at Once.

Upon his followers its effects were not immediately visible. The government, which, in the face of his overt provocation inviting arrest since he first violated the salt monopoly at the village of Dandi April 6, played a cautious waiting game. Many of Gandhi's assistants, including two of his sons, were taken into custody and imprisoned after summary trials, while, with regard to Gandhi, the British bided their time.

(Mohandas Karachand Gandhi, mahatma or "holy one" of the Hindu masses, has had a previous acquaintance with British prisons, though never for any other than a political offense. With C. R Das, he launched in 1919 a wide flung agitation against British sovereignty. The government took steps to end all political meetings. Gandhi then began a movement of nonviolent resistance. The mahatma was arrested and tried under the civil disobedience acts. Sentenced to five years' imprisonment, he was, however, released in a few months.)

BRITAIN PUSHES DRIVE

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

CALCUTTA, India, May 4.—Backed by Prime Minister MacDonald and his Labor government of Great Britain, Lord Irwin, viceroy of King George, today began to wield an iron hand to stamps out the rapidly growing revolt in India.

Under new orders from the viceroy the authorities of Bengal, of which Calcutta is the principal city, today arrested a large number of leaders of the Indian National congress, which has been supporting Mahatma Gandhi's salt tax war, foreign cloth boycott, and other moves designed to win the freedom of this nation of more than 310,000,000 of people. Eleven members of the Indian congress were given sentences of imprisonment for one year at hard labor.

Wholesale Arrests Reported.

Arrests of many prominent leaders of the Gandhi revolt in other cities of India were also reported. Public meetings throughout India are being ordered suspended.

The sudden onslaught against the revolt leaders took many of them by surprise, because the contents of the viceroy's letter, ordering stern enforcement of the sedition laws, has not yet become generally known largely because of the general suspension of the Indian press, and the fact that the British owned papers usually omit Sunday issues.

The viceroy's statement said Gandhi's campaign of civil disobedience has failed, but has resulted in the unchaining of dangerous forces which thrive upon the disorder. This has provoked a crisis and compelled the stern maintenance of laws and authority before the situation gets out of hand, it adds.

The Indian press remains muzzled, while little news is received over the wires beyond new details of the government's plans to further strengthen its military forces in the Peshawar region, where 20 were killed in riots, and which, it is alleged, the communists control. They are accused of trying to incite trans-border tribes. How-

CHICAGO WOMAN DIES FROM HIKE IN SNOWDRIFTS

Ontario, Cal., May 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Mildred Percy, 35, of Chicago, died of exposure today after struggling through four foot snowdrifts while on a hiking trip.

Mrs. Percy, who had been spending the winter in Pasadena, where she was studying child welfare work, left the Icehouse Canyon resort early last night for a five mile hike to Kelly's camp, deeper in the mountains.

Attendants advised her not to attempt the hike, as she was clad only in light sport clothes and snow was falling.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Turner of Pasadena followed Mrs. Percy and caught up with her three miles from the resort. They said she was floundering through deep drifts and apparently near exhaustion. They said she refused to return with them. Finally they forced her to accompany them back. After fighting deep drifts in the dark, Mrs. Percy collapsed. The Turners left her in the shelter of a fallen tree and went to seek aid. When the woman was brought to the resort Dr. S. A. Craig pronounced her dead.

Mrs. Percy is survived by two children in Pasadena and her husband, Carl Percy, Oakland, Cal., from whom she was estranged.

RUSH TO BEACHES AS TEMPERATURE MOUNTS TO 83

Following a somewhat chilly night, the south wind and the sun sent the temperature soaring in summer fashion yesterday and thousands flocked to the beaches to escape the almost sultry weather of midafternoon.

From a minimum of 53 degrees at 7 a. m., the mercury climbed with celerity and at 4 p. m. attained the height of 83 degrees, just 29 points above normal for this period. The forecaster, C. A. Donnel, predicted showers and cooler temperatures for today.

While the beaches played to the biggest patronage thus far in this season, few availed themselves of the bathing facilities, for the lake temperature was 45 degrees, about ten points too low for swimming comfort.

A fatality for which the heat was partly blamed occurred when Fred Husser, 32 years old, 619 Blackhawk street, a former policeman, collapsed and died of heart disease after running the bases in a neighborhood ball game.

Queen Marie Attends Rites for 150 Lost in Church Fire

COTESCI, Rumania, May 4.—(AP)—Dowager Queen Marie, members of the court and government officials, today attended with thousands of peasants a memorial service for nearly 150 persons killed in the burning of the local church during services on Good Friday.

Three Killed as Train Hits Baseball Party

A truck bearing thirty baseball players and rooters to a game between two Catholic parish teams was demolished by an express train yesterday at 154th and Halsted streets, in Harvey. Trapped in the cab of the truck three of the party, including a father and son, were killed and a fourth was perhaps fatally hurt, while the others leaped to the ditch and escaped uninjured.

The team representing St. Joseph's church, 48th street and Hermitage avenue, had hired Samuel Koscielniak, 35 years old, 4718 South Wood street, to drive the party to the field in Phoenix, where they were to meet the team of St. John the Baptist church. The driver, his 11 year old son, Walter, and two others crowded into the cab, while the other 26 wedged themselves in on benches behind.

Hear Whistles of Train.

The two ton truck was almost in sight of the field when a whistle blast came from the New Yorker, eastbound express of the Grand Trunk Western railroad, which was approaching the crossing at 50 miles an hour.

Attempting a spurt across the tracks, Koscielniak killed the engine of the truck. The 26 in the rear kicked over benches and leaped to the ditch, but the driver, his son, and the other two in the cab were still fumbling with the doors when the locomotive struck.

Father and Son Die.

Frank Raska, 50 years old, 4860 South Honore street, was instantly killed. Koscielnak died in the Ingalls Memorial hospital, Harvey, of a skull fracture and internal injuries. His son, whose right arm was torn off at the elbow, died from loss of blood.

James Skonoeczny, 36 year old, 4824 South Hermitage avenue, suffered a skull fracture and internal injuries, and was not expected to live, according to the hospital surgeons. The players, none of whom was scratched, won the game, but there was no cheering as they went home.

One Killed in Freak Crash.

In a freak collision at Lawrence and Oakley avenues last night one pedestrian was killed, another was critically hurt and two escaped uninjured, as did the two motorists involved. William Mettelstaedt, 55 years old, 4809 North Irving avenue, was crushed to death and Mrs. Alice Burns, 40 years old, secretary of Ravenswood hospital, residing at 4811 North Irving avenue, incurred a skull fracture and internal injuries. Mettelstaedt's wife and Mrs. Burns' small daughter were unhurt.

The collision occurred when Hal P. Robertson, 4731 Van Buren street, driving west in Lawrence avenue, swerved to the right to avoid striking the four pedestrians, who were crossing Lawrence avenue on their way home from a mortuary where the body of Mrs. Mettelstaedt's sister lay. As Robert twirled his steering wheel another motorist, Reno Fuggette, 1318 North Wells street, streaked past him on the right.

Robertson struck the coupe, which skidded to the curb and pinned Mettelstaedt and Mrs. Burns as it overturned. Other motorists lifted the capsized car and removed the two victims, who were taken to Ravenswood hospital.

These four deaths and three others raised the 1930 county auto toll to 304. The other victims:

Mrs. Sophie Rehder, 32 years old, 5127 South Sawyer avenue, the mother of three children. Fatally injured when a car driven by her brother-in-law, Herman Rehder, 41 years old, 2429 West 34th street, ran into a ditch and overturned on State road near 75th street, Stickney, as the driver gaped at an airplane.

Elmer Johnson, 8 years old, 1125 Addison street. Died in the Illinois Masonic hospital of a skull fracture incurred Saturday when he was run down at Clark street and Sheffield avenue.

Mrs. Melinda Johnson, 70 years old, 7041 Addison streed. Died at the Belmont hospital of injuries sustained when she was struck by an automobile as she was crossing the street near her home. Bjorne Bybdahl, 1533 North Keystone avenue, the driver, was held.

When his sedan crashed into a concrete culvert on the Green Bay road west of Zion, in Lake county, yesterday morning, Harvey J. Versen, a shoe salesman working in Chicago and living with his widowed mother in Racine, was killed and his fiancée, Miss Gertrude Gottwald, 22 year old student nurse at the German Deaconess hospital, was critically injured.

PURCHASES LICENSE AFTER FISH BITES, THEN REELS HIM IN

Augusta, Me., May 4.—[Special.]—This fish story, so help Harold D. Jennings, treasurer of the Central Maine Power company and president of the Augusta board of aldermen, is true. He declares he was fishing in the Kennebec river near city hall for smelts. Smelts may be caught without a fishing license. Jennings had no licence. Suddenly there was a mighty tug on the line. Jennings reeled in his line. He caught a glimpse of a big salmon.

To catch the salmon Jennings had to have a license. So he spied S. Sewall Webster, city clerk, at a rear window of the city hall and shouted for a fishing license. When the license had been issued Jennings hauled in the salmon.

Police Capture 3 Assassins as They Aim Gun

From the lips of a man beaten and tortured came a story of horror yesterday. The speaker was Earl Holmes, 38 years old, 949 West Madison street, who was taken for a ride by gangsters and who lived to tell the tale.

Holmes was saved from death by chance. Three policemen of La Grange Park noticed an automobile turn into a lonely street early Sunday morning. They followed and came upon three men standing over another man who was bound and lying in the road. One of the three was holding a revolver to the helpless man's head.

Three Torturers Arrested.

All were arrested. The would-be slayers were identified as John Hennessy, 38 years old, 3830 Arthington street, with a record as a robber and convict; Sam Baldino, 23 years old, 328 South Spaulding avenue, who served a sentence at Pontiac reformatory, and Frank Favarullo, 35 years old, 824 South Marshfield avenue.

The story which Holmes told resulted in the arrest of Anna Larson, 23 years old, and Margaret Russell, both of 2809 Fifth avenue, and recently held in connection with the slaying of Frank Battaglia, west side hoodlum.

Holmes was taken for a ride, an investigation showed, because the Larson woman, his sweetheart, had become involved with a gang. He wrote her a letter threatening to give evidence to the police against the gangsters unless she quit them. This letter was intercepted and the usual form of vengeance planned.

Victim's Story of Kidnaping.

Holmes had an appointment with the Larson girl on Saturday afternoon, he said, and they went on a shopping tour, during which he bought her much clothing. She finally agreed to go away with him, he said, and left him at 8 o'clock in the evening, promising to see him again at 9 o'clock. He is now convinced that she aided in trapping him, he told the police.

"When she met me again, Baldino was with her," said Holmes. "I suspected nothing and went with them to 2809 Fifth avenue, the place run by the Russell woman. I was no sooner inside the house than I was seized and taken to a bathroom."

"Baldino, Hennessy and Favarullo stood around me," Holmes continued. "They stripped me of my clothing and took every mark of identification from the clothes. Then they laughed and asked me:

"'What do you think is going to happen to you?'"

Beaten, Kicked and Choked.

"I said it looked as if I were going to be taken for a ride. They said: 'You're a smart guy.'"

Then the trio took turns in striking him, Holmes said. He fell to the floor and they kicked him. Baldino went out, and came back with a clothesline. A noose was made and drawn around his neck tightly until he fainted.

"One of them had a blackjack, and he struck me in the mouth with it," Holmes said. "They wanted me to yell when I was hit and were angry when I wouldn't. For three hours they kept it up. Sometimes I was unconscious."

Finally, Holmes said, the Russell

FIRE DESTROYS HOMES OF 1,000 IN NASHUA, N. H.

2 Churches Burned; Loss $5,000,000.

Forest and brush fires are causing tremendous losses in the middle and New England states.

NASHUA, N. H. — Two hundred homes destroyed; 1,000 persons homeless; loss $5,000,000.

NEW YORK.—Fire loss on Staten Island reaches $500,000 while Long Island suffers $500,000 loss with many towns threatened.

NEW JERSEY.— Forest and brush fires are sweeping large sections, both in south and north Jersey; loss already has surpassed $1,000,000.

PENNSYLVANIA. — Thousands of acres burned over and many towns threatened.

RHODE ISLAND.—Four serious forest fires cause heavy damage.

MASSACHUSETTS.—Forest fires in Marlboro, Sudbury, and Wayland cause immense damage.

Nashua, N. H., May 4.—[Special.]—Two hundred homes, three large industrial plants, and two churches were destroyed by a fire which swept the southeastern section of this city this afternoon, leaped across the Merrimack river at the southern city limits and, still fanned by a 40 mile northwest wind, was raging southward out of control through heavy timber land tonight. The damage will reach at least $5,000,000.

More than 1,000 persons were homeless in the city proper. Local National Guard units were mobilized and with every available policeman were patrolling the streets to prevent looting and provide aid and shelter for the homeless.

Every fireman in the city, with organized firefighters and volunteers from twenty other cities and towns within a radius of thirty miles, were battling the flames as they swept toward Hudson, Tyngsboro and the Massachusetts state line.

Leads Children to Safety.

Father Ulbade Simoneau of the church and convent school of the Infant Jesus (French Roman Catholic) led six hundred children to safety from the parochial hall, where they were watching a play. Ten minutes later the hall was a mass of fire.

At the armory, where the homeless gathered tonight, 500 cots were provided. The local chapter of the Red Cross took charge of providing food and bedding.

In addition to the Church of the Infant Jesus, the Crown Hill Baptist church went up in smoke and several small business establishments scattered through the section.

Belongings Piled in Streets.

Terrified residents, warned to leave the threatened area, piled their belongings in the streets, carried off what they could and returned later through the military lines to find houses and property smoldering ruins.

In the few open lots and fields in the area of destruction could be seen scores of persons huddled together in groups.

Virtually all the 31,000 inhabitants of the city either are fighting the fires or are in flight.

Flames Encircle Towns.

New York, May 4.—[Special.]—Driven by high winds, fires swept today through dry grass, tinderlike undergrowth, or leaped to houses or trees on Long Island, in New Jersey, and on Staten island, causing damage tentatively put at more than $2,000,000.

Manhattan island—New York City proper—was covered with a dense cloud of smoke which aviators said extended 5,000 feet in the air. It came from the fires on three sides. The east, west and south.

Reports tonight indicated that several towns were encircled by blazes, their fate resting with the wind. Scores of homes were destroyed. Shift of the wind in the afternoon saved 3,500 bungalows at South beach and Oakwood beach on Staten island. But fifty-nine of the summer houses were burned and 200 scorched.

The fires on Staten island beaches caused a master alarm to be flashed over the wires of the New York fire department for the first time in twenty-five years. Three ferry boats carried Manhattan apparatus to the island.

where brush and tree fires near five towns were added to the fires at the beaches, was estimated at approximately $500,000; fires in south Jersey caused damage of more than $1,000,000, while Long Island losses were calculated at about $500,000.

Six fires in Queens were listed at $50,000. During the day eighteen alarms of fire were turned in from the Brownsville and east New York sections of Brooklyn.

The Long Island fires raged at many points, with the wind, which had changed from the west to northwest, sending the fires toward towns on the south shore. More than 150 acres were burned at Bohemia, L. I., north of Sayville, and on the easterly limit of the village the fire was sweeping around to encircle the town.

Firehouse Catches Fire.

Fire also started between Deer Park, L. I., north of Babylon, and the motor parkway. The fire this evening was so close to the village that the roof of the firehouse took fire. Fire began at West Babylon and it was burning steadily toward Babylon, with the wind speeding it on.

North of Lindenhurst, near Great River and northeast of Sayville, areas of burning grass were potential dangers to the south shore villages and towns.

Near Farmingdale an epidemic of grass fires was reported. Airmen from Roosevelt, Mitchell and Curtiss fields flying over the section reported that the ground seemed to be dotted with puffs of smoke, each a small fire. The most serious of the fires in this territory appeared to be in the vicinity of Melville, where the fire was burning on a ten mile front, southeast of Huntington.

At East Islip the fire almost devastated the Reckeher state park, destroying hundreds of deer, quail, pheasants, rabbits and other game. It was burning strongly late tonight despite the efforts of 500 men.

Jersey Buildings Burned.

In New Jersey, northward from Forked River to Atlantic Highlands, firemen had a busy day. In Oakhurst, in Ocean township, two seven room cottages were destroyed, a garage burned out and another cottage was badly damaged.

More than 100 acres of timber land were burned clearly by fires at Shark River, between Asbury Park and Freehold. Allenwood, fourteen miles west of Albany Park, was menaced by a fire. More than 500 acres have been burned.

Another great fire blackened an area of approximately 30 square miles between Ladentown and Suffern, in the Ramapo foothills on the western side of the Palisades, before 500 men from a dozen villages and towns brought it under control.

In Pennsylvania several thousand acres were burned over and two mountain towns were menaced. In the Nittany valley barrens, near Penn State college, 2,000 acres were burned.

Four in Rhode Island.

Providence, R. I., May 4.—[Special.]—Four serious forest fires were raging, out of control, in Rhode Island tonight after having destroyed a number of homes, injured several persons, caused tremendous property damage and left a wake of impassable roads and blackened areas of large extent.

Several towns and villages are in the paths of the fires. State troopers and fire fighters believed that part or all of Perryville was doomed. Fires were burning on the outskirts of East Greenwich, North and South Kingston, Usquepagh, Hope Valley and other places.

Sweeping along a fifteen mile front one fire advanced south and east from Hope Valley and Gooseneck Hill toward Watch Hill, Green Hill, and other summer resort towns.

Boston Sends Aid.

Boston, Mass., May 4.—[Special.]—Boston sent fire apparatus 25 miles to Sudbury to aid the firemen of ten other cities and towns in that district to check today's worst forest and brush fire in Massachusetts. The blaze raged over 1,500 acres of heavy timber in Marlboro, Sudbury, and Wayland before 300 men checked it within a thousand yards of Henry Ford's famous Wayside inn at Sudbury.

Salem, Swampscott, and Lynn firemen fought all day against a fire which swept over three square miles of timber in that district. More than a thousand acres of valuable pine were destroyed in Woronoco and Russell, near Springfield, while firemen kept the flames from the Springfield water works there, and more than 20 fires were reported within a 25 mile radius of Worcester.

Augusta, Ga., May 4.—(AP)—A fire which for a time threatened to destroy a block of buildings in the heart of Augusta's business district was brought under control here late tonight. Starting from undetermined causes in a five and ten cent store, the fire quickly wrecked that building, which housed a dry goods establishment. A general alarm had sounded as the flames spread to adjacent structures. Firemen estimated the damage at $400,000.

KILLS SON-IN-LAW OF DIFFERENT FAITH AFTER PAIR ELOPES

Rockford, Ill., May 4.—[Special.]—John Pokosa, 40, today shot and killed Gordon L. Saaf, 24, his son-in-law of five days. Saaf had eloped to Oregon, Ill. with Pokosa's daughter, Estelle, Tuesday, where they were married. The young couple took a brief honeymoon to Chicago and then returned to Rockford today to receive a parental blessing.

But instead they found an irate father who had been opposed to Saaf because of religious differences. They argued heatedly. Then Pokosa drew a gun and shot Saaf twice. The young wife locked herself in a room when the angry father indicated he would shoot her too, police said.

Pokosa fled but several hours later he was found by police wandering the streets.

HUNT 2 NEGROES AS RAPISTS AND FOR KILLING MAN

Rocky Mount, N. C., May 4.—(AP)—Two unidentified Negroes today were the object of an extended search by an armed posse who followed a trail of murder and terror. The Negroes, who last night attacked a white girl after critically injuring her male companion, also are suspected of having murdered an old Negro.

Miss Elizabeth Jane Powell was riding with Frank Crickmore when the pair hailed them. As Crickmore stopped his machine one of the Negroes fired a shotgun, the charge striking Crickmore in the neck. His vocal cords were severed and, although he may recover, physicians say his voice is forever stilled.

The Negroes then got into the machine and drove off with Miss Powell. She said both Negroes attacked her.

Although the Negroes told her, she said, they would kill her if she gave an alarm, Miss Powell ran three miles to her home and told the story of the shooting and attack.

The first clew the posse found was was Buck Hilliard, Negro, who had been beaten and left unconscious. Hilliard told officers Lee had been killed and he had been beaten by two Negroes. The officers said they believed the same Negroes who killed Lee and beat Hilliard attacked Miss Powell.

WIDOW IDENTIFIES RIVER VICTIM.

The body of a man found floating in the river at Sixteenth street Saturday, was identified yesterday by Mrs. John Janish, 2083 Canalport avenue, as that of her husband who disappeared Friday.

FOE OF SPANISH KING SPEAKS AND THREE RIOTS RAGE

MADRID, May 4.—(AP)—Three riots, a number of arrests, and several injuries today marked a speech calling for a Spanish republic by Prof. Miguel de Unamuno of the University of Salamanca, one of Spain's republican leaders. Fighting started inside a theater before he even had a chance to speak. It was resumed in the street after the meeting and continued in front of his hotel when he went home.

A group of a dozen monarchists opened the republican demonstration by rushing down the aisles of the theater, shouting "Long live the king!" The professor's republican followers, shouting "Long live the republic!" forcibly expelled the intruders after fist fights. Civil guards finally restored order.

His speech was no sooner than crowds outside the theater began to fight and in the streets near by. Mounted and foot police reëstablished order. A dozen or more persons were treated for bruises and slight cuts.

Prof. de Unamuno, returning by automobile to his hotel, was greeted by mingled cheers and jeers. In front of the hotel a great crowd had gathered and his opponents and supporters fought again. Once more police charged and again there were minor injuries.

Arica Merged with Chilean Province; Will Get Deputy

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 4.—The government agreed today to the annexation of the Arica department to Tarapaca province. The enlarged northern province will be entitled to the election of an additional member of the chamber of deputies to represent Arica. Selection of candidates will begin June 1, and the voting is to be held 60 days after.

FORMER DANCER SETS LOOP THE LOOP MARK FOR WOMEN AT 344

St. Louis, May 4.—(AP)—Miss Laura Ingalls, 25 year old former New York dancer, who quit the stage to take up aviation, and then promptly won one of the few transport licenses held by women in America, looped her way to a world's record for women above Lambert-St. Louis field here yesterday.

She made 410 loops in one hour and three minutes in a small open cockpit training plane, but only 344 were counted as consecutive loops and that was put down as her record. It exceeded the previous mark of 46 held by Miss Mildred Kauffman of Kansas City by 298 and gave women flyers almost as difficult a mark to shoot at as did the St. Louis Robin flyers over the same field last year when they established an endurance record of approximately 420 hours.

Miss Ingalls took off at 4 p. m. and climbed to an altitude of 8,000 feet, where she started her looping watched by three official observers with binoculars. She finished at 3,000 feet.

MARINES BOMB BANDIT GANGS IN NICARAGUA

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 4.—(AP)—Though no official announcement has been made by headquarters, it was learned today that last week airplanes piloted by United States marines bombed several groups of bandits in the northern sector of Nicaragua.

Seven bombing planes, which left the Managua base last Friday, located and heavily bombed a bandit position on Jicote hill, just south of the Honduran border in Chinandega department.

Yesterday three other airplanes bombed another group of bandits north of the town of Jinotega.

23 Year Old English Girl Off on 22,000 Mile Hop

LONDON, May 4.—(AP)—Amy Johnson, 23 year old aviatrix, whose longest flight has been only 200 miles, tonight completed preparations at Croydon airdrome to leave early tomorrow morning in a tiny "Moth" airplane on a lone flight of 22,000 miles to Australia. Her plane carries no radio.

ATTORNEY FACES UIZ IN NICHOLS COME TAX CASE

loop attorney with whom W. B. hols—arrested as an income tax yer on Saturday—worked on "tax stments" in the county assessor's e will be questioned today by ted States Attorney Dwight Green, was revealed yesterday.

The name of the lawyer was kept ret by the government pending an estigation of his activities in conion with Nichols' work. Nichols, admitted having occupied the of Assessor Gene Oliver while aged in "tax adjustment" work, vague in his answers as to just services he rendered to the pers who paid him fees.

Hunt for More Income.

Reports that Nichols' income was ly in excess of the $122,923 for 1927, and 1928 which the govments has so far found caused estigators to inspect safe deposit lts and other banks in which the eman might have placed money.

The investigators also continued ination of Nichols' connections with lding Commissioner Christian P. chen. Many persons may be drawn the investigation before the case dy for trial, Mr. Green declared.

Free on $10,000 Bond.

Nichols was released from a cell at detective bureau early yesterday ning, when $10,000 bail was furhed for him by Ike Rowerick, 6800 ppel avenue, and Joseph Hock, 543 th Oak Park avenue, Oak Park. S. Commissioner Edwin K. Walker t to the detective bureau to apve the bond.

Nichols will be arraigned before the missioner at 2 p. m. today. A conance of the case will probably be nged, Mr. Green said, and full des of the charges against the salesn will probably not be made known il the trial of Assessor Oliver on y 16. At that time Nichols' activis in the tax adjustment line will be ed and the manipulations by which a $6,000 a year salesman, was bled to deposit $50,000 a year in bank explained.

DIGS $2,500 OUT OF HIS SHOE AS BAIL FOR SISTER

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 4.—(AP)—Until yesterday Robert S. Johnson of Chicago was wading in money. Today he is just wearing a pair of oversize shoes.

Mr. Johnson appeared in court here to make bail for his sister, Mary, held on a shoplifting charge. The court set a bond of $2,500.

"I'll sign that bond," said Johnson. The court was unimpressed.

"I'll furnish cash, then," he said. Whereupon he sat down, pulled off his extra large shoes, took out a couple of packages and presented the court with a handful of money which included a $1,000 bill and two $500 bills.

"Now," said Mr. Johnson as the cash was accepted, "the old shoe bank is gone bust. That was my last dollar. All I got left in them shoes is a couple of old newspapers."

2 DIE, ONE HURT, AS WING OF SWISS PLANE HITS TREE

BASEL, Switzerland, May 4.—(AP)—The pilot and one passenger of an airplane were killed today in a wreck near Dornach. The pilot, Willy Storrer, was forced to make a landing, but in doing so one of the plane's wings struck a tree and the three occupants were hurled to the ground. The other passenger was seriously injured.

WINS PROBATION 15 TIMES; CRASHES IN STOLEN AUTO

Alex Boksa, 16 years old, 2977 North Lawndale avenue, who the police say has won probation fifteen times on former arrests, was captured last night after he had damaged two automobiles as he sped along north side streets in a stolen car. Boksa was seized through the alertness of two girls. Louise Tuszynski, 19 years old, 2500 North Lawndale avenue, and Irene Aulich, saw Boksa crash into their parked automobile, almost demolishing it. Boksa jumped from his car and, as the girls came out of the house after him, he ran into a court across the street. There the girls, with the assistance of passersby, caught and held him until police came.

After Boksa was taken to the Shakespeare avenue station, Albert Edenroth, 2628 North Springfield avenue, drove up in a car damaged in a collision at Wrightwood and North Lawndale avenues, and identified Boksa as a party to that crash.

Military Shakeup Ordered.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 5.—[Monday]—The situation in India has resulted in a shakeup in high military circles and important official changes were announced in London this morning. There is to be a new British chief of staff in India as well as a new chief commissioner for the northwest frontier province.

Gen. Sir Philip Chetwode, the present chief of staff, now en route to England, will resign July 3 and will be succeeded by Lieut. Gen. Sir Cyril John Deverell, the present quartermaster general. Gen. Chetwode's appointment to succeed Field Marshal Sir William Birdwood as commander in chief in India was only recently announced.

It was also announced that Sir Norman Bolton, who sailed from Bombay for England Saturday as a consequence of a sudden breakdown in health following the Peshawar riots, is retiring from his post of chief commissioner of the northwest frontier province.

Natives Wounded by Blast.

Serious revelations are expected to follow the explosion at Kirkee, near Poona, yesterday in which six Indians were reported injured by a detonator, alleged to have been stolen from a British arsenal. It appears that the large detonator was stolen by a native worker, who accidentally dropped it. The detonator exploded, wounding six natives. The guard at the arsenal has been reinforced.

The failure of two platoons of the 2d and 18th Royal Garwhal Rifles to fire on a mob during the recent Peshawar riot was officially explained in dispatches reaching here today. It stated that the Peshawar disorders spread because the troops had not received definite orders, and large numbers, it is stated, were detached from the city to meet the threatened invasion of the frontier tribesmen, while those who should have quelled the rioting were afraid to use their rifles without getting a definite command to fire.

The weakness in the decision of the authorities is claimed as the reason why the Garwhal Rifles hesitated. It is admitted that some of the soldiers allowed themselves to be disarmed by the mob. It is also learned that at least twenty of the Peshawar casualties were caused by armored cars, running over the passive resisters who had thrown themselves on the ground, hoping to impede progress of the cars.

Seize 13,000 Reds After Riots.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, May 4.—More than 13,000 persons were arrested in the Dutch East Indies during the recent communists riots there, according to a report of M. J. Th. Petrus Blumberger, former official of Java and now secretary of the Dutch department of colonies. Half of that number were set free shortly after. On Java, 3,000 men were imprisoned and on Sumatra, 2,000. On the other isles of the Dutch East Indies, more than 800 communist leaders were arrested and deported to a region in New Guinea.

Nearly 400 of the communist leaders in the Dutch East Indies were native civil service men of the Dutch administration.

BRITISH JOBLESS TO INCREASE ERE CRISIS IS SOLVED

Thomas Admits Reform Will Entail Hardships.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 4.—Vast further numbers of Britons must be thrown out of work before England's titanic unemployment problem can be solved by a nationwide program of rationalization, according to the admission of J. H. Thomas, minister of unemployment, who replied to questions on the situation after a speech at Derby today.

"The rationalization problem will temporarily result in unemployment," he said. "But I am satisfied that it is a remedy and that its ultimate effects will be of lasting benefit. My policy is not to refuse anything unpleasant or unpopular. I am prepared to risk unpopularity knowing I will succeed."

Plans Drastic Reorganization.

Mr. Thomas asserted that the rationalization program did not mean that a few firms must amalgamate, but would have to be a drastic reorganization of many industries having a fictitious capital basis.

According to his figures, during its last two years of office the Tory government sanctioned an expenditure of $50,000,000 for relief schemes, while within the coming two months the Laborites will have sanctioned the colossal sum of $500,000,000 on similar schemes.

Specialists to Retain Line.

Engineers, boilermakers and other skilled laborers must be given employment at their own trades, he said, pointing out that it was not a solution to give them jobs merely building roads and bridges.

Referring pointedly to unemployment in the United States, Germany and Italy, he declared that the protectionist policy was no solution. The main causes of the situation are the war, lack of trade with China and, until recently with Russia, and the oversupply of raw materials.

GRANT IS HONORED ON ANNIVERSARY OF HIS 108TH BIRTHDAY

New York, May 4.—[Special.]—War veterans, including a few members of the Grand Army of the Republic, gathered today to commemorate the 108th anniversary of the birth of Gen. Grant before his tomb on Riverside drive.

A parade was followed by Americanization exercises, during which Gen. Grant was eulogized as a true American, the speakers addressing themselves particularly to the youngsters who had marched past.

2 MOTHERS OF 32 CHILDREN VIE FOR CROWN IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, May 4.—(AP)—Efforts by the newspaper Excelsior to find Mexico's most prolific mother, who will be crowned "mother queen of Mexico" on Mother's day, has brought to light the existence of some remarkably large families.

The choice of a queen is still undecided pending investigation of the families of two mothers each said to have 32 living children. Mother's day in Mexico is May 10.

Twenty-two mother queens of states, whose names were announced today, have a total of 319 children, an average of 14 each.

HUEBSCH REPAYS $5,495 IN FEES TO SANITARY BOARD

Cites Criticism of L. V. L. and Bar Association.

BY PARKE BROWN.

State Senator Arthur A. Huebsch has repaid to the Chicago sanitary district $5,495.72 paid to him for legal services during 1927 and 1928.

This fact was disclosed yesterday by the senator in a casual conversation. He said he sent his check for the amount to the district on April 19, having tendered payment of it several weeks earlier but delaying it to avoid any assertion that his action was prompted by his candidacy for renomination on April 8.

"I was renominated," he said, "and my friends say that since my district, the Seventh, is strongly Republican, I shall be reëlected in November. So this has nothing to do with my running for office. I should have done it if I had been defeated in the primary. I merely did what I thought was right without regard to politics."

Tells Reason for Act.

Asked about his reason for turning back the money, although he felt that he had earned it all, he said he thought he had given a simple but adequate reason in his letter to the district, which read as follows:

"In making its report on the members of the legislature, the Legislative Voters' league condemned the practice of legislators accepting compensation from your body.

"In view thereof, and, waiving any claim for compensation for the work I did, I inclose my check for $5,495.72, that being all the money paid me. Please acknowledge receipt."

Cites Attitude of Bar.

Senator Huebsch said that in addition to the disapproval of the L. V. L. he had been impressed by the attitude of the Branson committee of the house of representatives and the position taken by the Chicago Bar association, both of which frowned on legislators' acceptance of employment by municipal corporations that might interfere with their complete independence at Springfield.

The names of more than fifty members of the legislature were found on the sanitary district pay rolls of 1927 and 1928. The Branson committee found that some of them rendered actual and substantial services, that in other cases the services were not adequate to the salaries paid, and that some members admitted they had rendered no services at all, merely holding themselves in readiness to serve if called upon and thus continued on the pay roll month after month.

No offer had been made by any legislator to return his pay to the sanitary district until Senator Huebsch quietly made his repayment.

PILSUDSKI'S FOES RIOT AT POLAND'S NEWEST SEAPORT

WARSAW, May 4.—(AP)—Gdynia, Poland's new seaport, had its first political disturbance today, when 800 youthful members of the nationalist organization, which opposes Marshal Pilsudski's government, clashed with citizens loyal to Pilsudski.

Three were seriously injured and seven others suffered minor hurts. Gdynia, which has grown from a fishing village to a modern port in four years under Marshal Pilsudski's government, is extremely loyal to the dictator.

Gdynia is a Polish seaport and naval base on the Bay of Gdynia, opening out into Danzig bay, on the Baltic sea. It is twelve miles northwest of Danzig, with which it is connected by railway.

ROADS JAMMED AS USUAL ON A SUNNY SUNDAY

Motor Throngs Find Old Bottlenecks Still There.

BY HAL FOUST.

After two Sundays of April showers, erday's warm sunshine brought sands of automobile loads of Chi land folks on the highways for a of the countryside, including the flowers.

The green meadows and the leafed ds were as advertised by spring s but a tour of important highs in the metropolitan area revealed t evidence of the improvements the state administratiin has ed about.

Traffic observers were inclined to a contrast between the conges on the Cook county roads yester and the open highways which have found at the same season nd Springfield, Mount Vernon and downstate centers. There the mobiles are numbered by scores hundreds, rather than by thousands, in the crowded metropolitan region, was pointed out. Some traffic offis expressed the opinion that it is cult for a downstate administration appreciate the urgency of the Chi area's need for highway imements.

Many Contracts to Be Let.

The state highway department has ,000,000 to spend on roads in the opolitan region during the next years, but the contracts for only few minor projects have been let, ording to the records. Cook county not let a contract this year in its ,000,000 program for 1930. It was ted out yesterday that a speeding of the details preliminary to con ction on these projects would af employment on road gangs to y persons who are seeking work.

An increased number of automobiles Chicagoland this year has made e apparent the necessity for grade arations at important highway in sections, and for widening of arteri highways, yesterday's tour showed. Roosevelt and Mannheim roads and other heavy traffic crossing points the county automobiles crept along low or second speed, the drivers stantly shifting gears and applying kes.

Roads to Lakes Jammed.

The lakes of northern Illinois and thern Wisconsin received their t big influx of Chicago visitors yes day. This crowded the Waukegan, waukee, and Rand roads, and the thwest highway.

The sand dunes of Indiana and the it blossoms of southern Michigan attracted many visitors, con ting Chicago's inadequate pave nts to the south and east, over ich a large number of world fair itors will come in 1933.

Dyer, Ind., and Miller, Ind., on the coln highway and the Dunes high y, respectively, were two of the st bottle necks. A relief road, a nty foot pavement, was completed und the twisting streets of Miller few months ago but it was open a short while before it was closed in for widening. It was closed terday.

HOLY DRY BLOOD TURNS LIQUID AS THOUSANDS PRAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NAPLES, Italy, May 4.—Before an enormous and emotional crowd, including former Queen Amelia of Portugal, the annual May miracle of the liquefaction of the blood of St. Januarius, patron saint of Naples, took place in Santa Chiara church today. Several hundred American tourists witnessed the ceremonies.

Early this morning a procession formed at Naples cathedral. This was headed by priests bearing crosses, lighted candles, an image of St. Januarius, and a receptacle containing his coagulated blood. They proceeded through the narrow winding streets to Santa Chiara and deposited the receptacle on the main altar.

At 6:30 o'clock Alexius Cardinal Ascalesi of Naples began intoning litanies, while priests, patricians, and the humble on their knees prayed and sobbed. At 7:35 o'clock Cardinal Ascalesi announced that the miracle had happened. What had been a hard mass in the glass receptacle had turned to a ruddy, seething liquid. Amid the cries of the faithful in the church and in the packed square outside, the cardinal passed the receptacle around to be kissed by devotees. The first to do so was former Queen Amelia.

POMP OF FRENCH NAVY DAZZLES ALGERIAN ARABS

ALGIERS, May 4.—(AP)—President Gaston Doumergue of France landed in Algiers today for the visit which consecrates not only French colonial success in Algeria but also the immensity of the nation's colonial achievements in Africa.

Marking the centennial of the French conquest of Algiers from the Barbary pirates, the cruiser Duquesne steamed through a double rank of mighty warships—bringing the ruler of the French republic here to attend the fêtes planned to celebrate Algeria's progress and extension of the native civic rights.

After greeting Algerian officials, President Doumergue drove to the monument erected in honor of soldiers who died in the world war. He was attended by a cortêge splashed with color furnished by the bizarre costumes of the African troops and the flowing purple robes of Arab chieftains.

The display of naval power served, for one thing, to prove to the gorgeously arrayed Arabs from the African hinterland that France is mighty on the high seas, as well as on land.

However, the Saharan festival arranged in honor of President Doumergue was the greatest attraction for the general public. It was held on the city's race course overlooking Algiers bay. There were assembled contingents of the principal tribes, Berbers, and Arabians, who form part of France's African army.

The mysterious Tuaregs, veiled tribesmen from the distant Hoggar, who journeyed almost 2,000 miles for the ceremonies, won the greatest attention. Mounted on swift racing camels, they sat immobile holding long lances of wrought iron in their right hands and shields made of antelope skin in their left. At a given signal the camels leaped down the field, giving a marvelous exhibition of speed.

WOMEN OF OLD LOUISVILLE RISE AGAINST DRY ACT

2,000 Join the Revolt in Three Months.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 4.—[Special.]—Something of more than passing significance is afoot in this city of 350,000 which for generations has boasted its triumvirate of thoroughbreds—its fascinating women, its fast horses, and its fine whiskies. The first of the three is seeking an absolute divorce from the substitutes for the last that came with federal prohibition.

Politically Kentucky is a dry state. It suffered a great deal from the political machinations of distillers and brewers and saloonkeepers in the days when alcohol was legal and socially acceptable, and a man could raise a thirst. So when the 18th amendment was passed, Kentucky was one of the first states to ratify it.

Leading Women Rebel.

About three months ago a group of five women, each of whom, by the way, traces her ancestry back to the founders of this country, registered rebellion against present conditions in Louisville by forming a branch of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform. With no ballyhoo, with only personal contact and practically no publicity, their numbers have swelled from the original five in January to more than 2,000 in April. All within the city limits.

Mrs. James Ross Todd, one of the organizers and now first president of the Kentucky branch, said today:

"For 122 years we enjoyed freedom resulting from the wisdom and foresight of our ancestors. Then came the prohibition amendment, followed by obnoxious criminal-creating enforcement acts, bringing the blight of intimidation, fanaticism, hyprocrisy, and dire corruption."

Not a Dry Country.

Mrs. Todd sketches the present condition this wise:

"After ten years of federal prohibition, it can be confidently asserted that there is not a dry county in the state. Figures of the United States census bureau quoted by the Moderation league show an increase of deaths from alcoholism in Kentucky per 100,000 population of from 0.4 per cent in 1920 to 2.1 per cent in 1927, the last year available, an increase of over 500 per cent.

"It is generally believed that there are three times as many speakeasies in Louisville, necessarily under some form of protection, as there were licensed saloons in 1920."

Forebears from Virginia.

Mrs. Todd's family tree includes the Albemarles of Virginia, the Jouetts, and other names prominent in American history.

Miss Gense Brashear, treasurer of the new organization, descends from Benois Brashear, French Huguenot, who landed at Jamestown in 1630; Joseph Brashear, who built the first race course in Kentucky, and with Mrs. Todd has a common ancestor in Thomas Walker, first white, English born settler to enter the state.

Mrs. William M. Cox, secretary, comes from the Cash family of Maryland and the Summervilles of Virginia.

The Other Officers.

Of the other officers, Mrs. William Lee Lyons is of the family of Henry Clay; Mrs. I. N. Bloom is the daughter of Benjamin Franklin Peixotto, minister to Rumania during Grant's administration; Mrs. Walter A. Radford's forefathers, the Bennets, Overtons, and Deerings, were among the first Kentucky settlers.

Mrs. John L. Helm, nee Washington, is a direct descendant of Lawrence Washington, brother of George Washington; Mrs. Edward McDermott, widow of a deceased lieutenant governor of Kentucky, comes from the family of William Preston, one of the founders of Washington and Lee university.

Paxton, Ill., May 4.—This city without a movie for over two months voted Saturday in an election in favor of Sunday shows by a 710 to 593 vote. The only theater here closed several months ago and buyers could not be interested unless Sunday shows were assured.

TYPHOON DEATH TOLL 150; FIGURE $2,500,000 LOSS

TOKIO, May 4.—(AP)—Rengo dispatches from Toyohara today estimated deaths from a typhoon in the Odomari and Tomitaka districts on the island of Saghalien would total 150. This included the known dead and the missing for whom no hope was held.

The typhoon swept the rim of Aniway bay at the southern extremity of the island. The damage was estimated between $2,500,000 and $5,000,000.

Most of the dead were fishermen from the village of Odomari, who put to set just before the storm, lured by reports of huge schools of herring within the bay.

HOOVER BETRAYS DRY LAW FAILURE, LA GUARDIA SAYS

Plea for Prisons Shows It Can't Be Enforced.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 4.—[Special.]—President Hoover's insistence that congress hurry the passage of bills to relieve court and prison congestion was described today by Representative F. R. La Guardia [Rep., N. Y.], house wet leader, as conclusive evidence that the dry laws cannot be enforced.

La Guardia, in a statement commenting upon the President's assertion that he "cannot too strongly urge the necessity of action" when the Wickersham law enforcement commission bills pass, declared that no matter what legislation is enacted to accelerate the courts, the prisons of the country cannot accommodate the new convicts even with the prison legislation sought by the President.

"Nothing to date shows the impossibility of prohibition enforcement more than the recommendations of the commission indorsed by the President," asserted Mr. La Guardia, who is a member of the judiciary committee which has charge of most of the legislation recommended by the Wickersham commission.

"Overlooks Condition."

"The President, in his desire to relieve court congestion, has entirely overlooked actual conditions. This is most unusual of President Hoover, who is a great organizer and always deals in facts and figures. Always, except in this instance.

"No matter what legislation may be passed, it is simply impossible to effect the results desired by the President. The simple reason is that even though more judges or commissioners are appointed or juryless trials authorized as recommended, there are no places to which the excessive number of persons now charged with violation of the liquor law could possibly be committed. The federal penitentiaries are now crowded to double their capacity."

Quoting the President's complaint that so-called bargain days in court, when light fines are imposed upon pleas of guilty, "distinctly undermine respect for law," La Guardia said it is clear that the administration desires to abolish fines and impose prison sentences for liquor law violations. If this were done and only half of the 42,000 cases a year heretofore disposed of by fines were committed to prison, the proposed new penal institutions with a capacity of 5,000 would be entirely inadequate, he said.

Fight Coming in Senate.

La Guardia's attack today prefaced a reopening of the prohibtion and overcrowded prison controversey in the senate which is expected within the next few days over the five administration prison bills. The house has passed the bills and the senate judiciary committee on April 25 reported all of them favorably.

President Hoover in his message of last Monday referred to "the fact that less than one-third of federal prisoners are due to prohibition."

The President, however, failed to mention the fact that more federal prisoners are farmed out in local jails than are confined in federal institutions and the more significant fact that a far greater proportion of those in local jails are due to prohibition. The department of justice report of April 8 showed there were 13,565 farmed out federal prisoners on Jan. 15, 1930, as contrasted with 12,061 in federal institutions on April 1, 1930.

The number of federal prisoners in both local and federal institutions—not considering the change between Jan. 15 and April 1 in the local jail number—was on April 1 of this year 25,626.

In contrast with the American prison situation, wet members of the senate are expected to cite conditions in countries without prohibition, in particular Great Britain, where it is reported prisons are actually being torn down because of a dearth of occupants.

In a communication to the house committee which had the bills under consideration Attorney General Mitchell said the Atlanta penitentiary has about 3,800 inmates which a normal capacity of 1,711 and Leavenworth 3,900 inmates when "even in an emergency it should not be required to house more than 2,000."

"It will probably be five years before the prisons authorized by the proposed bill can be completed," Mr. Mitchell said.

6 FACE POVERTY IF DRY SEIZURE TAKES THEIR FARM

A family of six will lose its means of support if the government succeeds in its attempt to have forfeited the 520 acre farm of Joseph Englehaupt because a still was operated upon it. Englehaupt yesterday said that he, his wife, and their four children, Elsie, 15; August, 13; Mabel, 11, and Esther, 10 years old, will have no means of support if the legal move is successful.

The suit to forfeit the land to the government was filed Saturday after a $75,000 distilling outfit had been discovered in a large barn on the farm, which is in Putnam county. Englehaupt said he was unaware that the still was there.

Similar action was invoked against the 208 acre farm of Elmer Flaherty in Bureau county. The government invoked an old statute under the internal revenue law in filing the suits.

21 ARE INJURED WHEN AUTO HITS BUS; 1 MAY DIE

Elkhart, Ind., May 4.—[Special.]—Daniel Miller, 55, Elkhart, tonight was unconscious with a skull fracture and not expected to recover, while twenty passengers of a Chicago bound the Elkhart General hospital after Nevins motor bus were released from treatment for varying degrees of injuries received shortly after noon when Miller's light sedan crashed into the bus at a bridge approach here.

Rupert O'Shaughnessy, driver of the bus, said Miller skidded into an abutment in an effort to stop upon meeting the bus. The bus crashed through a wooden railing and the front was submerged in a pond.

SLAYER OF WOMAN DIES.

Walter Krushum, 43 years old, died yesterday in the Highland Park hospital of the bullet he sent into his own head after shooting and killing Mrs. Florine Nicolazzi, 35 years old, in her rooming house in Glencoe last Wednesday.

TORTURED 'RIDE' VICTIM LIVES TO TELL THE STORY

Rescued by Policemen as Assassins Aim Gun.

woman became fearful that he would be killed in her home and remonstrated.

"Take him outside and kill him," she said, according to Holmes. "I've had trouble enough in this place."

The Death Ride Begins.

He was led out a rear door to an automobile in the alley, he told the police. He was bundled into the rear seat between Hennessy and Favarullo. Baldino drove. They went through side streets in the direction of Cicero. Hennessy drank continually from a bottle of whisky.

"I gave up hope," said Holmes. "Anyway, I was suffering so much that I wasn't much scared of a shot or two. Finally, we stopped in a dark place. I was thrown out and fell to the ground. My hands and feet were tied."

Then the three began to argue over who should fire the fatal shot, the victim said. Favarullo, who had the weapon, said, according to Holmes:

"I don't want to take the rap. You guys do it."

"Sure. Give it here," both the others cried.

It was at this point that the police rescuers arrived. Some minutes before, Sergt. E. J. Mitchell and Policemen Otto Piltz and William Powells, touring the district, had noticed an automobile turn into the unlighted street. Watching, they saw the lights of the automobile go out.

Switching off the lights of their own car, the policemen drew their guns and crept near to the other machine. There they saw the scene just described. Holmes, lying on the ground and expecting at any moment the shot that would end his life, heard strange voices shout the command: "Hands up!"

The policemen took the gun from Favarulla and freed Holmes from his bonds. Then all four were brought to Chicago and turned over to the Chicago police, to whom Holmes told his story.

Prisoners Refuse to Talk.

Hennessy, Baldino, and Favarullo, who were held last night on charges of kidnaping, robbery, and assault with intent to commit murder, refused to talk to the police.

"We were only kidding him," said Baldino, grinning at Holmes' battered face.

"I met Anna Larson two years ago," said Holmes, explaining why he thought he had been beaten. "I knew she had bad companions but I thought I could reform her. I would have married her. I wrote her many letters asking her to leave the gang and my last letter threatened to inform the police about the gang if she didn't come with me. They must have got hold of that letter."

"He's just a chump," said Anna, contemptuously, from her cell.

Chief of Detectives Stege said the crime pointed to a new development in gangland activities.

"Only the big shots among the hoodlums have hitherto used the system of taking their enemies for a ride," he said. "Now, it is apparent, the minor gangsters have taken up the practice to settle their disputes."

The Season's Opportunity
This Sale of
New Suits

Short Coats, Long Coats, Cape Coats, Etons, "Soft" Suits, Tailleurs

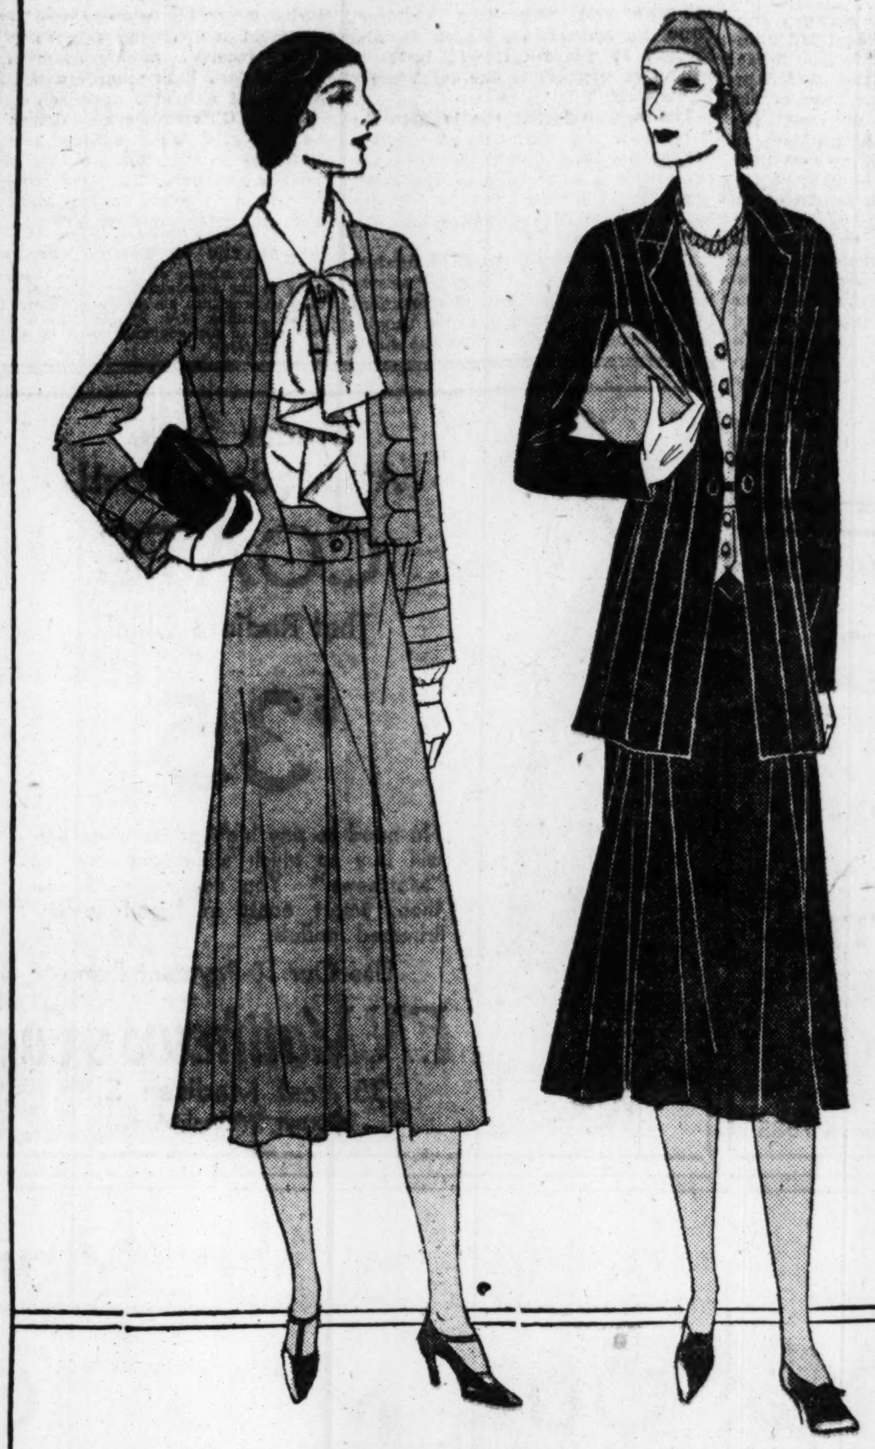
Just at the beginning of the season when the weather allows one to be lightly dressed for the street, for travel and for general wear—this Sale comes with every version of the suit in sizes for misses and women. Its timeliness is as important as the fine choice and real value it brings.

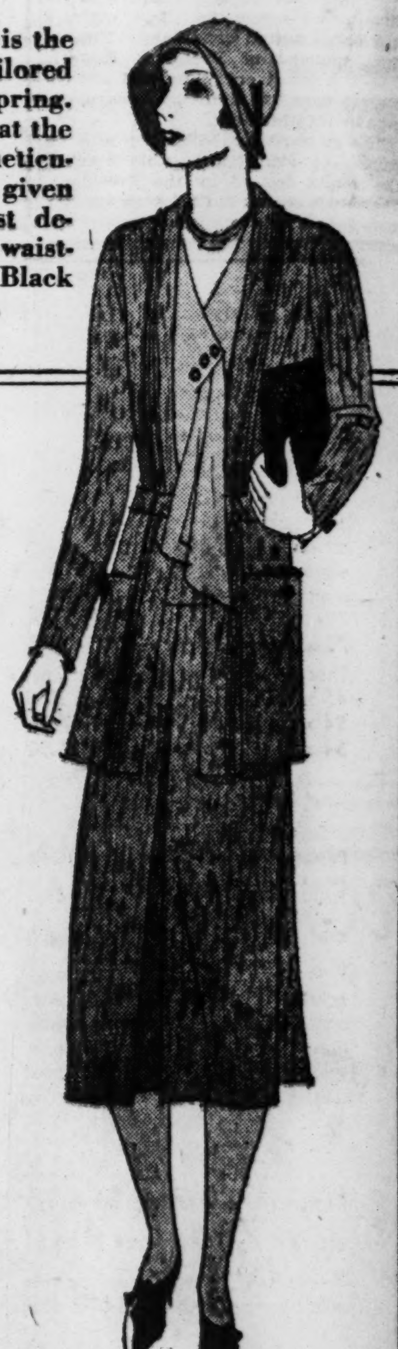
$39.50, $52.50, $65

From the Group
At $65

The bolero suit, after Patou. The jacket is very short and the skirt high waisted. Developed in telga cloth in black and navy. All the suits show the highlights of the mode.

Tailored as is the way with tailored suits this Spring. Fitted slightly at the waist with meticulous concern given to the smallest details. Blouse is waistcoat effect. Black and navy blue.





At the Right
Representing the Group
At $52.50

The suit at extreme right is in fine tweed with youthful box coat with detail and waistline indicated in very fine tailoring. Blouse of silk crepe is pleated with collar. Sizes for misses and women.

The covert suit with collarless line and short shoulder cape has wide appeal. There are many similar styles that have just as much youth and chic as this particular one. Misses and women.

$39.50

The short jacket suit is one of the many coverts. Its collarless neckline and pinched-in-back are suggestive of the youth and variety that are in this group. Sizes for misses and women.

The long jacket suit with youthful blouse is becoming and well-designed to be slenderizing. It is one from a large group of this style in the new smooth materials. Sizes for misses and women.

SENATORS CALL STIMSON FIRST IN NAVY PACT QUIZ

Committee Expected Begin Hearings This Week.

Washington, D. C., May 4.—[Special.]—The first of the series of congressional investigations of the London naval agreement probably will begin this week with the appearance of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson before the senate foreign relations committee, and Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams before the senate naval affairs committee. The house naval committee also will begin an inquiry.

It had been announced that the naval affairs committee would hold its first meeting tomorrow with Secretary Adams as the opening witness. Chairman Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.], however, issued a statement tonight saying that the initial meeting of his group would be postponed to allow Secretary Stimson to give the first official report on the treaty to the foreign relations committee. Immediately afterward, he said, the meetings of his own committee will begin.

Statement by Hale.

Senator Hale's statement was as follows:

"Secretary Adams will be the first witness to appear before the naval affairs committee of the senate in its investigation of the naval aspect of the London treaty. He will be called upon to explain the treaty to the committee. In view of the fact that the treaty is now before the committee on foreign relations it has seemed best after consultation with Secretary Adams to defer the meeting called for tomorrow until Secretary Stimson shall have had an opportunity to make similar explanation should he be called upon to do so to the committee on foreign relations. Immediately after this has been done the hearings of the committee on naval affairs will be started."

The first meeting of the foreign relations committee will take place on Wednesday at which time Secretary Stimson probably will appear. If the secretary is unable to appear on Wednesday the committee at the Wednesday session will set a date for his appearance.

Adams to Urge Early Action.

Secretary Adams, one of the seven American delegates at the five power conference in London, will present the administration position that the treaty should be ratified without delay. Other witnesses to appear before the Hale committee to give testimony either for or against the treaty include Admiral William V. Pratt, chief naval adviser to the American delegation at London; Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, retired, champion of the 8-inch gun cruiser as the best for American needs, and several members of the navy general board.

Whether the forces opposing senate ratification of the treaty will be able to gather sufficient strength to defeat the pact is expected to be largely determined by the results of the hearings before the two naval committees and the foreign relations committee.

Treaty Proponents Optimistic.

Opponents of the treaty led by Chairman Hale take the position that the treaty will not give this country parity or economy and that as soon as the country is informed of this by naval experts the ranks of the opposition will be strengthened.

Encouraged by the failure of more senators to come out openly against the treaty, administration leaders already are optimistic that the pact will be approved by a large majority at this session of congress. Thus far Chairman Hale and Senator Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.] are the only senators who have taken a definite stand against the pact.

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER IS AGAIN VICTIM

Charles Campo, 25 years old, 2639 Rice street, was shot in the chin and seriously wounded yesterday by a motorist who is believed by the police to have mistaken Campo for a man who remonstrated with him about his driving a few minutes before.

Lieut. Albert Mikes of the detective bureau learned that a pedestrian had yelled at the driver of a small green coupe as he passed a Chicago avenue street car on the wrong side at Rockwell street narrowly missing a child. A few minutes later the same machine returned from the north in Rockwell street. The driver leaned out and fired four shots at Campo as he stood on the southeast corner. Campo was taken to the Norwegian American hospital.

THE A B C OF TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION.

The facts: There are fifty-one senatorial or general assembly districts in the state. Each elects one member of the state senate and three members of the house of representatives. Every ten years the districts are to be changed to preserve the ratio of representation to population. The state constitution provides that this shall be done. It is both the assumption and the fact that there will be increases of population in some sections of the state and there may be decreases in others.

The constitutional provision is mandatory. It guards equality of representation without a condition and without a concession to any other theory of government. It is the doctrine of American representative government which does not discriminate between one citizen and another. It is positive statement that rights of representation are not graded and classified by the geographical position of the voters, by their occupations and manner of life, or by density or scarcity of population. It provides that as sections of the state increase in numbers of people representation in the legislature shall be apportioned accordingly. The number of districts is not to be increased, but the bounds of the fifty-one districts are to be redrawn every ten years to apply the ratio equitably to the population.

These ten year periods are fixed to use the findings of the federal census. That is accepted as the most nearly perfect enumeration of the people. It shows where they live and consequently indicates how the assembly districts should be composed for equality of representation.

The present Illinois districts were defined after the census of 1900. Since then the constitution has been nullified. There was no reapportionment after the census of 1910. There was none after the census of 1920. There is no indication that there will be one after the census of 1930 unless a remedy not yet discovered can be found and applied for the recovery of lost political rights.

In the reapportionment after the 1900 census Cook county was given nineteen of the fifty-one districts, being entitled to them. The nineteen districts send nineteen senators to the upper chamber of the legislature and fifty-seven members to the lower. On the basis of population revealed in the census of 1920 Cook county in reapportionment would have had twenty-four districts, entitling it to five more senators and fifteen more members of the house of representatives. The census of 1930 may show that it has half or more than half of the population of the state and is entitled to representation accordingly. If it has this population full representation of it is provided by the terms and the intent of the constitution.

The doctrine of equal representation remains, but the constitution has been nullified by the people of the state outside Cook county. Their representatives have refused to obey. They have refused to give up representation which they hold illegally, and they refuse to give Cook county the representation which is its right under the constitution.

Gov. Emmerson has called a special session of the legislature to meet May 12 to pass acts for emergency tax and financial relief, and also to submit a constitutional amendment giving the assembly the authority not now possessed under the constitution to revise the general tax laws and adopt new principles and methods of taxation. This will require adoption in both houses by a two-thirds vote. Cook county, even with restricted franchise rights and impaired representation, nevertheless has more than one-third of the membership. No amendment can be submitted unless Cook county members will vote for it.

The conclusions: No member from Cook county can vote to submit a constitutional amendment to the vote of the people without betraying his constituency until his county has been given its full, constitutional, and equitable representation. Remedies for this injustice have been sought in law and have failed, not because the law is not plain, but because the courts have held themselves to be without jurisdiction. The lawmaking body has defied the law which governs it, and law enforcement has not found a remedy. Appeals also have been made to the sense of fair play and political decency, to the better judgment and intelligence of the people responsible, and nothing has come of any of it.

It is profitable for the nullifiers to keep their stolen representation. Even now, without the extension of taxing powers, it enables them to tap the wealth of Chicago and spend the income in their own communities. The metropolitan area, partly disfranchised, has become a province from which revenue can be obtained for rural uses. The question is not one of abstract rights, but of costly injuries to become still more destructive as power is increased in one direction and representation diminished in the other.

The taxpayers of Cook county cannot be subjected to further exactions which under a constitutional amendment may include the income tax. Their nineteen senators and fifty-seven representatives can stop it. It cannot be done unless some of them vote for it. The amendment requires a two-thirds vote in the legislature. Cook county, subjected as it has been to injury by nullification, has still the saving margin of over a third in the roll calls if it can rely upon the loyalty of its legislators.

STATISTICS FOR THE JOBLESS.

The senate has passed a number of the unemployment relief measures sponsored by Senator Wagner of New York. One of the bills would set up a reserve of government projects to be undertaken in times of business depression and another would compile statistical data to serve as a guide in determining when work on these projects should be begun.

It can be said, without entering into the merits of these measures, that the action on them constitutes of itself an indictment of the congress which has them under consideration. However useful statistics are and may be, any man out of a job would rather have a pay envelope. Because of lack of aggressive action in congress, government projects, the need of which is manifest and the money for which has been voted, are still to be started. The Chicago postoffice furnishes a conspicuous example and the Illinois waterway another. If the influence of congressmen had been fully exerted, a start could have been forced. Hundreds of men would have been given work in erecting buildings, dams, locks and bridges and thousands more would have found jobs in the factories which supply building materials and in shops and stores providing the workmen with the necessities of existence.

In the face of an emergency congress is devoting its attention to planning for future emergencies. It is no criticism of the long time program but a serious reflection upon congressmen to say that congress is putting last things first.

INDIANA AT THE CROSSROADS.

Indiana is holding a primary election on Tuesday of this week at which delegates to the state conventions are to be selected. The state conventions, in turn, nominate the judges of the Indiana Supreme court; and it was the Indiana Supreme court which almost alone in Indiana only a few years ago dared to defy the Ku Klux Klan, the Anti-Saloon league, and the militant theocracy. Now these elements are reported seeking their revenge against one of the judges who was unafraid. The choice of the state convention will determine whether this judge is to be punished for his independence.

He is Justice Benjamin Willoughby of Vincennes, a Republican. When the klan was ruling Indiana with characteristic disregard for those in its way Justice Willoughby stood out as a defender of the bill of rights. A sheriff with a posse of klansmen had been riding the country roads, stopping automobiles, searching them without warrant, tyrannizing over the countryside. The Anti-Saloon league defended this practice on the ground that it was the legal conduct of a legally chosen public official. Justice Willoughby held such searches to be illegal, and with him stood two of his colleagues. Two other judges sided with the sheriff, the klan, and the Anti-Saloon league. The majority of one on the side of liberty may be overthrown in this election. That is the reason that Tuesday' primary in Indiana has attracted such wide attention outside the state as well as within it. Here is a test of the returning sanity of the Republicans of Indiana. His defeat would not deprive Justice Willoughby of the distinction of having retained his judicial poise and his belief in ordered liberty when it seemed political suicide to decide against the wishes of the theocracy. His defeat would, however, serve notice that the Republican party in Indiana is the creature of bigots and fanatics.

The character which the party gives itself in Tuesday's primary cannot fail of effect outside Indiana. Men who believe that constitutional rights are sacred will hesitate long before throwing their support to a party which in one important state, at least, stands for all that is abhorrent. A victory for Justice Willoughby will serve as a powerful influence in restoring his party to favor among the great mass of citizens who, whatever their views regarding prohibition, abhor government by the illiterate, the fanatical, and the cruel.

Editorial of the Day

A LINGUISTIC MUSEUM IN THE OZARKS.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Advertisers of the Ozarks have shrewdly publicized the hunting and fishing, the scenery and coolness, and other assets of those parts. One unique attraction, however, has had little notice, although a current technical journal finds it most interesting. In "American Speech" two investigators describe how the native Ozarkers talk, and it is evident that hilly region is a veritable museum of archaic English, including the Elizabethan and the Chaucerian. Etymologists may pursue their science in the Ozark hills not by wading through dusty tomes but from living speech. The Ozarks are to them what Conan Doyle's imaginary plateau full of prehistoric animals would be to biologists.

When the hill-billy says he "rid" to town he amuses those accustomed to the grammar of our day, but he is merely following the language of George Washington, who, in 1771, wrote in his diary: "I rid to Muddy Hole plantation." Further back, the elegant Bostonians of 1704 not only "rid" horses but they "riz" from their chairs. The Ozarker who says he "shaked" with fever has Shakespeare for authority. If he tells how his corn "growed" he is in company with Chaucer. Even the oft burlesqued "ary" and "nary" have an ancient lineage. Citizens of the Ozarks use them just as their Elizabethan cousins used "e'er a" and "ne'er a." "An old trot with ne'er a tooth in her head" is perfect Ozarkese. Shakespeare wrote those words in 1600.

Grammar and diction are constantly changing, but the isolated Ozark regions with their old English stock now house a veritable petrified forest of ancient usages. Now is the best time to hear this dialect before the radio, the tourist and the schoolmarm conventionalize it. The summer visitor should be interested in knowing that the language he hears there is not an uncouth manner of speech, but very like what his ancestors used 300 to 600 years ago.

A SLIGHT MISUNDERSTANDING.

"It is being whispered around that you and your husband are not getting on well together."

"Nonsense. We did have some words and I shot him, but that's as far as it ever went."—Pathfinder.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. R.H.L.

IT'S TOMORROW! MAY 6TH! IT'S TOMORROW!

Well, we're trying to sit tight. When the administration said on March 8th that all would be well in sixty days—everybody employed again, the financial worries finished and done with, and prosperity all over the place—we believed it. Why, we even took the calendar and carefully counted forward sixty days and found that sixty days from March 8th would take us to May 6th. That's tomorrow. Gosh, we're so excited! It's tomorrow! It's tomorrow!! It's tomorrow!!! (Quick, somebody, make that old stock ticker shut up! Pile books on it! Sit on it! Throw the darned thing in the alley! Anyhow, make it shut up!)

A HARD CASE.

I like to go
Wandering across the latitudes,
Let those who think they know
So much, those who in dreary platitudes
Make turgid references
To rolling stones,
And thus expose their preferences
For fixed abodes, and telephones,
Let such as these remain
Clamped each to his revolving chair—
For me the so-called bounding main
And languorous tropic air.

Of course old friends are nice to have around,
It takes no trouble,
For instance, to expound
To those you like, after a double
White rock and whisky,
Just how much cash
You lost in Nash.
If, on the other hand, some frisky
Young matron asks you how you kiss
It causes no embarrassment to show her this.

My choice, however, as I said before,
Leads me to other lands
I can explore,
If so I wish, the silver sands
Of Rio de Janeiro's bay.
They have some bathing beauties there
That aren't so bad, I'll say.
Pale skinned, long limbed, with ebon hair
And pink toes crisped at each repeated threat
That some great comber's foam
May get them wet,
You'd like one in your home.

Perchance I'm bored,
Or rumors of a fresh attack
Imminent, like Damocles' sword,
Of Yellow Jack,
Urge me to select some cooler place
Down in the roaring forties, where Men of a sterner race
'Spite fierce eternal gales still dare
To struggle cursing and endure.
The climate here, without a doubt,
Completely lacks the least allure,
I found that out.

By zigzag route I now am borne
North to the tropic Capricorn,
And slightly westward, too, perhaps
A thousand kilometers, say
(Consult your maps)
To Paraguay.
Here let your conscience be your guide
Quite free from any inhibition;
The law you never need deride,
They play no farce like prohibition.

Here 'neath a gold Lapacho tree
Sometimes I'll sit,
Nearby an orange bumble bee
Or purple butterfly will flit
From flower to flower,
While far away cathedral chimes
Approximately toll the hour
For me to doze. At other times
I might indulge in serious thought
And also do a little drinking,
Then later if I feel I ought
I cut out thinking.
Only a crazy person would Deny this kind of life is good.

I must move on, I cannot stay
Too long in this delightful spot,
So many countries will repay
A visit; then, besides, I've got
A sad complaint which will, alack!
Fill home town buddies with disgust.
I've got a virulent attack
Of wanderlust.

Because, Doggone It, They Always Hound Him for Birthday Odes.

R. H. L.: Is a dog poem any qualification for laureating? I ask you. Shame at you. Laureating is poeming for a kink. I like that one about the God of Things as They Are, but what has that to do with a poet laureate? Not a thing. Go on, tell me, why should a poet be appointed poet laureate just because he has written a great dog poem? SISTER ANNE.

AND JUST when we were all set Saturday to dig up the sock from the bricks under the kitchen stove and buy a car (we didn't say what kind), then we read in THE TRIB'S news summary that the coroner said Cook county's auto death toll for 1930 showed 23 per cent increase. Back went the sock and the clinking gold to its snug place under the kitchen stove. But we wanted the car for countries such as Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, England, and such. We'll wait till we get the coroners' reports from those places.

LAGNIAPPE.

INDIA'S having lots of trouble over salt. We're here to state that India doesn't know what trouble is. Wait until they have trouble over sugar, oil, motors, steel, wheat, hogs, corn, oats, paint, butter, eggs, gas, smelters, flour, and—well, about everything you can think of, and have the darned things all trying to crawl into the cellar at once. Trouble! India, you don't know the half of it, dearie!

"I SUPPOSE you are going to Europe this summer," writes sweet little Lucindy Lou, very snootily, "so that you can guzzle gin." Oh, Lucindy Lou, you've got everything mixed up. One does not have to leave the U. S. of A. in order to guzzle gin. But if you must know, we'll tell you that we wish to go to Europe this summer in order to buy a pair of No. 12 shoes.

SO THIS IS MONDAY AGAIN. That's good. Springtime, sunshine, blue skies, and roses. That's good. And the birds sing sweetly in the new leafed trees. That's good. And the little lambs gamble gayly on the green. That's good. And so do the little bulls and bears. Not so good. R. H. L.

TAKING TONICS BY TUNS.

PLEASE write on tonics, writes W.

Reply: Complying with your request is not a source of pleasure to the writer or any one else. To write the truth necessitates saying things to which many will object. The taking of tonics is a source of great harm to society in the aggregate. We take ten times as much medicine as we need and tonics lead the list. We are harmed by these medicines to some extent. We are benefited less. On them we waste millions of dollars. We put our trust in what comes out of the bottle rather than in the faith in which we take it, or in the curative power of nature.

We take medicine and let it go at that, failing to go to the bottom, the cause, the wrong habit or custom, or the bad environment which must be changed sooner or later. We enslave ourselves to drugs, not only morphine, cocaine, alcohol, and aspirin, but purgatives, headache remedies, rheumatism remedies, and all such. And the worst offender of these, in that it is the frequently and flippantly used, is the tonic.

Webster defines a tonic as an agent which tends to restore normal tone. Stedman says: "Restores enfeebled function and promotes vigor and a sense of well-being," adding that we qualify tonics by the organs they are supposed to tone, such as liver tonics, digestive tonics. The Stedman definition is broad enough to cover the effects of a drink of whisky and so many speak of it. Some day we may know what tone is, and then may come a later day when we will know how to restore it, but now, and through all the ages that man has been taking so-called tonics, he has been bowing down to a fetish. As matters now stand, all we can say is that if the organs are normal and fed normal foods they will function normally. There may be, and probably is, such a thing as tone, but we do not know what it is nor how to promote it directly. We do build up the quality of the blood, let us say, a liver diet, and by straining the word somewhat, we may call that a tone treatment. At most, it is only indirect. We assume that the blood having been built up chemically it will work with the proper tone. The futility of taking 99 per cent of the so-called blood tonics will be discussed later.

The blood was purposely picked for this illustration because the case for so-called blood tonics is far better than that for stomach tonics, liver tonics, nerve tonics, and such.

It is safe to say that, except for the mental effects, the taking of tonics has no effect on tone.

EFFECT MAY BE PSYCHIC.

M. V. M. writes:

1. Given coffee from infancy up I was very nervous and was troubled with insomnia. I quit coffee and, after that, slept well and was not nervous. If I take ever so little coffee I cannot sleep and am nervous.

2. I disagree with you that adults cannot gain in height after 17 years of age. My mother came to this country from central Europe when she was twenty-five years old. After she came she grew from an undersized woman to one who was of medium height. Her brother was twice rejected for the army in Europe because he was under height. He began growing at twenty-two and reached medium height.

3. I know a man in Indiana who increased his height after maturity by stretching.

REPLY.

1. The effect on you from a single, small dose of coffee may be psychic. Possibly you are sensitized to coffee.

2. In rare instances, adults grow in height. There are diseases of the growth organs.

3. One can increase his apparent height by standing straight. When he gets tired he sags to the old figure.

IT'S ALL PURE BUNK.

M. B. P. writes: Some time ago I read a short article about the effects of sleeping with the head at different points of the compass. Because of electric currents the writer said that certain directions were good and others bad. I do not remember the directions, but one, he said, was so injurious that to sleep with the head in that direction was suicidal. Please tell us if there is anything in it.

REPLY.

Pure bunk.

ALTITUDE IS A FACTOR.

Mrs. M. O. writes: I have been suffering all winter long from hot flashes. The blood rushes to my face every so often. I am 54 years of age. The altitude here is 3,000 feet.

REPLY.

The treatment consists in using ovarian extract properly. Altitude is a factor, but you can be relieved wherever you are.

CHILDREN WILL BE CITIZENS.

Chicago, April 28.—[Friend of the People.]—If a foreigner becomes a citizen of the United States and later sends for his family, will his children under 21 years of age, who land under the present immigration laws, automatically become citizens through their father's papers? J. M.

Yes. FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT, District Director of Naturalization.

MAKE A WILL.

Chicago, May 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have some shares of stock which I wish to leave to some very good friends of mine when I die. I do not, however, wish them to know I am leaving it to them beforehand and I do not wish to make a will disposing of the stock. Therefore, I wish you would tell me if there is some way I can transfer ownership to them without changing the record on the books of the concerns whose stock will be involved, so that these people will get the stock when I die but so that I may retain ownership during my lifetime and also if they should die before I do? F. R.

We advise you to make a will and we advise you to employ an attorney for this purpose. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WIFE OBJECTS.

Chicago, May 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I own an acre with a six room house on it downstate. I want to move to this place, but my wife says she won't go. 1. Can I compel her to move? 2. Is there a law to stop me from moving to this little farm without her? C. E. W.

1. No, in the sense that you cannot forcibly carry her along. Yes, in the sense that if she refuses to follow you it would be regarded as desertion on her part. 2. No. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 5, 1865.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—All that was mortal of Abraham Lincoln passed to the silent tomb today. With the rising of the sun pealed forth the cannons' thunder in honor of the dead. Twenty-one guns were fired at daylight and this evening a grand national salute of thirty-six guns was fired. The funeral procession moved at half-past eleven a. m. from the state house, Maj. Gen. Hooker and staff leading, and soldiers, family and friends of the deceased, and delegations from many Illinois cities and from Kentucky, Iowa, Missouri, and Indiana in line. Up to the last moment the people knew not where the remains would lie. The general public opinion was in favor of having the burial in the Mather place in this city, but Mrs. Lincoln willed it otherwise and the body was placed in Oak Ridge cemetery. At the cemetery Bishop Simpson delivered the funeral oration, one of the most masterly efforts of this eloquent speaker. It was about one hour in duration. At the conclusion the guard of honor placed the President's coffin and that of little Willie Lincoln in the vault, while the people stood on tiptoe, anxiously peering over each other's shoulders for a last look. Then the doors of the vault were closed and the mourners retired, each to his or her home. Thus we buried him; thus we leave him—the great, the good, the martyred President.

WASHINGTON.—Mrs. Lincoln is still unable to leave her room.

WASHINGTON.—The trial of the parties concerned in the assassination plot will begin on the 8th or 9th. Several have made confessions.

NEW YORK.—The Herald's Savannah correspondent says Gen. Wilson's famous cavalry expedition arrived there from Macon after its extensive and very destructive raid through Alabama and Georgia.

CHICAGO.—The apparatus for striking fire alarms on the courthouse bell by electricity has arrived and workmen commenced placing it in position in the cupola.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 5, 1900.

CHICAGO.—The Republican county convention was entirely under control of Congressman Lorimer and his friends and, despite protests, he forced an adjournment to May 12, in hope of aiding Judge Hanecy, candidate for governor, among the delegates at Peoria.

BERLIN.—Emperor Franz Josef of Austria-Hungary has been welcomed to the German capital. A million people cheered him and Emperor Wilhelm when they met. The ceremonies were elaborate. Emperor Franz Josef bestowed upon Emperor William the rank of field marshal in the Austrian army, one of the highest honors a sovereign ever accorded a monarch of another country.

CHICAGO.—Charles G. Dawes, controller of the currency, and Mrs. Dawes arrived in the city and registered at the Auditorium Annex. He will be here for ten days and will attend the Republican state convention.

LONDON.—The first tangible evidence of Lord Roberts' general advance is the driving of the Boers out of Brandfort. They are retreating toward the north and it is supposed they will fetch up at Kroonstad, where their main army is concentrated. Roberts' mounted infantry has gone on to the Vet river.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill.—Joel M. Longenecker of Lincoln post, Chicago, was named department commander at the 35th annual convention of the Grand Army of the Republic. F. N. Boyer of Olney was named senior vice commander, and Thomas Blankley of Litchfield junior vice commander. The Ladies of the G. A. R. elected Mrs. Louise Owen of Chicago president, and the Woman's Relief corps elected Mrs. Florence O. McClelland of Chicago its president.

CHICAGO.—Mayor Harrison appointed John W. Ela a member of the civil service commission to succeed Edward Carroll, resigned.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 5, 1920.

INDIANAPOLIS.—Gen. Leonard Wood has carried Indiana in the presidential preference primary by a plurality of 10,000 over Hiram Johnson, with Frank O. Lowden third.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Hiram Johnson has swept California by a huge majority, and with gains mounting in every fresh report his lead may reach 180,000 over Herbert C. Hoover.

NEW YORK.—Four destroyers of the Atlantic fleet, now harbored in the Hudson river, received orders to sail tomorrow for Mexican waters. The destroyers began immediately to stock up on supplies and officers and men hastened back from shore leave.

WASHINGTON.—President Carranza will be ousted on May 15 and Alfredo Robles Dominguez will be chosen president pro tempore of Mexico, under an agreement just reached by the various factions, according to advices reaching this city. Cable companies refused to accept messages from Mexico City for the first time since the uprising.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Nancy Perkins Field, widow of Henry Field, became the bride of Arthur Ronald Tree in London yesterday. The ceremony took place at St. James' church by special license. She was given in marriage by her uncle, Lord Astor. Mr. Tree is a son of Lady Beatty, formerly Ethel Field of Chicago.

CHICAGO.—A guard of police seated William J. Healy as president of the sanitary district, as Charles H. Sergel, the ousted president, gaveled for the position. Sergel announced he would appeal to the courts.

CANADA AND OUR TARIFF POLICY.

Chicago, May 2.—It is sincerely to be hoped that the program of Canada to establish tariff differentials against the United States—this is in line with sentiment in most of the countries of the world—will eventually lead our people to modify their ideas on the benefits of a high protective tariff, and to weigh the disadvantages of this system with its advantages.

Our present policy tends toward the elimination of all imports, except of such exotic products as rubber and coffee, production of which on a commercial basis in this country has so far been impossible. As the foreigner sees it, as soon as a small quantity of anything from concrete to lace begins to trickle in over the existing tariff a howl is raised for further protection against the foreign menace. In many cases this has gone to such absurd lengths as to bring about heavy increases in duties on commodities of which only 1 per cent or less of the country's requirements are imported.

The result, from the foreign viewpoint, is that we are exclusively a selling nation—we wish to sell everything and buy nothing, and that it is useless to try to develop a market here, as it will be killed off by a prohibitive tariff as soon as results begin to be shown.

One economic effect that might be mentioned is that, although we have prevented the Argentine and Canada from shipping in large quantities of wheat, corn, and meats, those countries have retaliated by securing the European market for those commodities which we formerly enjoyed.

Although the people as a whole are slow to realize this situation, it is worthy of note that our wide-awake American corporations seem to be aware of it, judging by the number of branch plants they have established and continue to establish in foreign countries. Although American exports may be materially reduced some day as a result of foreign resentment over our tariff policy, these corporations will export from countries not under such a handicap.

As to our "right" to impose any tariff we may desire, there is no question—nor is there any question as to the right of the foreigner to retaliate. PAUL J. HOGAN.

BIRTH CONTROL.

Chicago, May 1.—In reading your editorial, "Birth Control," I was shocked at all the terrible conditions that you mention: "Early death, life impoverishment, ignorance, poverty, crime and vice," all of which seemingly you hold as resulting from an unrestricted propagation of human life.

It would be interesting to know on the basis of a statistical study just what relationship, if any, exists between large families and the long list of social, economical and physical woes that you present in your editorial. PAUL H. WEZEMAN.

JUST BLAH.

Chicago, May 2.—Your birth control editorial is just blah. The poor are not as dumb as you think they are; they just happen to have a little conscience left. You harp on the evils consequent upon overfecundity, but you ignore the much greater evils that result from the cure. PETER REITMEIER.

WHERE DOES IMMORALITY BEGIN?

Chicago, May 2.—Your editorial on "Birth Control" advocates "prevention" and you would justify it as a "social and moral need." Also this editorial commends "scientific agencies" for "prevention."

On the same page, in the next column, Dr. Evans proceeds to show how the infant mortality rate has been reduced from over 100 to less than 30 per 1,000 births. He adds that "the greatest problem (that is, the ambition of medical and nursing science) is to keep the baby alive for one day."

Here we have this anomaly—one column says in substance: "By all means prevent an increase in our population." The next column says: "By all means promote and insure this increase in population." The inference is that "prevention" practice is moral, while abortion and designed neglect of the newly born is immoral. E. C.

INDIA.

Chicago, May 2.—When he sits on a log in some place in England or Scotland, as he did at the Rapidan camp, can it be that Ramsay MacDonald ever thinks of the days when James Kier Hardie was the Labor party's expert on India, and somewhat a thorn to his majesty's government in matters Indian? It's fifteen years since the passing of Hardie; that other authority on India, Lord Curzon, also has gone. So there is Ramsay MacDonald, second time premier, to think over the changing times.

And there's a thin brown man, who cares little for what the London tailors prescribe, nor what the Scotch woolen mills turn out, and still less for the cotton mills of Merrie England. For the thin, brown man wears a loin cloth and a turban of native weave, preaches peace and threatens the peace of an empire by so doing.

And there's Ramsay MacDonald to ponder over the force policy of George III. in the American colonies and the Lloyd George force policy in Ireland, and how successful they were.

It's a funny world, and the debates in the commons on the salt tax and the like will read very like those on the navigation acts, the stamp act, and the tea tax, about which American school children read. It often seems as if the bulldog breed, paradoxically enough, was at its best on the sea. J. C. C.

ANOTHER SENATORIAL ISSUE.

Chicago, May 2.—James Hamilton Lewis is to be congratulated that his opponent has presented him with a paramount issue in his campaign, one more likely to bring success than the wet and dry issue, and that is whether a seat in the United States senate from Illinois, once filled by Douglas, Trumbull, Palmer, and Cullom, is now to be knocked down to the highest bidder. Lewis has gone out of each office he has filled, including the United States senatorship, no richer than before, and he is still a poor man. He may prove just the man to lead in a fight of democracy against plutocracy. EDWARD T. LEE.

WHOSE MONEY?

Elgin, Ill., May 2.—Wasn't Smith refused a seat in the United States senate because he expended $200,000 to be elected? Mrs. McCormick admits expending $252,000. What is the answer? Do you think it O. K. for Mrs. McCormick to get the place by spending her own money and Smith to lose it because others furnished part of the coin that bought the position? Maybe you can explain why she should be accepted and Smith rejected. J. SPARKS.

RECIPROCITY.

Chicago, April 29.—The omniscient editor says that we should "insist upon an American ship of the same class entering British ports" for every British ship that enters an American port. Now, that is a bright idea! But why stop with ships? Since American tourists every year carry a lot of good money over to Europe, why not insist on a British tourist entering the United States for every American tourist that we allow to go over there? And what a swell chance it offers us to get back at English lecturers! Let us forbid them to enter until an equal number of Borahs—beg pardon, borers, is exported to England. And opera stars—there's a beautiful chance to help out our home talent! What a world of opportunities the editor's simple scheme—simple is the word—opens up for us! J. TATE.

HE'S GLAD TO HELP.

Chicago, April 29.—Tell your correspondent, Mr. Clarke, that I am a high school boy and that I am more than glad to help keep the city clean. As a way of keeping young minds busy with something different, I can see no better occupation; prizes and banners are given as a reward for hard work. Papers are packed and sold to buy paintings, etc., for the good of education. When a person helps to clean up a city they don't feel like dirtying it up so soon again. I don't think there is a better way of making good citizens out of our future men and women; and last, but not least, the dirt is in a better place when it is in the iron containers provided than when it is on the streets and sidewalks, where the wind blows it into the eyes and nostrils of human beings. JAMES WALTER WALKER.

THE HOOVER JAILS.

Luverne, Minn., April 30.—After reading your editorial in today's TRIBUNE on "The Hoover Jails" I am going to write and ask you if it is possible for you to have this editorial published in pamphlet form. I would like to have a thousand copies of these pamphlets to circulate around this town and county, but, not being a man of means, it would cost me too much to have them printed by our local printer. JACOB OHLSEN.

CHILDREN CROWD FOR RIDE AT N. Y. AIRCRAFT SHOW

Strong Wind Results in Cutting Sport Short.

New York, May 4.—[Special.]—Hundreds of children, from little chaps in the primary grades to boys and girls in their high school years, waited many minutes in line for the opening today of the second day of the New York Aircraft show at Madison Square Garden.

Open by special permission on Sunday, the sponsors of the show, the Aeronautical chamber of commerce of America, emphasized educational features of the exposition. During the afternoon while the big arena echoed to the shouts of the youngsters as they climbed in and out of the planes two speakers, aided by the garden amplifiers, addressed the throng on education in aeronautics.

Education Emphasized.

Lieutenant Commander John W. Wiseman Jr., U. S. N. R., outlined the efforts being made in the schools and colleges of the country to teach something of this new transportation science to the growing generation. Prof. Roland H. Spaulding told of the necessity to every well informed person to know something of aeronautics. Both talks were broadcast over the Columbia system on a nation wide chain.

Efforts were made to get Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to come to the Garden tonight and speak for a few minutes, but the colonel was unable to be there although he expects to make a thorough study of the exhibits some time during the week.

Airports in the metropolitan area were extremely busy. Many went first to the Garden and then, retaining their ticket stubs as part payment for an airplane ride, joined the Sunday traffic on the crowded roads to an airport. Managers at Roosevelt field, Curtiss airport, North Beach, and Grand Central airport reported that hundreds had taken their first ride during the afternoon.

Throng for Rides.

Great numbers also went to the fields in Westchester and New Jersey and at the Newark airport 500 persons went aloft on short rides. Roosevelt field sent up 300 and Curtiss airport at Valley Stream more than 100.

High and gusty winds during the day cut the flying considerably and at a number of the fields flying was suspended for several hours and finally stopped for the day, with people still in line waiting for chances to fly. A check up showed that 1,000 stubs from aircraft show tickets had been turned in at the airports.

The arrangement with the airports in the metropolitan district for reduced rates to show visitors will be continued throughout the week and next Sunday.

Crowd Big Transport.

Centers of interest in the Garden continued to be the big transport planes. The largest of the six—the thirty passenger Fokker—was visited during the day and night by a continuous stream of the curious, who climbed through a trap door under the pilot's comportment and went through the plane. The stream moved along at the rate of 800 persons an hour during the rush, with guards herding them into line.

There was always a crowd packed closely around the engine exhibits, especially the new Packard Diesel, the Isotta Fraschini booth, with its eighteen cylinder motor which turns out at full speed 1,800 horsepower, the Pratt and Whitney booth, with its wasps and hornets, and the Curtiss Wright display of whirlwind cyclones and the liquid cooled Conquerors.

GOLDSBOROUGH BEATS CROSS-COUNTRY MARK FOR JUNIOR AIRMEN

Los Angeles, Cal., May 4.—(AP)—Frank Goldsborough, 19 year old Jackson Heights, N. Y., flyer, landed here at 1 p. m. today to clip 13 hours and 57 minutes from the transcontinental record for junior flyers.

Goldsborough flew in from Colton, Cal., under unfavorable weather conditions. He was forced to climb 10,000 feet to escape rain and storm clouds He was convoyed from Colton by a fleet of airplanes.

The youth took off last Monday from Westfield, N. J., and despite considerable trouble en route spent only 34 hours and 3 minutes in the air. The former record of 48 hours was set by Dick James.

Goldsborough is the son of Bryce Goldsborough, pilot of the ill-fated trans-Atlantic plane Dawn. The youth learned to fly only last September, but at several points on his flight from seaboard to seaboard he displayed great skill and daring.

TELLS HOW SKY FORCE ENDED WAR ON ETHIOPIA KING

Frenchman Sees Battle; Hundreds Die.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 4.—The first detailed story of how a squadron of French trained planes smashed a revolt against Taffari Makonnen, former king and now emperor of Abyssinia, about three weeks ago, reached here today. Flying low the pilots used machine guns on the rebels, killing their leader, Chief Gouksa, and several hundred of his followers, according to Henri de Busschere, editor of a newspaper in Madagascar, who happened to be in the Frenech port of Djibouti when the outbreak occurred and who has just arrived in France.

Djibouti is the Red sea terminus of the Abyssinian railway leading to the Ethopian capital of Addis Abeba.

"Numerous Abyssinian chieftains consider the present emperor a usurper and maintain allegiance to the memory of his great-uncle, Emperor Menelik," said M. Busschere. "About the middle of April Chief Gouksa, with more than 1,000 warriors, who were equipped with rifles and machine guns obtained from the Italian protectorate of Eritrea and Somaliland, began a march on Emperor Taffari's capital. The ruler possessed only minor forces as no national army exists. The warriors are split up among the various tribes.

"A former French officer, Maillet, commanding four airplanes, ordered an attack on the assailing column which the planes met about 35 miles from Addis Abeba.

"Following tradition, Chief Gouksa was surrounded by a brilliant escort of mounted warriors in scarlet tunics and with waving plumed head dresses. These made an excellent target for the aerial machine gunners."

"Swooping straight toward the rebels the planes opened fire, the machine guns slaughtering several hundred and scattering the survivors. Chief Gouksa himself was wounded, and when the planes landed in an adjacent field the Abyssinian mechanics leaped out and in accordance with Ethiopian custom dismembered the wounded chief and disemboweled the body, but carefully preserved the head and face without injury for identification.

"M. Maillet rescued the gruesome remains and placed them in his plane and flew to Addis Abeba where King Taffari gave the mutilated fragments an elaborate funeral and a royal sepulchre.

"The decisive defeat of Chief Gouksa struck fear in the other chieftains who surrendered large stocks of arms and ammunition.

"The day after the rebels had been crushed Empress Zauditu, heiress of Menelik, died, and the king was immediately accused of poisoning her.

"An investigation revealed that Empress Zauditu had been suffering from typhoid and had wearied of the long treatment by a French doctor and had renounced the foreigner's scientific treatment for an Abyssinian sorcerer's practice. The native doctors ordered a sacred bath for the empress, who fainted in the icy waters and died without recovering consciousness."

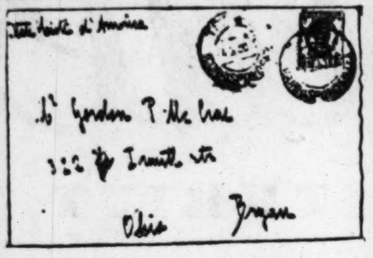
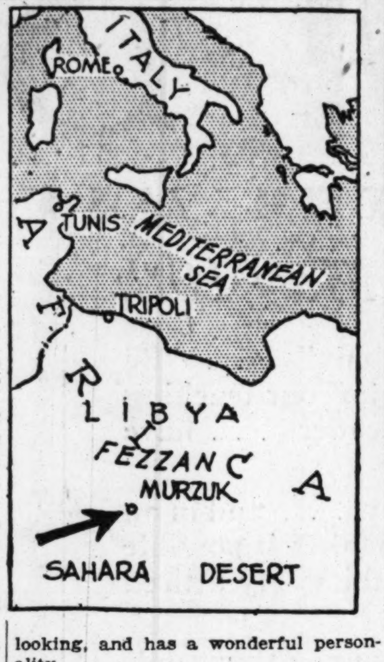
FROM MURZUK, AFRICA



Sta. Uniti d'America
Sr. Gordon P. McCrae
1371 Grand ave
Ohio Toledo

Letter received by Gordon P. McCrae, 1371 Grand avenue, Toledo, O.



Murzuk, a town and semi-oasis of Tripoli, is the capital of Fezzan in northern Africa. Its buildings are of brick cemented with mud, and it has a citadel. The town has a good trade in salt, medicinal drugs, and soda. It is noted for its intense heat, and what is said to be the highest shade temperature on the globe—135—has been recorded at Murzuk. It is a rendezvous for caravans from Cairo, Bengazi, Tripoli, Ghadames, Tuat, and the Sudan. It has a population of about 6,500.

The town was more important a few centuries ago because of its proximity to Garama, ancient capital of the Garamantes. The county of Fezzan is governed by a chief who exercises the powers of a sultan, but pays tribute to the viceroy at Tripoli.

Mr. McCrae writes:

"This letter is from the Count della Cisterni, a nephew of the king of Italy, whom I met while on my trip to Alaska a year ago. I believe you made mention of his traveling incognito through Canada and back through the United States. This chap is of a tall Roman physique, rather good looking, and has a wonderful personality.

"An amusing part of our meeting in Alaska was my introduction of chewing gum in tablet form. Neither the count nor the countess had ever seen this before, and the countess at first did not attempt to chew it, thinking it was a pill of some kind. After my telling them what it was I was hardly able to keep them supplied.

"Murzuk, where the count has since resumed his duties in charge of a camel corps, is on the caravan routes and a terrifically hot climate prevails there."

GRANDMOTHER SAVES INFANT AS HOME BURNS

Mrs. Toby Finkelstein, 60 years old, yesterday rescued her 16 month old grandson, Sol Melnick, from the second floor of a burning building at 2533 West Madison street. The child's father, Max Melnick, owner of the Madison Plumbing and Heating Supply company on the first floor of the building, had been overcome by smoke seeking to save his son and Mrs. Finkelstein.

The fire started on the ground floor and a quantity of gasoline stored there caused the flames to spread rapidly. Mrs. Finkelstein was aroused by the smoke and, groping her way to the child's crib, managed to carry him down the stairs and out of danger without injury to either of them. The loss was estimated by Chief John Peterman of the 18th battalion at $8,000.

FAMOUS GERMAN KITCHEN WIZARD HAILED AT EIGHTY

BERLIN, May 4.—(AP)—Hedwig Heyl, known as Germany's "Hindenburg of the kitchen," celebrated her 80th birthday today.

Countless messages and editorial tributes testified to the veneration held for her. She was a friend of the Empress Victoria, mother of the former Kaiser, of the late Empress Augusta-Victoria, his wife, and of the former Crown Princess Cecile. Her rôle in public life was most unusual at the time when former Emperor Wilhelm held that women's realm consisted of "three k's" [Kinder, Kirche, Kueche], children, church and kitchen. She was a pioneer in the movement for sanitary and comfortable working conditions for laborers. Through her efforts domestic economy was introduced into German schools and her cookbook still is a classic for German kitchens.

POLICE HOLD 3 PALS OF YOUTH KILLED BY TRAIN

David MacDonald, 2645 North Whipple street, is not satisfied that his son, Richard, 18 years old, who was decapitated by a train Saturday, was killed as was described by his companions. He persuaded Shakespeare avenue police to hold Frederick Freitag, 18 years old, 2829 Belmont avenue; Steven Malemk, 17 years old, 2927 Warsaw avenue, and Charles Kapple, 20 years old, 3234 North Richmond street, for the inquest today.

The three youths and three girls were with young MacDonald when he was killed. According to the story told by the boys, MacDonald and Freitag were "stunting" on the North Western railway elevation at Talman and Diversey avenues. MacDonald, they said, was struck by a freight train.

One of the girls, Mildred Hallstrom, 16 years old, 2736 North Talman avenue, the father told police, had stated that before starting up the embankment young MacDonald had said to her:

"You know what this means? It means farewell."

Mr. MacDonald told police he was sure his son had no reason for suicide and doubted that he was showing off for the girls when he was killed.

Tiffany Reappointed Chief of Lake Forest's Police

Mayor A. B. Dick of Lake Forest yesterday reappointed Lester T. Tiffany as chief of police, although Tiffany is the Republican nominee for sheriff of Lake county. This is Tiffany's fifth appointment. He has been head of the department since Sept. 1, 1926. Nomination on the Republican ticket is practically equivalent to election in Lake county, the mayor said, but Tiffany has agreed to continue his Lake Forest job until he becomes sheriff.

RENEW SENATE FIGHT TODAY TO CONFIRM PARKER

Half Dozen Are Ready to Battle for Him.

Washington, D. C., May 4.—(AP)—Friends of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina prepared today to take the offensive tomorrow in the senate debate in a final effort to win his confirmation as a member of the Supreme court.

With half a dozen senators ready to carry on the debate tomorrow for the nominee, leaders abandoned hope of a vote on Parker before Tuesday. Meanwhile there was no apparent change over the week end in the lineup, the foes still claiming victory and the proponents still working for a majority.

Senators Waterman [Rep., Colo.] and Stephens [Dem., Miss.], two members of the judiciary committee which voted 10 to 6 against Parker, will take up the Parker cause tomorrow and several others, including Senators Allen [Rep., Kas.] and Jones [Rep., Wash.] will follow up the attack.

President Stands Firm.

Little hope was held out today by leaders of either side of support for a motion to recommit the nomination to committee. There has been some discussion of this, but the apparent determination of President Hoover not to withdraw the nomination has about killed the movement.

The President is represented as taking a most active part in the drive for votes and the Parker foes expressed alarm today that his efforts might upset their calculations.

Those "Yellow Dog" Contracts.

The Hoover activities are credited with strengthening the Republican forces which split wide when the National Association for the Advancement of the Colored People protested against the attitude of Judge Parker to the Negroes.

However, Senator Borah has made his attack upon the nominee solely on the ground of the attitude he expressed in upholding an injunction restraining the United Mine Workers from soliciting membership among employés of the Red Jacket Coal company in West Virginia who had signed "Yellow Dog" contracts not to join the unions.

The unknown position of many of the southern Democrats toward Parker has caused considerable doubt in the calculations all week over the final result. A letter read to the senate by Senator McKellar [Dem., Tenn.], showing that Joseph M. Dixon, assistant secretary of the interior, urged the White House to appoint Parker as a "master political stroke," caused considerable confusion. Parker is a Republican.

RECALL HAYMARKET RIOT AS POLICE VETS MARK ANNIVERSARY

Ghosts of nearly a half century ago lurked in the dusky Des Plaines street police station yesterday. Thirteen gray haired men sat and recalled the eventful night of May 4, 1886, when they marched out of the same station to face an anarchist bomb which killed eight of their companions and wounded seventy-five.

The thirteen are survivors who observed the forty-fourth anniversary of the Haymarket riot. Most of them are over 80 years old.

The survivors of Chicago's most famous riot reminisced about the disaster. Former Capt. Frank P. Tyrrell, president of the association, told how the sputtering bomb was thrown among the closely packed ranks of the policemen when an effort was made to quell a Red demonstration. An unknown number of rioters were killed by the police. Four men were later hanged as a result of the bomb throwing.

Those present at yesterday's meeting, in addition to Tyrrell, were John T. Gibbons, vice president; Jeremiah Kennedy, treasurer; Hurg MacNeil, Solomon C. Steele, Andrew O'Day, John M. Sisk, Jay T. Kennedy, James B. Short, E. J. Hanley, Joseph Fallon, Thomas Meany, and George W. Roycroft.

Reports Theft of $4,750 Clothing from His Home

Burglars broke into the home of Jacob Weingarten, 5106 North Mango avenue, yesterday and stole fur coats and gowns owned by his wife and valued at $4,750, he reported to the Irving Park police. Weingarten has a tailoring concern at 51 East Adams street.

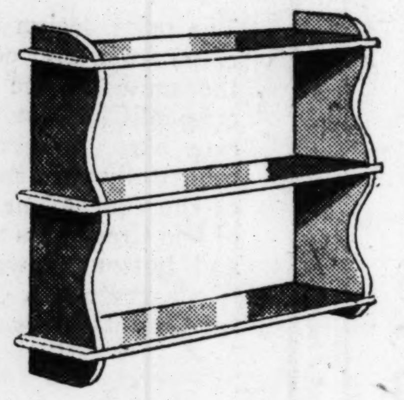
The Home Picks Out Its New Color Scheme

A Bloom for The Kitchen

Paint It Yourself

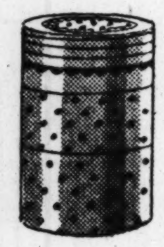
At $1—Bright flowers-in-pots (artificial, of course) to bring a spot of color to the kitchen window. A wide and inviting selection of flowers and colors.



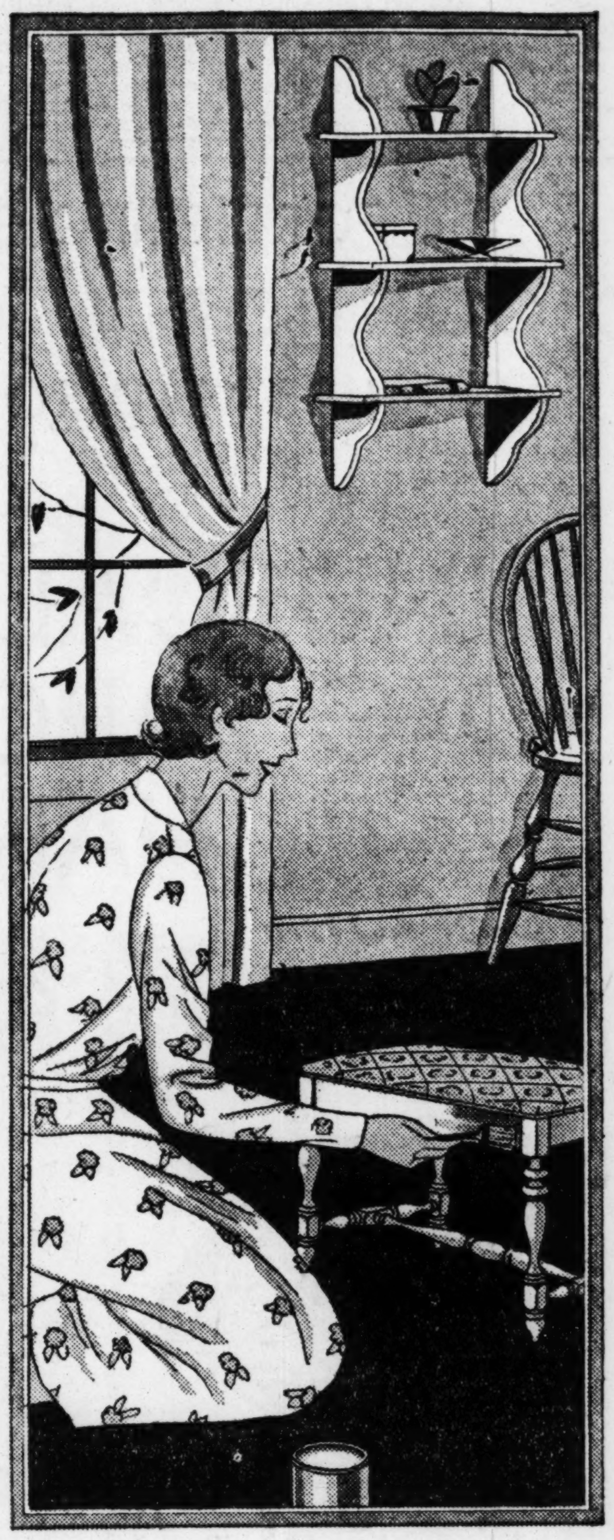
At $1.25—An attractive hanging rack with three convenient shelves, 23 inches high by 15 inches wide, by 5 inches deep.

At 89c—A rapid-drying enamel in a large selection of colors. A good quality brush, 1½ inch size, is included with each pint. The use of the enamel will be demonstrated in the Section.

At $1—Unusual metal waste baskets, colorfully decorated, with clever prints, in a wide choice of designs.



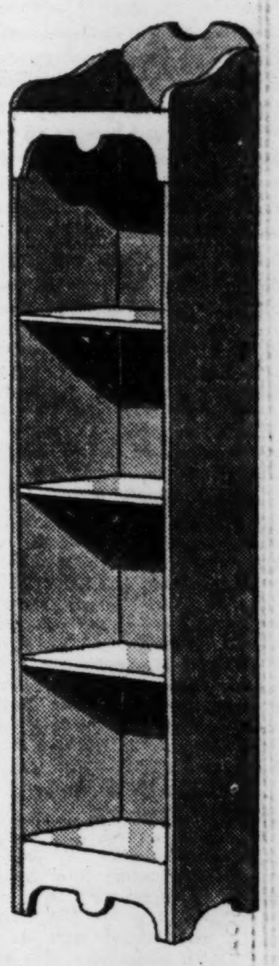
At $2.50—Polka-dotted refrigerator set, with an arrangement for ventilation, matches the nappy set. Complete with four pieces.



HOMES—like people—get tired of being dressed up in the same colors all the time—even if they are becoming. Colorful new accessories will change the whole tone of the room if properly handled—and the surest way to have just the effect you want is to paint the things yourself.

Here are unfinished pieces in great variety—racks, shelves, stools and such—and there are many attractive new utilities for the kitchen on display now, too—a number of which are illustrated here.

Sixth Floor, South, State.

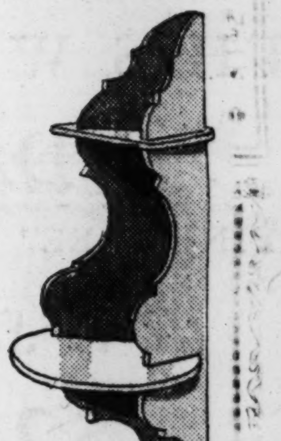


At $4.50—An unfinished bookcase, size 58 inches high by 12 inches wide, and 8 inches deep.

At $1—A 3-shelf rack, shown in the sketch in the center, is priced at $1. And there is a two-shelf rack (not sketched) priced at $1.

At $6—An unfinished radio bench, shown in the center sketch, appropriate for other uses, too, if you prefer—has a comfortable padded seat to be covered.

At $2.50—Gaily polka-dotted nappy set—the kind you really like to work with, to be had complete with 6 pieces.



At $1.50—This unusual corner rack with two shelves is just the thing to brighten an uninteresting corner.

At $3.50—A cunning round, low foot-stool, with padded top, has most interesting decorative possibilities.

Linoleums

Carry the Bright New Colors Floorward

All manner of new patterns make selection interesting—and enable the home to work out its new color scheme effectively. Prominent in the spring collections is the colorful new "Embossed De Luxe Inlaid," which reproduces in a single pattern the texture-effect of brick, stone, tile, slate, and jasper.

There are "hooked carpet" patterns, "Flagstone" patterns in the lighter colorings, new designs keyed to the modern trend in color. The popular "Straight Line Inlaid" linoleums, in a variety of new colors, are offered in a wide range of gauges to suit your particular needs. Choose according to kind from groups at

LIQUOR CHARGE SEEN AS BLOW AT WET PARTIES

Insurance Men Figure in Test Case.

Springfield, Ill., May 4.—[Special.]—Indictment of the Reliance Agency corporation of Peoria, an insurance company, two of its officials and others, after an allegedly wet convention, has been interpreted here as an effort by the government to test the effectiveness of conspiracy indictments to prevent the serving of intoxicants at banquets.

The indictment, which was returned by the federal grand jury at Peoria last Wednesday, is one of a series by which prosecutors expect to reach "higherup" violators of the Volstead act. It follows as a sequence to earlier indictments involving corn products and yeast companies, and is coincident with proceedings to padlock the pastures of farms on which stills have been in operation.

Hit at Supply Source.

It has been known for some time that federal prohibition agents contemplated shutting off the sources of liquor supplies for banquets in the state capital. And regular purveyors to the festivities of conventions have become shy of dealing with "refreshment" committees of such gatherings.

The indictment returned at Peoria has to do with a party given the Reliance Automobile Insurance Underwriters, for which the indicted corporation is attorney in fact.

Agency Head Accused.

Those named in the indictments are B. G. Moutier, president of the Reliance Agency corporation; William A. Pfeffer, sales manager; the Sudseit Turnverein, a corporation, which is a community hall where the alleged wet party was staged, and A. M. Murphy, alleged bartender. The party was held March 29 and was attended by prohibition agents.

Galesburg's Population Is 28,696 by New Census

Figures issued by the Associated Press, in conjunction with census officials, set Galesburg's population in the new census at 28,696. Ten years ago it was 23,834.

The population of Columbia, Mo., is 14,919, an increase of 4,527.

ASSAIL BELGIAN "FORCED LABOR" RULE IN CONGO

Catholic Church Joins Red Cross in Protest.

BY ANN SOMERS HOUSE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, May 4.—Half a million Negroes are forced to work in the Belgian Congo, whether they want to or not, a prominent Belgian statesman, M. P. Orts, president of the Red Cross of the Congo and member of the league of nations mandate commission, declared today. Because the Belgians develop industries too fast in their Congo colony and insist on compulsory labor under the modern term of "labor recruitment" the native population in the vast Belgian equatorial colony has decreased steadily during the past 40 years, he said.

First warfare and portage, but more lately underfeeding and overwork, have decimated the Negroes, he adds. According to Dr. Orts, 12 per cent of the workers, all men in the prime of their life, die in certain mining and industrial camps in the colony.

"Family fathers are torn from their wives and children and often are sent to factories or mines some two or four days away from their village," he said. "There are instances when even women and young children have been called to help in industry. Homesickness, change of food, and illness reduce the number of workers; in some, 120 out of 1,000 die in some camps. This mortality may even go up to 144 per 1,000."

How dozens of men, driven to workers' camps like so many head of cattle, drop down with fever even before they have started to earn their first wages was described by the Red Cross chief.

"On my visit to a workers' camp I saw the latest recruits lined up in two rows along the four sides of a square," he said. "There were 600 men divided into groups, each group having come from one village. Some of these men had walked six weeks to get to the camp. They were the most miserable lot of human beings I've ever laid my eyes on—weak, small, and frightened. There were men from the ages of 15 to 35, and 35 means an old man amongst the Congo Negroes.

"Some sat on the ground obviously because they could not stand up any longer. Loud coughs arose, and men were dropping down trying to hold themselves up at the fence. I saw one group of twelve who were to be sent back to their village as unfit for work. They looked half dead."

Hatred is growing against all white men, missionaries included, among the Congo natives, Dr. Orts claims. Alarmed by the increasing death rate and by the loosening of family ties, Belgian Catholic missionaries in the Congo recently joined Dr. Orts in his protest.

"Where the recruitment of native labor goes to such extremes as to tear husbands from wives and fathers from children," the missionaries write, "it destroys all family and native life. It decreases the birth rate and increases infant mortality; it is an obstacle to educating native children."

FAMILY OF 3 AND 2 OTHERS KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Fort Bragg, Cal., May 4.—(AP)—Five persons were killed and an entire family wiped out in an automobile accident on the highway five miles south of here today.

A closed car bearing a picnic party plunged seventy feet from a bridge, killing all but one of the accupants.

The dead:

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Grivette and their 6 year old son, all of Fort Bragg.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jones, also of Fort Bragg.

FALLS THREE FLOORS, LIVES.

Warren Harris, 42 years old, 321 Hill street, suffered a fractured skull yesterday when he fell three stories from the back stairs of his home into the midst of a group of children at play. None of the children was injured.

Follow These Simple Rules

1—Every week-day for 48 consecutive days (not including Sundays) the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a "Game of Counties" picture. Each picture will represent a County in one of these five States: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. You are invited to name the Counties.

2—The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named and neatest complete sets of pictures in accordance with these rules. See prize list at right.

NOTE:—You do not necessarily have to name each of the 48 pictures correctly to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank the highest.

3—This offer is open to everyone—men, women, boys and girls, except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

4—Pictures are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do not send in each picture separately. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set of 48. Then send them to "Counties," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Ill. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Picture No. 48 has been printed.

5—Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Dept. Contestants may submit as many sets of pictures as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize. Accuracy will count. Neatness will count.

6—You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the pictures and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

7—Judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

RELIGIOUS WAR IN MALTA STIRS ISLAND VOTERS

Bishops Forbid Catholics to Support Premier.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, May 4.—Civil strife over the pending elections on the island of Malta, Great Britain's naval base in the Mediterranean, is feared here today, as a result of a clash between church and state, which reached a climax three days ago with the publication of pastoral letters by the bishops of Malta and the neighboring island of Gozo, forbidding Catholics to vote for candidates who are adherents of Lord Strickland, prime minister of the island.

The bishop of Gozo had previously announced that he would refuse absolution to any one who favored Lord Strickland.

Charges are made by the prime minister's supporters that the Vatican authorities are openly encouraging the islanders to resist the Strickland government. On the other hand, the bishops of the islands assert that Lord Strickland is opposing religion, while Italian nationalists, who are also taking a hand in the matter, charge that Lord Strickland is trying to stamp out Italian culture.

Following a meeting of the council of ministers yesterday, statements were made to the governor of the islands that "it will be impossible to maintain constitutional government in the islands and preserve peace, if the Vatican is left free to dictate to the population the policy they must follow, or impose men whom they think should govern the islands."

Diplomatic activities have been going on between the Brtish embassy in Rome and the Vatican for the last month to settle the vexing question through a concordat, but they have broken down, the Vatican refusing to deal with the question as long as Lord Strickland remains in power.

Row Comes to a Head.

To the British demand that the Vatican instruct the two bishops to concern themselves solely with spiritual affairs, Cardinal Pacelli, secretary of state for the Vatican, replied that nothing had happened to cause the bishops to act differently in this election than in previous ones. Matters came to a head with the two pastoral letters telling the Maltese how to vote.

The bitter altercation between Lord Strickland and the Vatican began two years ago with the expulsion of a Franciscan monk.

Lord Strickland's cabinet declares that the bishops' action is sedition against the authority of the state. In view of the 250,000 islanders being split into two camps, it is feared violence may attend the elections, and that they may be adjourned.

TELLS POLICE OF ELOPEMENT.

Henry Becker, 35 years old, 4502 Emerald avenue, a special policeman at the Union Stockyards, told police yesterday that John Pollens, 31 years old, 1948 Cleveland avenue, struck him with a hammer and eloped with Mrs. Becker early Sunday morning.

25,000 HONOR POLISH GENERAL OF REVOLUTION

Twenty-five thousand Americans of Polish descent participated yesterday in a colorful spectacle centering around the monument to Gen. Thaddeus Kosciuszko in Humboldt park, commemorating the hero who helped Washington in America's fight for independence. The annual observance of the anniversary is also in the nature of a demonstration of loyalty and patriotism on the part of the Polish citizens. Anthony Czarnecki, United States collector of customs, presided.

Brief addresses eulogizing Kosciuszko and the qualities and achievements of the Polish people as citizens, patriots and soldiers, were made by Gen. Casper H. Conrad of Fort Sheridan, Chief Justice Frederic de Young of the Illinois Supreme court, Max Przyborski, just appointed assistant commissioner of commerce by Gov. Emmerson, who tendered the greetings of the governor; M. S. Szymczak, clerk of the Superior court, Judge Joseph Burke, who expressed the sentiments of the American Legion, John Romaszkiewicz, president of the Polish National Alliance, and Leopold Saltiel, who brought greetings from the mayor.

ARIZONA'S SUIT MAY HALT START ON BOULDER DAM

Year May Be Required to End Litigation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 4.—[Special.]—Controversies continue to surround every step in the progress of the 165 million dollar Boulder dam project. It is likely to be another year before the legal obstacles which are to be presented in the suit proposed by the state of Arizona are definitely disposed of. In the meantime there is uncertainty as to whether the court action will halt the commencement of construction work.

Representative Louis W. Douglas [Dem., Ariz.] is planning to take the lead in a fight against the $10,660,000 appropriation which President Hoover has recommended for the start of activities.

The appropriation will be included in the final deficiency bill which will be passed by congress in the closing weeks of the present session. It has been impossible for the interior department to ask for funds heretofore as under the law no appropriation could be made until contracts were signed to insure the repayment of a specified part of the cost of the dam in a period of fifty years. These contracts were recently signed.

Inasmuch as the Supreme court will recess for the summer about the same time as congress adjourns there appears to be no chance for the state of Arizona to obtain a hearing on its case before next fall. The plan as announced by the Arizona Colorado river commission is to file a suit with the Supreme court challenging the validity of the Boulder dam act as soon as the appropriation is voted by congress.

SENATE BATTLE MARKS PRIMARY IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Coalition Man Seeking Renomination.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 4.—[Special.]—South Dakota furnishes the second of the 1930 senatorial primaries this week. Senator W. H. McMaster [Rep., S. D.], a member of the Democratic-radical coalition which figured in the senate consideration of the tariff bill, is facing opposition from George J. Danforth, a regular Republican. On the Democratic side Gov. W. J. Bulow, who has twice been elected to his present office in a normally Republican state, is seeking the senatorial nomination and is opposed by James McNamara.

Capital Watches Election.

There is considerable interest in Washington in the outcome of the South Dakota primary on Tuesday because of the belief that it will reflect the reaction of voters in an agricultural section to the coalition activities. Senator McMaster has been attacked by Mr. Danforth for his connection with the coalition and for his failure to support President Hoover. Senator McMaster has defended the coalition and has been aided on the stump by two other radical Republican members of this group, Senators Peter Norbeck [Rep., S. D.] and Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.].

The presumption here is that Senator McMaster will win, and that his opponent in November will be Gov. Bulow. With a vote getter of the Bulow caliber in the field the Democrats think they have a chance to carry the state.

Indiana Votes Tuesday.

While Indiana also will hold a primary on Tuesday, no senatorial contest is involved. Members of its congressional delegation will be nominated, as well as candidates for state offices.

Two other senatorial primaries are scheduled this month, one in Oregon on May 16 and the other in Pennsylvania on May 20.

Barker and White to Face Pistol Toting Trial Today

George Barker, Jack White, and Bernard O'Donnell are to face trial before Judge Harry B. Miller for gun toting today. Barker and the others were found with loaded revolvers, according to the police, when arrested on Feb. 13, by Sergt. Thomas Hamilton during the police drive on known hoodlums.

FEDERAL COUPONS GIVEN

that convinced these "Doubting Thomas" experts

LESS THAN the ordinary wear was found in the pistons after a 9000-mile test run with this improved motor oil — New Iso-Vis.

TEST TUBE EVIDENCE was shown to the experts. Then the results of hundreds of engine tests in the laboratory. This supporting evidence was enough to easily convince the ordinary man that New Iso-Vis has decided advantages over any other motor oil. But the experts said, "Now show us a real test of thousands of miles".

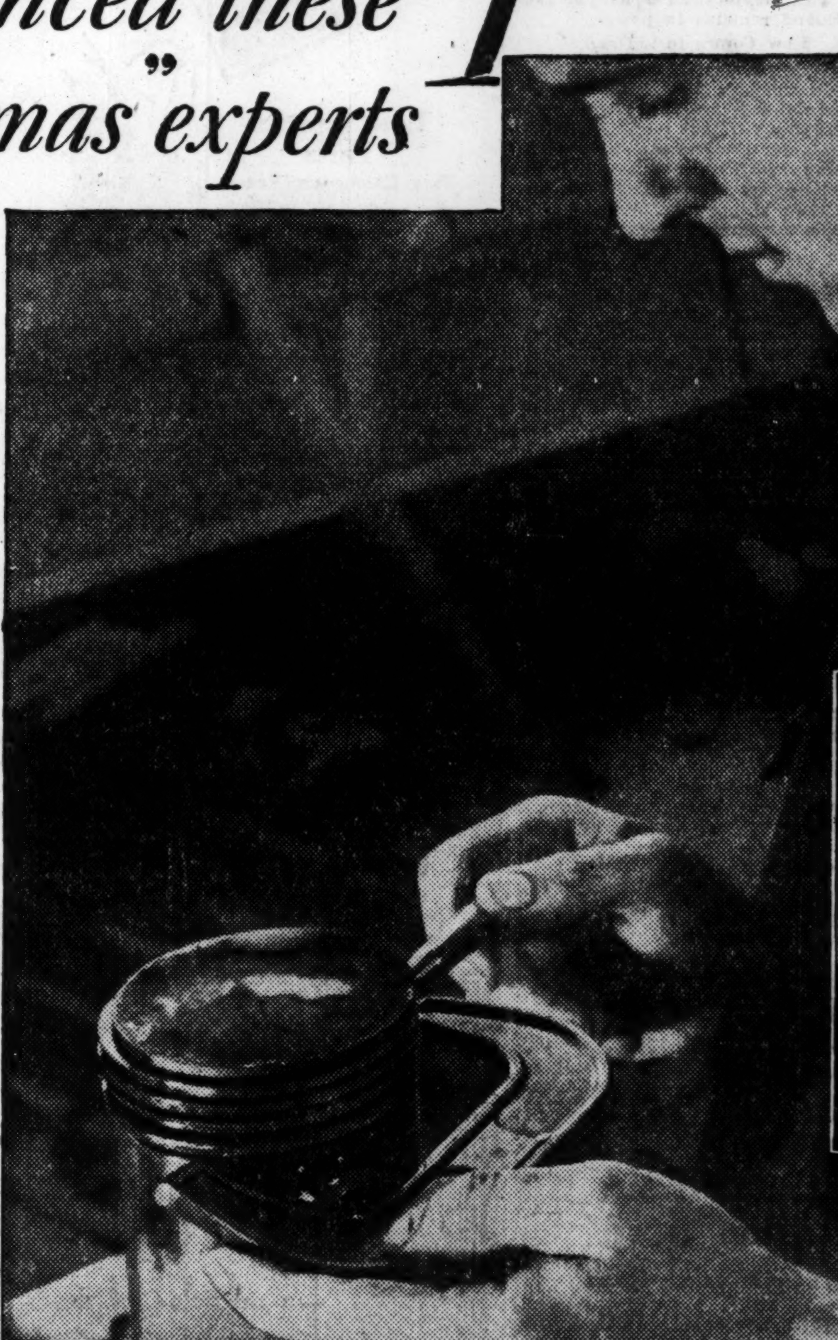
So this engine had been rushed through a test of 9,000 miles . . . equal to a year's mileage of most cars. Now, measuring would show how New Iso-Vis had protected the moving parts. This, after all, is the actual test of an oil.

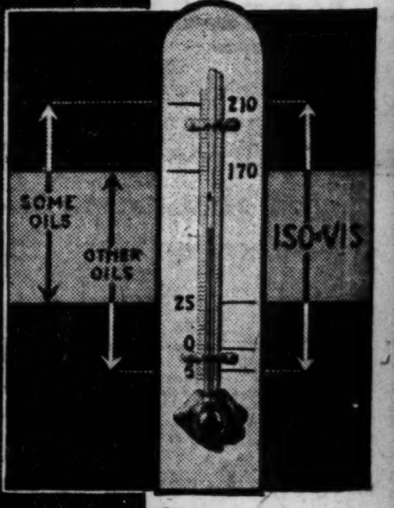
A micrometer was applied to the various parts. Everywhere the wear was less than normal. The bearing wear, for instance, had been less than 1/1000 of an inch. The engine was in as good condition as when it started on the long run. The experts were convinced.

The reasons for the high lubricating value of New Iso-Vis have been proved to be as follows:

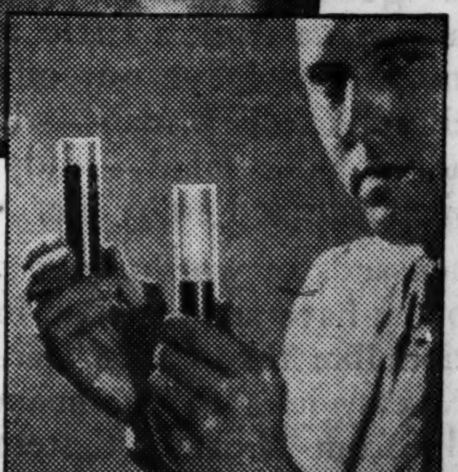
1. New Iso-Vis will not thin out in the crankcase. It is made proof against dilution trouble by a special patented process.
2. New Iso-Vis cuts carbon formation to less than half the average of various premium-priced oils. It is Wholly Distilled and contains no undistilled parts of the crude.
3. New Iso-Vis continues to lubricate effectively at engine temperatures far above normal. Yet its lubricating range goes as low as so-called "winter oils".

You will find the proof of these facts in the longer life of your car and its better performance when you run it on New Iso-Vis. This new type oil was put on the market only last March. Have your crankcase drained, flushed and refilled with New Iso-Vis at any Standard Oil dealer or service station.





SOME OILS are satisfactory at high temperatures but not at low. The reverse is true of other oils. New Iso-Vis protects your engine at both extremes.



YOU SEE here on the right the carbon formed by New Iso-Vis. It is 50 per cent less than the average of various premium-priced oils.

New ISO=VIS Motor Oil 30¢ a quart

The New Polarine also is produced by our new refining processes—giving it a degree of lubricating efficiency which we believe is exceeded only by the New Iso-Vis. The price is 25c a quart.

AUSTRALIA EYES VAST DESERT FOR FOOD OF FUTURE

Costly Wells Needed to Make It Habitable.

The following story concerning the Australian Northern Territory has just been received by mail from Mr. Dailey, who was assigned to make a survey of territories in the far east. Mr. Dailey is now in India.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DARWIN, Australian Northern Territory, March 20.—[By Mail.]—One hears on all sides in the larger cities of Australia that if there were twice as many wells sunk on the great northern and central desert the country would be able almost to feed half the world.

On the other hand, with wheat, wool, mutton, beef, hides, and dairy products now being overproduced in many parts of the world, it would seem to a passing observer that Australia for a period of several years need not concern herself about further agricultural development, as already she can feed millions more than her present population with her present water supply.

Needs Wells in Desert.

The great northern territory, of which Darwin, with only 2,000 population, is the caiptal, located near the 13th parallel south of the equator, extends to the 26th parallel and east and west from about the 129th to the 138th degrees of east longitude. The two great stock routes of this vast and thinly populated area are dotted every 20 miles or so with wells, but there is need for twice the present number to accommodate the already settled portions of the vast desert, in which the heavy rainfalls—when they do come—sink so quickly into the sands that crops are hazardous.

Often the desert of northern Australia goes for two years without a drop of rain at all and all farming is uncertain. But sinking of twice or three times the present number of wells would cost more than the commonwealth could bear.

Sheep Ruined Green Areas.

In many stretches a few years ago the sheep nibbled the growth short. Then came sand storms and the roots were covered up. Now there is nothing but sand over what half a decade ago was a fairly green area.

Cattle and horses can do better than sheep in this territory, as they do not crop the grass so closely. Also on the trail to market they can cover more miles in a day, and hence fewer wells are required than for sheep, and thus can reach the markets on the hoof in fairly good condition.

Therefore, sheep raising in this northern section has been to a large extent abandoned, although there is sufficient artesian water 2,000 feet below the surface to duplicate the number of wells on the routes if the demands of the world markets ever justify the heavy expenditure required.

Cattle are now driven all night and until noon the next day to reach the present wells. They arrive famished and many are lost in the struggle for drinking room. Heavy posts are erected to reduce the amount of trampling. Good water, though in limited quantities, can be obtained by shallow wells, but the boring of artesian wells is expensive as it is below the limestone and granite, and often the layer of granite is very thick indeed.

Summer in March.

The stock routes traverse some of the most arid country in the commonwealth, as the region has an average annual rainfall of less than ten iches, most of the fall being in February and March, which are summer months in this latitude. This year in the Darwin section the fall was 40 inches in two weeks, but was all soaked deep into the earth within a week or so afterwards. The amount of evaporation also is excessive and the mean annual temperature is very high.

It is being urged that in order to avoid the long and costly overland drives to the more densely populated sections of Australia Darwin should develop a packing industry and export facilities for livestock. A few years ago a large packing plant was erected in there, but soon was closed owing to excessive wage demands and it is now falling into ruins.

KILLS FIANCE OF DAUGHTER ON WAY FROM MASS

Elizabeth, N. J., May 4.—[Special.]—John Kus, 43, a widower of four months, was shot and killed today soon after he had left St. Hedwig's church, where he had attended mass with Miss Bertha Dziobak, 19, whom he was to have married this afternoon. Her father, Feliz, is charged with the crime by the police.

Kus and his intended bride met Dziobak and his son, Julius, 15, on the sidewalk outside the church at the close of the morning service. Although Dziobak had bitterly opposed the marriage because of the difference in the couple's ages, Kus stopped him and asked him to attend the wedding. Dziobak replied that he would consult his wife about it.

Dziobak and his son then got into the rear seat of Kus' automobile, while Miss Dziobak and Kus took the front seat. As the car moved along, Dziobak, according to the police, drew a pistol and fired three shots into the back of Kus' head.

Ship's Captain Falls Dead on Bridge of Freighter

New York, May 4.—[Special.]—While on the bridge of his ship Capt. Emil Wimmel, commanding the freighter Emden, fell dead today, according to radio messages from the steamer now on its way to Tampa, Fla., from Baltimore. Recently the old seaman expressed delight that his daughter had postponed her wedding so that he could attend when he reached Hamburg, Germany, his home port.

The EASTEST WAY to get from Chicago to Petropolis
—simply say "Yes"

PETROPOLIS is a state of comfort resulting from automatic heat as supplied by the Petroleum Heat & Power Company. You can enjoy this happy state for the amount you are now spending to heat your home.

JUST one magic word will bring the most gratifying experience you've ever known. That word is "yes."

"Yes" opens wide the gates to Petropolis, a realm of enchantment. Here joyously mellow days make one's view of life more mellow. Here as nowhere else one revels in added hours of golden leisure.

How can this "miracle" be brought about? The same "yes" summons one who performs it in only forty-eight hours. With him the task is simple. He brings the fruit of many years' experience—of the world's greatest resources in oil heating.

He has led many thousands into Petropolis. He can direct your family straight to this perfect state of comfort—this ideal way of living. Why not accept his aid? There's nothing to do but utter the magic word.

Sponsoring Petropolis, is the world's largest oil heating organization with a great Chicago factory.

For a generation the Petroleum Heat & Power Company has been building good oil burners to operate on low priced fuel oil. For the last 16 years in the East, it has also been supplying low priced fuel oil in its own fleets of trucks to operate in good oil burners.

In this capacity of a public service enterprise, dividing its responsibility with no one, it developed a rare technique in heating with oil. It placed oil heat on a new economic basis.

You may have the same equipment in your home that made the Petroleum Heat & Power Company the greatest oil heating organization in the world. The kind of oil heat that makes Petropolis possible.

It is so simple to get all the facts. Just phone us or the nearest sales agent. There is no obligation except to your own family.

No one type of Oil Burner can meet all Heating Plant Requirements

To secure maximum quietness, economy, care-free operation and widest choice of oil fuels, engineers agree that different boilers require different types and sizes of oil burners. As a public service enterprise, the Petroleum Heat & Power Company has for years demonstrated the need for its complete line of fully engineered oil burners. These burners are the result of 27 years' oil heating experience, over 70,000 installations from coast to coast, serving every type of building from the 52-story Metropolitan Life Insurance Building in New York City, the palatial homes of local prominent people, down to the more modest residences to be found on every street.

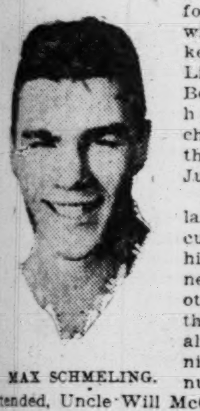
CUCKOO SEEMS THE WRONG PET FOR SCHMELING

It's Not as Edible as Flynn's Parrot.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



MAX SCHMELING.

New York, May 4.—Max Schmeling returned to the United States today to go into training for his prize fight with Jack Sharkey, the weeping Lithuanian from Boston, for the heavyweight championship of the world on June 12.

He brought a large crate of cuckoo clocks for his sparring partners and some other friends in the industry, and, although he denied that any innuendo was intended, Uncle Will McCarney, his deputy manager, thought the choice unfortunate and expressed a hope that anybody who found himself in receipt of a cuckoo clock would not misinterpret the young man's intentions.

"Everybody in Germany has a cuckoo clock and fifty million Germans can't be cuckoo," Uncle Will said. "I would always be inclined to say, 'Who is cuckoo?' and swing on it."

Cuckoo Gets Personal.

It was about this moment that a customs inspector, hauling out the clocks for examination, tilted one of them at a certain angle, where at a small door under the eaves popped open and a cuckoo hopped briskly out several times, exclaiming "Cuckoo!" in what seemed to be a very personal manner.

"He doesn't mean you individually, Mr. Inspector," Uncle Will explained hastily. "That goes for everybody. Cuckoos are a great nuisance and I would not have one of them around, as a great many of my friends have been punched on the head and they would always be taking umbrage.

"These cuckoos are worse than Leo P. Flynn's parrot, which used to depress the morale of his slashing assassins of the roped arena by yelling 'Nine, ten, and out; Flynn, come and pick up your bum.' But Flynn ate the parrot one Thanksgiving, and you cannot eat a cuckoo out of a clock, as they are full of splinters and springs."

Schmeling came on the Hamburg-American liner New York and stepped ashore 24 hours late, the ship having been delayed by fog, in the midst of which the cuckoos manned the bridge and augmented the siren by yelling their native cry in chorus.

Inspector Seeks Cactus.

He was subjected to a special kind of inspection by a determined agent of the government, who spent the better part of an hour cross-examining him regarding a cactus which was believed to be concealed in his baggage.

This inspector represented the bureau of horticulture and wore a badge with an unfamiliar insignia, but otherwise resembled in tactics, manners, and appearance the familiar type detailed to the duty of extending the cordial insults of the government to visitors to these shores.

"Have you a plant?" the inspector demanded of Herr Schmeling, examining his customs declaration and finding no cactus listed there. "You have not declared any plant or plants."

Herr Schmeling seemed puzzled by this, and the inspector aggravated his confusion, although through it all Max insisted that he had no plant or plants and had no intention to start any farm, garden, or window box while in the United States.

"What does he mean?" Herr Schmeling appealed to Mr. Joey Jacobs, his manager in chief.

"He means," Mr. Jacobs said, "have you brought any plants? I could translate it in Yiddish. Have you brought any radishes, garlic, bananas, or nasturtiums, or any sprig, shoot, or shrub of any description?"

Brother Acts Strangely.

After one more denial from Herr Schmeling, there was a clink suggesting handcuffs as the defender of the native American cactus industry drew out a newspaper clipping of a Berlin dispatch reporting that Herr Schmeling's brother, Rudolph, on the hour of his departure for the United States, had given him a cactus. This indictment was read to the young man and for a moment he was so hysterical that it was impossible to say whether he was unnerved or merely hilarious.

"O that, that was not a cactus."

That had been a dill pickle. His brother had stuck a dill pickle in a flower pot and jabbed matches into the pickle. But, the inspector wanted to know why any one would put a dill pickle in a flower pot and matches in a pickle. Obviously the story didn't ring true to him and the incident had to be explained to Washington. However, Max could only say that his brother was the sort of person who sticks dill pickles into flower pots and matches into dill pickles. So he was cleared of this particular suspicion, the inspector for the bureau of horticulture withdrawing with an air of having performed his duty.

But the customs inspectors were still to be assured, and the case finally reduced itself to a matter of one golf

MAKING GOOD

Thumbnail sketches of new major league baseball players of promise—where they were developed and their attainments.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Bad Bill Hallahan of the Cardinal staff didn't reach the pitching pinnacle over night. He traveled a long, tough road to get there. In fact six years of his career rolled along before he felt entitled to throw out his chest and strut around like a man who has done things in a big way.

Bad Bill started off the current National league affair with two impressive victories over the Cubs who with a string of right handed hitters should be death on southpaws. Bad Bill didn't let that worry him. He probably regretted that he was so long in showing results from the seasons of patience exercised in his behalf by his present owners.

A Cardinal scout originally located Hallahan back in 1924 when he was prodigal with passes as a member of the Kalamazoo club in the Michigan-Ontario league. The Cards took him to camp the following spring but he was soon shipped to Syracuse of the International league for ripening. Back he came in 1926 to enjoy the thrill of a pennant and world series under Manager Rogers Hornsby. However, he didn't have much to do with that accomplishment. He was used mainly as relief man that season and finished with the unenviable record of one victory and four defeats.

In 1927 Bad Bill was fast balling back with Syracuse but he began to find himself. He won nineteen and lost eleven. They recalled him and gave him a ticket to Houston, another Cardinal farm, for the year of 1928. He rolled up 23 victories while losing 12 and his work was the dominant factor in a pennant for Houston and victory in the post season series with Birmingham, the Southern association champs. Last year he was back with the Cards but had only a modest record of 4 and 4.

Hallahan was born at Binghampton, N. Y., Aug. 4, 1904 and the semi-pro lots of his home town started him on his tedious baseball journey.

WISCONSIN SETS PACE IN BIG TEN BASEBALL RACE

Wisconsin was in the whipseat of the Western conference baseball championship race today with three straight victories. The Badgers Saturday squeezed out a 5 to 4 victory over the previously undefeated Minnesota club, sending the latter into fourth place behind Northwestern and Illinois, which were tied for second place.

Northwestern accounted for its third victory in four starts at the expense of Michigan, winning 8 to 5. Illinois received plenty of competition from Ohio State, but won, 5 to 4.

Cuyler Tells Boys How to Catch Flies

This is the first of a series of lessons on outfielding written by Kiki Cuyler of the Cubs for The Tribune's baseball school. Kiki will give a personal demonstration of the lessons Saturday morning at Wrigley field.

BY KIKI CUYLER.

There are may different ways in which outfielders catch fly balls. If a man has a peculiar method it is because it is natural with him. However, there are some methods better than others and a youngster by practice can develop in the right way just as easily as he can follow his natural inclinations.

My theory on catching them is to practice along two different lines. There are high flies that can be caught only in one way. There are some not so high that must be handled differently. Another thing that should be kept in mind is that throwing is a big item in an outfielder's value to his team and the ball, when runners are on the bases, should be caught in such way as to avoid loss of time by having to get into throwing position after catching the ball.

When a fly ball is hit to me and the situation is such that a base runner might start after the catch I try to get the ball at about the level of my cap visor. The first thing to do of course, if it is possible, is to get in front of the ball so that you are facing the infield. Catching the ball up around the top of my head means that my glove and bare hand are pointing into the air. The hands are cupped so that the closed side is toward me.

The advantage of making the catch in this way is that when you get the ball your arm is already raised and the throw can be made with minimum loss of time. Catching in this fashion is a bit hazardous because of the possibilities of not closing your grip soon enough to avoid having the ball bounce off the heel of the glove or the heel of the bare hand.

The safe way and the one to use when there are no base runners to consider is to make the catch with your hands lowered almost to the waist. To do this you cup your hands horizontally, the closed side will be toward the ground. This style is helpful in getting low drives.

DERBY CANDIDATES

Something about the starters in the $50,000 race at Churchill Downs which will be renewed for the 56th time on May 17.

BY FRENCH LANE.

MICHIGAN BOY—They thought this fellow was just a selling plater not longer than five months ago. Then he won the Louisiana Derby and traveled east into Maryland, where he has turned in two smashing efforts, and some people are beginning to think he can win the Deby. I might think so myself if High Foot hadn't run away from him in a mile race in New Orleans shortly before Michigan Boy captured the Louisiana Derby.

He is an unusually large colt and is a son of On Watch and out of the mare Omnipotent. The latter is by Hilarious. There is a cross of Hanover on Michigan Boy's mother's side of the house, and his daddy, On Watch, might have been the best horse of his time if Man o' War had not been the same age. Outside of Man o' War, about the best 2 year old in the country in 1919 was On Watch. He was a good race horse as a 3 year old and in the fall of 1920 was beaten by a lip by Cleopatra in the Latonia championship stakes at a mile and three-quarters. John P. Grier finished behind On Watch that day. On Watch is a son of Colin.

As a 2 year old Michigan Boy didn't amount to much. He won four races in 16 starts. He showed improvement during the winter at New Orleans and since then has been holding his own with all the 3 year olds he had met except High Foot. But he hasn't hooked up with Gallant Fox, Desert Light, Tannery and some other Derby colts that can really run. Michigan Boy's best races have been run in the mud.

He is owned by J. L. Pontius of Cincinnati and is one of the few "poor men's" colts in the Derby.

DECATUR AND QUINCY TO TEST NIGHT BASEBALL

Decatur, Ill., May 4.—(AP)—Decatur and Quincy of the Three Eye league will try out night baseball under artificial lighting Wednesday night, May 14.

Contracts have been signed by the Decatur Fans' association, which operates the Decatur Three Eye franchise, for installation of equipment which will provide 153,000 watts of light. Thirty-four huge projectors, arranged on six poles outside the playing field, will be installed. The demonstration, which will be a continuation of the experiment started at Des Moines, Ia., of the Western league, last Friday night.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 4.—The awakened New York Yankees entertained 61,000 customers at their stadium here this afternoon by giving the White Sox another trimming, this time by a score of 7 to 4.

To make the day a complete success for the large gathering, Babe Ruth obliged with a homer in the eighth, his third homer of the year, which came with two out and one on at a time when the Sox were showing symptoms of tying or winning the ball game.

Carl Goes Into Coma.

One of the two Sox chances to do something was ruined by Carl Reynolds' second exhibition of unbelievably stupid base running. Carl stood entranced between second and third watching a base hit. You've seen an Indian fakir charming his pet snake with a clarinet solo. Well, Carl impersonated the charmed pet and Byrd played the clarinet solo. In addition to preventing the Sox from tying the score, or better, the ridiculous performance cast a pall over them and made nothing seem worth while. The Ruth homer was an inevitable sequel to the let-down which followed.

The Sox were held to three singles until the seventh inning. In the last three innings they made seven hits, including a triple by Kamm which drove in the first Chicago run of the game. Manager Bush used four pinch hitters in the last three innings. Three of them got hits and the other walked.

Bill Cissell, who hit safely in all the 12 games played by the Sox this season, was stopped today. He was at bat five times and only one of his efforts looked as if it might be a hit. But it was captured by Byrd, one of the nine flies caught by the Yankee left fielder.

61,000 See Game.

The game was played under ideal weather conditions. The sabbath turnout brought the total attendance during the three days the Sox have played here to approximately 100,000—20,000 on Friday, more than 25,000 yesterday, and the 61,000 this afternoon who jammed the boxes, the lower grandstand and the bleachers and overflowed into the mezzanine and upper deck.

The Sox will close the series here tomorrow. Red Faber will oppose Tom Zachary.

Reynolds' first exhibition of sour base running destroyed whatever opportunities the Sox might have had in the first inning. Cissell fouled to Dickey, then Reynolds dropped a

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

With the assistance of a wild pitch, the champion Cubs were able to slap down the Philies again yesterday, and at the same time avoid extra innings of labor. The wild throw occurred in the ninth after a couple of needed hits had been delivered, and a runner scampered home from third to conclude an 8 to 7 affair that at several stages had 40,000 spectators spinning in their seats.

Getting the deciding run at bargain rates wouldn't have been necessary if two elements hadn't conspired against the titleholders. One was their own weak kneed fielding that helped the Phillies to five runs early in the struggle and caused considerable extra work for Pat Malone. The other was the Phils themselves who, after the Cubs had notched a pair of runs that looked sufficient for a win in the eighth, mutinied in the ninth to the extent of two tallies that created another deadlock.

Alexander's Stay Brief.

During the course of the Phillies' tying uprising in the ninth their hurler was removed for a pinch hitter. This brought old Pete Alexander into the picture, but his former mates were careful to arrange things so that his workout would be brief.

Bell was the first man to face him. He drove a ball deep into right, and it had the earmarks of a homer, but Klein leaped up in front of the screen top and gathered the drive into his gloved hand. The champs promptly started another bid for the decision. Hartnett, who had twice failed in pinches, redeemed himself with a single to center. Malone coöperated with a looping hit to the same spot, and before Sigman could decide about picking it up Gabby was on third. Alexander walked out as nonchalantly as he had walked in.

The Phillies summoned Lou Koupal from the bull pen and McCarthy completed his plans for a run by letting the fleet footed Dan Taylor take Hartnett's place at third. Koupal started to pitch to English and threw one that McCurdy stopped only by a dive to his right. Then Koupal heaved one that forced McCurdy to dive to the opposite side, but this one escaped and Taylor raced in from third with the run that ended the game.

Cubs Get Four in First.

The champs started their day's work as if they intended to run themselves breathless. They hopped Sweetland for four runs in the first inning. Then they relented and gave back three of these by their loose fielding in the third. More slack in the defense provided the visitors with two more in the fifth, but the Cubs immediately tied it at 5 and 5, driving Sweetland from the game. After this the meeting progressed quietly until the eighth, when the north siders came into possession of two runs that would have won for them if the Phils hadn't mutinied in the ninth.

CUBS SCORE ON WILD PITCH, WIN IN NINTH, 8 TO 7

Phils, Errors Keep Malone in Trouble.

McCarthy thinks he'll start Bob Osborn today, with Blake a second choice. It will be Willoughby for the Phils.

The four run obstacle built up against Sweetland in the first inning took form when Grimm walked with one out. Hornsby shoved a hit between short and third.

Wilson ran the count to 2 and 3 and then hit a two bagger to the left field corner, Grimm and Hornsby scoring. A pass put Cuyler on first base. Stephenson then knocked a hopper at Thevenow, who let it escape, Wilson going home and Cuyler to third. Kiki scored the fourth run of the inning while Stephenson was being forced by Bell.

Malone's Support Fails.

Just about all the bad luck that could be crowded into one inning forced Malone to yield three runs in the Phils' third. The inning began with English fumbling on McCurdy. Sweetland walked. Thompson grounded to English and a force play should have resulted, but Hornsby dropped the throw. This jammed the bases. O'Doul looped a single to short center, McCurdy scoring. Then Klein singled to right, counting Sweetland and Thompson, but O'Doul was nailed going to third. The next two fellows did nothing.

Phils Take Lead.

Hits and bits of weak defensive work made it possible for the Phils to score two in the fifth for a 5 to 4 lead. O'Doul opened the inning with a hit to left. Klein lined safely to right. Whitney bunted to move his two mates to thir dand second. Malone then uncorked a wild pitch, letting O'Doul score and sending Klein to third. Hurst walked and Sigman popped to Hartnett. Stephenson sneaked in from left field with the idea of catching Klein off third, but Hartnett pegged wild and Klein scored. Hurst was nailed trying to reach third on the blunder.

Two were out in the Cubs' fifth before they began to maneuver themselves into a tying run. Grimm was tagged by McCurdy on a tap in front of the pan and Hornsby lined to Klein. Then Wilson walked and Cuyler singled to center. Stephenson shot a safety to left, Wilson scoring and Cuyler racing to third. This was where Sweetland went away in favor of Collins.

Double Play Halts Phils.

The tie might have been dissolved in the Phils' sixth if a double play hadn't been manufactured. With one out, McCurdy doubled to the corner in left and went to third on a single to right by Collins. Instead of coming in for a possible play at the plate, the infield laid back for a twin killing, and got it on Thompson's tap to English. Woody snapped the ball to Hornsby at second and the Rajah relayed it to Grimm.

The seventh brought another full house for the Cubs and also brought Hartnett up for the second time in such a pinch. He didn't respond suitably. The bags began to clog up on a pass to Wilson after Hornsby had been eliminated. Cuyler was thrown out, but Stephenson survived on a boot by Thevenow. Wilson strolled to third on the error. Stevie stole second without drawing a throw. Bell walked. This brought up Gabby and he grounded to Thompson for a force out at second.

The two Cub runs in the eighth began to accumulate when Malone led off by walking. English bunted and Collins, after fumbling the ball long enough to lose the runner, pegged it into right field. The two errors let Malone reach third. He scored and English moved down to second on Grimm's fly to Klein. Hornsby then singled to right to drive English across the plate.

The Phils started the ninth as if they intended to surrender without a protest. Then they suddenly uncorked the salvo that gave them two runs and restored the deadlock. After two were down, Thompson drew free transportation. O'Doul cracked a single to right. Klein did the same, scoring Thompson and planting O'Doul on third. Another hit rattled off Whitney's bat, and O'Doul hiked home with the tying tally. Then Hurst walked, filling the corners. The inning ended with Sigman grounding to English.

EIGHTH OUTDOOR SHOW OPENS AT COLISEUM TODAY

The eighth annual national outdoor life exposition will open today in the Coliseum with attractions from a hundred north woods vacation spots grouped under one roof. The show will continue each day this week from 11 a. m. until 10 p. m.

Everything for the outdoor vacationer, from maps and charters for planning trips and camping outfits, hunting and fishing equipment, to the wild animals, fish, and birds of the north woods will be on display. Ten carloads of pine, balsam, and birch trees have been imported from Wisconsin and Michigan to furnish an authentic setting for the show.

Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and North Dakota will have state exhibits in the show. Canada will be represented by displays from the land of the Nipigen and Rainy lake district. An Ojibway Indian village, where Indians will dance in full regalia, has been set up. Log rolling contests in a pool in the north annex will provide action for the spectators.

From the Black hills will come gold mining displays and reproductions of natural wonders that draw more than half a million visitors a year to that district. All booths on the floor of the Coliseum will be in rustic style, constructed from logs and boughs imported for the occasion. Porcupines, six weeks old bear cubs, wildcats, coyotes, badgers, timber wolves, and beaver are among the animals on exhibition. Wild ducks, mallards, owls, and an eagle are bird exhibits.

stick, a mashie, with a warped shaft. Max had five trunks and these had been thoroughly mauled without the discovery of any pickles or cacti and the inspectors now began to examine the clubs in his two golf bags, a club at a time.

Inspectors Carry On.

One bag and set had been presented to him in the United States last year by a man who stood on the pier ready to make affidavit to this effect and produced the canceled check. Another he had purchased himself in this country and he was willing to make bond as to this until he could obtain his receipt from the sporting goods company. An inspector looked up the law, which seemed to have been written before the game of golf was invented, and was unable to find any provision for the exemption of golf sticks, regardless of where they might have been purchased.

However, the absence of any specific schedule covering golf sticks for personal use made and bought in America, it was decided to waive temporarily and Uncle Will was about to call for porters when one of the inspectors, examining the trademarks on the individual blades, discovered the one with the warped shaft, which had been made in Germany. Things looked bad for Herr Schmeling until Uncle Will McCarney threw himself upon the mercy of the customs service and was allowed to remove the baggage upon payment of a customs bill of $47.

There were about two thousand Germans on and about the pier to cheer Max when he came ashore at 10 o'clock and he was thoroughly mobbed going to his car, which put him down at the Hotel Commodore.

Some Novel Poses.

There the photographers got him first and shot him in several novel and interesting poses, including one shot seated at the phone holding the hook down with one finger and another peering studiously at a sheet of blank paper. "The more pictures you make the more money I make," said he. An observation which stirred comparative reminiscences of Mr. Tunney.

He also was willing to be photographed before he won the championship and there were times when a photographer couldn't point a lens at a fire in Hoboken without finding Mr. Tunney on the prints. But prize fighters change and in time come to refer to the press as a vulgar lot.

"When I came here in 1928 as champion of Europe," said Max, "there were about three hundred people on the dock, waving little German flags. My heart went bump bump, but when I came off the boat they were looking at some singer. It was different today." "Yes," Uncle Will said. "A couple of years make a lot of difference. One tap on the lug can make a lot of difference, too."

Texas leaguer into right center. With the play right before his eyes Carl attempted to go to second, though he didn't have a chance. Lazzeri picked up the ball and tossed it to Koenig for an easy putout. Clancy grounded to Wells.

The Yanks threatened in the first inning, but the inning ended with a base runner on third. After Cissell had thrown out Combs, Koenig doubled to left and went to third while Cissell was throwing out Ruth. Gehrig was called out on strikes.

Autry's Single Wasted.

It was three up and three down for both nines in the second inning and in the first of the third the Sox wasted a single by Autry, which paved the way for a rather sad spectacle in the last of the third.

Dickey started it with a single to center. Wells dumped a sacrifice in front of the plate, and for some reason not known to baseball science, Autry tried to make the play at second, although Dickey already had arrived. He threw the ball to center field, but Reynolds backed up the effort and Dickey was held on second. Combs singled to right, scoring Dickey and putting Wells on third. Koenig forced Combs, Cissell to Smith. Wells scoring. Ruth singled to right, Koenig stopping at second. Cissell had a double play in front of him when Gehrig sent a fast grounder his way, but Bill booted the ball, Koenig scoring and Ruth stopping at second. Lazzeri walked, filling the bases, but Byrd fouled to Autry and Chapman popped to Clancy.

The Sox got two men on base for the first time in the fourth. After Reynolds had flied to Byrd and Clancy had grounded out to Gehrig, Jolley walked and went to second on Harris' single to left. The session ended when Kamm popped to Lazzeri.

Kamm Starts Raly.

In the seventh inning the Sox made their first bid to get back in the ball game. Clancy rolled to Gehrig, but Harris reached second when his grounder went between Koenig's heels. Kamm tripled to center, scoring Harris, and came in himself when Smith singled to center. Autry ended the rally by tapping into a double play, Koenig to Lazarri to Gehrig.

In their end of the seventh the Yanks staged another uprising. Combs led off with a single to right and moved to second on Koenig's sacrifice bunt. Ruth was given an intentional pass then Gehrig doubled to left, Combs scoring and Ruth stopping at third. Lazzeri also was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. The intentional pass business got Tommy into a bad habit for he unintentionally passed Byrd, forcing in Ruth. Chapman popped to Kamm and Dickey forced Byrd, Cissell to Smith.

The Sox scored two runs in the eighth but Reynolds' amazing bit of unskilled base running made the rally a soggy event. Hunnefield batted for Thomas and walked. Cissell forced Hunnefield, then went to third on Reynolds' single to center. Moore batted for Clancy and singled to short left, Cissell scored but Reynolds, fascinated by the hit, wandered out between second and third and watched Byrd pick up the ball. Byrd threw to Chapman and Reynolds was run down, Chapman to Lazzeri to Chapman, Moore reaching second. Jolley singled to right, scoring Moore. Pipgras relieved Wells. Harris popped to Lazzeri.

Babe Gets Homer.

The Babe got his homer after two were out in the eighth. Smith threw out Pipgras and Combs fouled to Kamm but Koenig singled to center. Ruth then smacked one high into the right field stand.

The Sox got two hits in the ninth, but they didn't get a man past second. After Kamm had flied to Ruth, Shires batted for Smith and singled and Watwood batted for Autry and singled. Hunnefield then flied to Byrd and Cissell rolled to Gehrig.

BRUDER RETURNS TO FORM IN N. U. SPRING DRILL

Any doubt as to whether Henry Bruder, captain elect of Northwestern university's football team, would be able to show the form he had before his leg was broken last fall was dispelled Saturday afternoon when the Wildcat ace participated in his first scrimmage of the spring practice. The workout wound up spring drill at Northwestern.

Bruder ran, kicked and passed with all his old cleverness. Coach Dick Hanley had kept his star half back out of actual scrimmage work all spring, permitting him to take part only in the signal drills.

Migrant Birds Filtering Into City in Flocks

BY BOB BECKER.

Towering skyscrapers in Chicago's loop and densely populated residential sections in this city are barriers to the countless thousands of birds now migrating northward, but each spring and fall finds most of the feathered migrants successful in escaping the dangers of the big city.

Occasionally a migrant will be baffled like the lost bird which was caught in a big loop skyscraper last week. In other years we have known of birds fluttering against windows high in the loop or being found on window ledges where they rested and then flew on. Sometimes a migrating bird has been killed by flying against a window during a storm or fog which, much like those luckless feathered flyers which dash against lighthouses and tall monuments. Each spring and fall hundreds of birds die in this manner.

Right now there are, waves of migrating birds not only passing over and around Chicago but actually filtering through the city. That the filtering through process is just that has been proven by Dr. Cleveland Test, who maintains a bird banding station at 4620 Greenwood avenue, a residential community that has little if any open space in it. This bird banding station is unique because it is the only one in the United States that is located in the heart of a great city.

JOE STRIPP'S BAT LEADS REDS TO WIN OVER GIANTS

Cincinnati Pounds Benton for 8-4 Victory.

Cincinnati, O., May 4. — (AP) — Joe Stripp drove in six runs with a triple, double, and two singles in four times at bat here today and the Reds defeated the New York Giants 8 to 4, making it two out of three in the series. Jakie May pitched the route for the Reds and held the Giants safely throughout. He also tripled to start the fifth inning, in which the Reds scored five times and drove Larry Benton, Giants' starting pitcher, from the mound.

ROBINS WHIP CARDS.

St. Louis, May 4.—[Special.]—Brooklyn won both games of today's doubleheader from the Cardinals, taking the first 2 to 1, and the second 11 to 10 in thirteen innings. Ray Phelps shaded Bill Hallahan in the opener, although each allowed seven hits. The Cards tied the score with four runs in the ninth inning of the nightcap, then counted twice in the thirteenth after the Robins registered three runs in their thirteenth.

The Cards employed twenty-two men in the second game. Thirteen players worked for the Brooklyns. Each team had fourteen hits, including homers by Hendrick, Douthit and Hafey.

Golf Teacher Tells Use of Hand in Swing

BY HARLAND ROHM.

The use of the right hand in getting distance and direction in a golf shot was the outstanding bit of information Tom Milne received from Frank Williams of Skokie in his second golf lesson in THE TRIBUNE'S novice golf contest. But it was only a part of the business of making young Tom swing a club in the manner of champions.

Tom used only one club, a brassie, with the loft on the face increased a bit, for Williams was working chiefly to develop the lad's swing. Williams again fitted the club into the fingers of his hand, with the right hand turned enough so that the V between the thumb and forefinger of his right hand pointed to his right shoulder.

Throw the Clubhead.

"Don't push the clubhead at the ball, throw it," Williams told the boy. "Start the down swing by a little push of the left thumb, which should be under the shaft at the top of the back swing.

"Halfway down bring in the right hand and whip the clubhead through the ball, turning the right hand over as the club hits the ball. The right hand should turn over just as you turn a key in a door. It's that roll that brings power into the shot and keeps it on line. Keep your hands back of the clubhead and remember the hands must work together."

Stopping often to demonstrate points on how to hit the ball, Williams continued the lesson by having Milne swing the club and hit shots, correcting mistakes.

"Keep more weight on the balls of your feet," he said, "when your weight goes back on your heels you have a tendency to fall backward at the top of the swing and lose your balance. Balance is essential."

Tom had a spell of topping and Williams had him swing without a ball, forcing the clubhead to dig up turf on every shot.

"The ball's on the ground and you've got to brush the ground to hit it," he said. Taking the club Williams whacked the earth with it in a demonstration of its sturdiness and said, "That didn't hurt it, so it won't hurt it if you hit the turf in coming down."

Straightening Tops Ball.

"Bring your left arm close under your chin on the backswing," was another bit.

"Let your left shoulder dip in toward the ball a little on the upswing. Don't straighten up on the downswing; the club isn't any longer and your arms won't grow, so you'll top it," he continued. "Loosen up your knees and let your weight go over on the left foot as you swing through. Swing the club out toward the green; that's where you want the ball to go. You hit a golf ball by using your hands, not your shoulders. Keep your feet flat on the ground now. You can begin lifting the heels at each end of the swing later on, but keep most of the weight on the balls of the feet."

Mills Defeat Giant Nine in Semi-Pro Tilt

Lefty Sullivan's curves proved too baffling for the Chicago Giants yesterday and the Mills, last year's pennant winners, opened their Chicago semipro league season with a 6 to 3 victory at Mills stadium. Sullivan allowed only two hits in the five innings that he pitched and struck out ten.

CUBANS DIVIDE WITH AMERICAN GIANTS, 4-0, 13-1

The Cuban Stars of Havana and the American Giants split even in a double header in the Negro National league, the Islanders winning the first game, 4 to 0, and dropping the second tilt of seven innings, 13 to 1. Triant baffled the Giants in the opener but the colored champs pounded three Cuban hurlers hard in the second.

Athletics Beat Tigers, 7-1; Haas' Triple Starts Rally

Detroit, Mich., May 4.—(AP)—Mule Haas broke up a pitchers' duel between George Uhle and Bill Shores today with a seventh inning triple that scored three runs and started a rally which gave the Athletics their fourth straight victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The three runs broke a 1 to 1 tie which had existed since the fourth inning. The Tigers failed to score again, but the champions made runs in both the remaining innings, winning the game by a score of 7 to 1.

THOROUGHBRED BREEDER TELLS COSTS OF FARM

BY FRENCH LANE.

How much does it cost to purchase and equip a farm for the production of thoroughbred horses?

That's a question heard frequently at the race tracks. It is difficult to answer accurately, but the investment that a Chicagoan is making in such a place reveals interesting figures.

He has started with a 240 acre tract about an hour's ride from Chicago. After paying for the land and the improvements, stocking it with ten brood mares and standing the cost of the preparations leading up to the first crop of young thoroughbreds, he expects to have made an investment of $160,000.

Erects New Buildings.

In making his budget of $160,000 he provided for new buildings from his own residence to the woodshed, for new barns, fences, paddocks, and most of the other items that go to make up a modern farm.

Expenditures for getting into what he terms the greatest sporting venture obtainable for $160,000 included the following items:

240 acres of land at $200 an acre	$48,000
10 brood mares	50,000
Stud fees for first year	20,000
Fencing 240 acres	19,000
Cost of new barn	10,000
Cost of new home	7,500
Cost of farm manager's home	5,000
Paddocks	1,000
Total	160,000

He admits now that he overlooked a few minor items such as new roads, feed, a garage and possibly some smaller buildings for his pigs and cows. But he takes a glance over the rich stakes offered by American racing associations and declares it is imperative that good horses be bred to win them. So the good roads, the sheds and the garage will have to come later to be listed under upkeep. And there's quite an item of insurance, one of salaries to farm help and many others that have to be listed in the upkeep column.

Forty Acres for Nursery.

He will use only about 40 acres of his tract for his thoroughbred nursery. He will farm the other 200 acres and should produce enough grain and hay to pay the board bill of his horses.

While he has ten brood mares on his place, the averages show only about six of them will produce colts. But it will be two years before this first crop will be ready to go to the yearling sales. It will be longer if he waits to race them himself.

Providing he gets six colts or fillies each year and strings along with the best blood lines from the most famous producing families, he should own one real good colt once in two years. But even if they are only a little better than the average and are good lookers, his six yearlings at Saratoga should bring more than $30,000. If he should send down an exceptionally good looking one, and if there isn't a stock market crash that season to thin bank rolls, he might get $50,000 or $60,000 for the one little fellow.

end to CORNS between toes

Those terribly mean corns between the toes that seem to defy all treatment—they're as easily removable as any other with Freezone! A few drops of Freezone instantly put the corn to sleep. Pain is deadened at once, and soon the corn becomes so loose that you can actually lift it right out with your fingers. Hard corns or soft corns—all yield to Freezone. "ONE STEP CLOSER AND I JUMP!" CRIED the LAST of the D'UBERVILLES

"B-but Tess, I'm asking you to be my wife," stammered Sir Sidney Sissingham.

"What?" cried the fiery fraulein, "you'd call me 'wife' in rasping tones like those? Never! Before you dare presume, sir, learn what wonders, upon frayed vocal cords, are worked by honey-smooth, queen-leaf tobacco. Relieve my tortured ears and your tortured throat with OLD GOLDS. Mellow your speaking voice, calm that cackling and soothe that squawk. OLD GOLD yourself, Sir Sidney. There's not a bark in a billion."

GOVERNMENT IS BIGGEST HOLDER OF CASH GRAIN

Takes 15,000,000 Bu. of Wheat During Week.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Government control of the wheat market was increased last week by its taking around 15,000,000 bu of cash wheat delivered on May contracts in the different markets. This puts it in the position of being the holder of the largest quantity of cash grain, that the trade has known in recent years.

During the grain administration's existence during the war period, it had probably more grain on hand than the farm board's subsidiary, the Grain Stabilization corporation. Its holdings are estimated at close to 50 per cent of the country's visible supply of 136,000,000 bu. The grain is being distributed through sales to millers and exporters as fast as possible, at prices lower than individual exporters are able to meet.

It is claimed by local cash handlers that export sales of hard winters have been made by the government at around 9@10c under Chicago May at the seaboard. This is creating a lot of gossip but apparently it does not disturb officials of the Grain Stabilization corporation who seemingly are endeavoring to cause a disappearance of the wheat into various consumptive channels.

May Wheat Absorbed.

Government buying was evident on breaks in all the speculative markets but it was said no effort was made to advance prices. Shorts, however, in the May and the carriers were nervous and frequently bid up prices which brought out heavy realizing sales by longs and the buying in of hedges by cash handlers who for a day or two were enabled to get in their May and sell July at 2½@3c premium for the latter. It is understood that liberal acceptances of cash wheat in exchange for the May was made by the Stabilization Corporation in practically all leading markets.

The wheat market's action is not in accord with the character of the news and sentiment has become more bearish as values have declined. Lowest levels of the season were made for May bringing the price down to $1.00⅜ on Saturday with a close of 1.00¼@1.00¾ for the week as compared with $1.03@1.02⅞ a week ago. July finished at $1.02⅛@1.02¼, September $1.05@1.05¼, and December $1.10@1.10⅛, showing losses of 2¼@3c for the week.

Liverpool Values.

Liverpool values were heavily depressed by liquidating sales and liberal deliveries. Trade sentiment is so bearish that general predictions are for a drop below the $1 level. On May 31 last year, May wheat sold at 93¼c at Chicago owing to heavy liquidation. May delivery on the present crop advanced to $1.64¼ in July 1929, but the highest in the present year was $1.38. The break from the latter level to the present time being 37½c.

Volume of trading for the week increased about 18,000,000 bu, being almost 298,000,000 bu compared with 239,000,000 bu last year. Open interest has been cut down from 155,065,000 bu a week ago to 132,638,000 bu at the close of the past week. In May the open interest was reduced from 66,020,000 bu to 22,581,000 bu during the week, large deliveries being an important factor. Prices follow:

Disappointing Market in Corn.

Action of the corn market has been unsatisfactory to interests on both sides. It was influenced largely by the course of wheat values and by the liberal receipts on one hand and only a fair cash demand on the other. Part of the receipts were understood to have come from other terminal markets to industries. Sales of futures for the week were 71,158,000 bu, compared with 54,127,000 bu the previous week, and 102,951,000 bu last year. Open interest was little changed, being 48,796,000 bu at the close.

THE UNITED CORPORATION

7 West Tenth Street, Wilmington, Del.

May 1, 1930.

To the Holders of Common Stock of The United Gas Improvement Company:

The United Corporation has acquired an additional 500,000 shares of the Common Stock of The United Gas Improvement Company, and it has issued therefor 500,000 shares of its Common Stock on a share for share basis.

Holders of an additional 200,000 shares of the Common Stock of The United Gas Improvement Company have expressed the desire to exchange their shares of Common Stock on the same basis for shares of Common Stock of The United Corporation, and The United Corporation is proceeding to make this exchange.

If any other holders of Common Stock of The United Gas Improvement Company should desire to exchange their stock on the same basis, The United Corporation will, for the period from this date until three o'clock P. M. standard time on May 12, 1930, receive tenders for the exchange of shares of the Common Stock of The United Gas Improvement Company for shares of the Common Stock of The United Corporation on the basis of one share of the Common Stock of The United Gas Improvement Company for one share of the Common Stock of The United Corporation and subject to the following conditions—

1. Any one who desires to avail of this offer should make tender of his Common Stock of The United Gas Improvement Company by depositing his shares thereof with J. P. Morgan & Co., 23 Wall Street, New York, N. Y., or Drexel & Co., 15th and Walnut Streets, Philadelphia, Pa., on or after May 1, 1930. On the acceptance of any tender there will be delivered certificates of the Common Stock of The United Corporation or pending approval of application to list such shares on the New York Stock Exchange, interim receipts of J. P. Morgan & Co. or Drexel & Co. entitling the registered holder to receive certificates of the Common Stock of The United Corporation, called for by the exchange basis as above provided, when listed and upon authority to issue. Application to list will be made immediately after May 12, 1930.

2. Each share of the Common Stock of The United Gas Improvement Company so deposited shall be duly endorsed and the signature thereon shall be appropriately guaranteed by a New York or Philadelphia bank or trust company or by a firm having membership on the New York Stock Exchange or the Philadelphia Stock Exchange, and each such share shall be accompanied by a duly signed transmittal blank addressed to J. P. Morgan & Co. or Drexel & Co. authorizing the exchange in this notice provided. Such transmittal blanks will be supplied to any depositor by J. P. Morgan & Co. or Drexel & Co.

3. It is understood that any tender for exchange may be accepted in whole or in part or rejected in whole or in part.

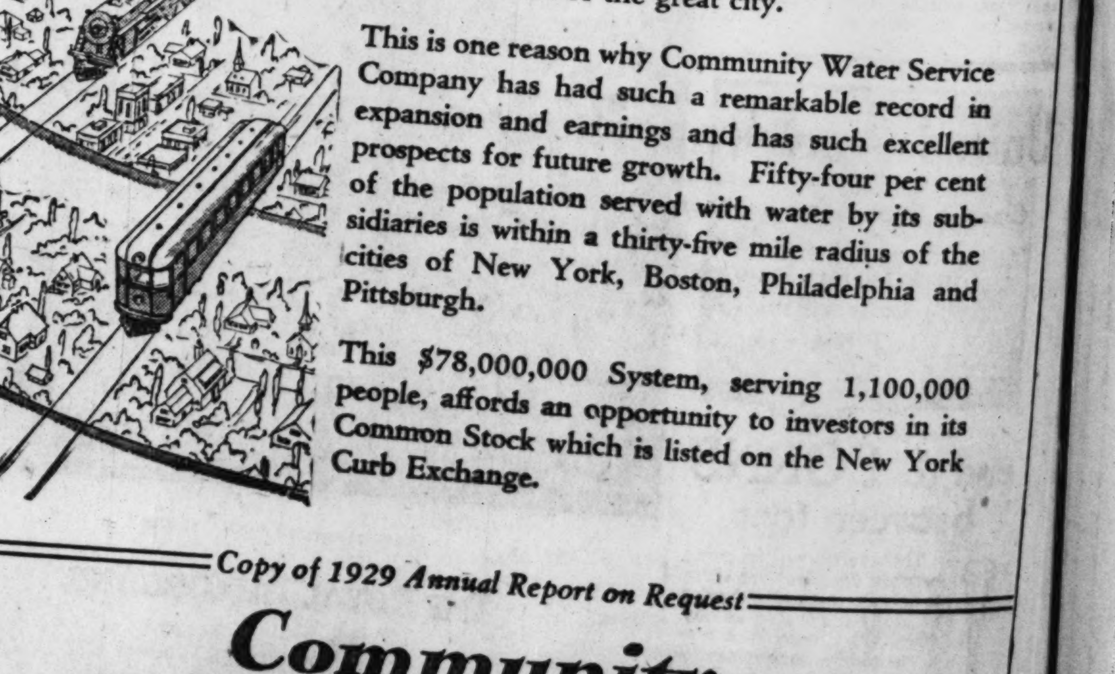
The SUBURB has Come of AGE!



FOR decades the trend of population was mainly to the large city proper. Of necessity the city pushed outward and spread. And rapid transportation, the motor car, and comparable public utility facilities combined to produce a rate of growth for the suburbs even greater proportionately than that of the great city.

This is one reason why Community Water Service Company has had such a remarkable record in expansion and earnings and has such excellent prospects for future growth. Fifty-four per cent of the population served with water by its subsidiaries is within a thirty-five mile radius of the cities of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

This $78,000,000 System, serving 1,100,000 people, affords an opportunity to investors in its Common Stock which is listed on the New York Curb Exchange.

ATY REPORTS $8,526,240 NET INCOME FOR '29

St. Louis, May 4.—(AP)—The Mis- ri-Kansas-Texas railroad today re- ted a net income after all charges $8,526,240 for 1929. In an accom- ying statement President Colum- Haile said the earnings were great- than in any other year in the seven r period since the end of the Katy eivership. Earnings showed an in- se of $1,029,974 over 1928.

The Katy's freight traffic volume in 29 was reported the heaviest in any r since the end of the receivership. Gross operating revenues were given $56,224,439, and net railway operat- income as $12,566,092, an increase $361,620 over 1928. Additions and rovements during the year involv- capital charges amounted to $3,- 160.

Says Rails Will Lose by Boosting Switching Rates

BY SCRUTATOR.

The tendency of metropolitan Chicago to spread itself farther out, toward the edges of the switching district, will, in the opinion of some well informed observers, be seriously hampered if the interstate commerce commission sees fit to make increases in switching rates as recommended by its examiners.

Cheap transportation within the district has been the powerful factor in this spreading. Under present rates some companies have undoubtedly found it profitable to do their expanding by locating separate plants at considerable distances from their original locations rather than to buy adjoining real estate at high prices, even where this is possible. A great deal of warehousing is done in buildings far from manufacturing plants.

Give Limited Service.

Railroads handling the switching business give a limited service. They spot cars on sidings which are built and maintained by industrial concerns, switch them out when they are loaded, and place them on other sidings in the district to be unloaded. The competitor of this service is the motor truck.

As the switching rates of $15 or $18 a car are for minimum shipments of 60,000 pounds, and as the new rates if adopted will run from $18 to $24 minimum, depending on the number of lines involved in the haul, it is apparent that trucking radius will be increased. It is probable that the superior mobility of the truck and the absence of the necessity to load as much as thirty tons at a single operation will in most instances result in the favoring of truck transportation where costs for it are about the same as a switching charge.

A great many industries manufacturing finished goods have been located in the district because they have found it profitable to be in close touch with plants making or preparing their raw materials. The low switching rate has been important in inducing many of them to locate here. Any increase in this rate, and it ranges from 20 to 25 per cent, or even more, in the proposed new scale, will be a lessening of this inducement.

Sees Promotional Value.

It has never, seemingly, occurred to the carriers who sought the higher rates, nor to the commission, that shipment within the switching district is usually a prelude to a road haul shipment, and that it has a promotional value. Carriers, in arguing their cases, seem to have been sold on the idea that traffic exists and will continue to exist in the same volume when a rate is raised.

Obviously this is not true. A raise in the switching rate will mean a strengthening of the truckers' position, a lengthening of their radius. It will encourage manufacturers to keep their warehouses adjacent to their plants. It is almost certain to cut down some of the switching volume. There seems something strange about the railroads' constantly seeking bigger freight charges in an era that has been marked by falling prices of everything else for nearly ten years, and for the interstate commerce commission to back them up in the idea that the way to get richer is to charge more and do less business.

SAYS SHIPSTEAD BILL IS "INVALID, REVOLUTIONARY"

Washington, D. C., May 4.—(AP)—The Shipstead anti-trust injunction bill was attacked as "clearly invalid as a matter of law and revolutionary in its social aspects" in a brief filed by James A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, with the senate judiciary committee.

If the bill is enacted and held valid, Emery contended, "it would deprive the federal courts of authority to issue injunctions for the protection of property rights against irreparable injury whenever the case in any way arose out of a labor controversy, unless actual fraud or violence could be shown, in which case a limited and wholly inadequate protection might be afforded."

"No injunctions," Emery said, "could be issued under any circumstances against nine sets of acts, including strikes and the support of strikes, even when accompanied by threats of violence.

"The so-called 'yellow dog' contract would be denied legal or equitable protection in all cases notwithstanding such contracts, when supported by consideration, have been held valid by many state courts.

QUESTIONNAIRE ON INVESTMENT TRUSTS MAILED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 4. — In order to study and compare the business operations of investment trust companies, comprehensive questionnaires listing nineteen questions will be mailed to 250 New York City firms tomorrow by Assistant Attorney General Watson Washburn, in charge of the state bureau of securities. Mr. Washburn is instituting the survey, he said, because of numerous complaints received against certain investment trusts.

The questionnaire calls for information concerning the character and condition of the corporation's portfolio, the manner in which investments are acquired, and other data. Each questionnaire is to be accompanied by a summons directing the recipient to file his anwser with Attorney General Hamilton Ward at the bureau's offices within a specified time. Mr. Washburn explains that the attorney general's office is empowered to send out questionnaires by authorization of the state laws of 1921.

TOY FAIR IS STIMULUS TO BUYING IN CHICAGO WHOLESALE DISTRICT

Interest in Chicago's central wholesale market was focused last week on two attractions, the opening of the gigantic Merchandise Mart and the activity of the toy fair being held in three loop hotels.

Buyers from many parts of the country attending the toy fair, which continues all this week, have been making their Christmas season purchases in a prosperous way, according to Walter E. Fleishaker, president of the Chicago Toy Fair association. The business transacted last week compares well with their previous toy exhibitions, he said. Toys and kindred gift lines figured likewise in the business of Chicago wholesale houses.

Having moved over the week-end, Marshall Field & Co. [wholesale] will begin business today in their spacious quarters in the Merchandise Mart. About fifty firms moved into the new building last week, according to C. A. Welles, general manager, who reports that this "world's largest building" is now 82 per cent rented.

"We have 2,000 workmen doing their best to get the building in finished shape for general occupancy, which should be about May 15. The large restaurant probably will not be ready before the middle of June," said Mr. Welles.

Engineers' Public Service Has Gross of $51,464,589

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 4.—Consolidated gross earnings of $51,464,589 are reported for the twelve months ended March 31, 1930, by the Engineers Public Service company. This was an increase of $13,831,754 over the corresponding period last year, while net operating revenue was $21,945,226, a gain of $6,209,828, or 39 per cent. The previous year's figures included Puget Sound Power and Light company earnings for four months only.

Standard Gas & Electric Earnings Are 5.66% Higher

New York, May 4.—(AP)—Net earnings of the Standard Gas and Electric company and all subsidiary and affiliated companies for the twelve months ended Feb. 28 was $74,184,473, compared with $70,206,540 for the year ended Feb. 28, 1929, John J. O'Brien, president, announced today.

WALL ST. SEES PARADOX; FINDS ITS INFERENCES

Looks Backward for Causes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 3.—The decline in last week's stock market, on the news of the cut in home and foreign bank rates to the low level of many years—the lowest since 1924 at New York, since 1923 at London, and since a date sixteen years before the war at Paris—caused great and not unnatural perplexity.

Some Wall street watchers were inclined to remark that if last week's reduction of the New York bank rate to 3 per cent, traditionally a cheerful

BOND TRADER

One of our clients, an investment bond broker specializing in real estate bonds, has an opening for a bond trader. To qualify for this position, which is a very desirable one, the applicant must have a clean record and experience. He must be the kind of man who wants to confine his activities to a straight trading business—no long and short account.

The house has built up a very substantial bond business, in addition to being a house of issue.

Applications may be made through the undersigned.

Dated May 1st, 1930 Due May 1st, 1945

Principal and semi-annual interest (May 1st and November 1st) payable at the office of the Trustee, Philadelphia, or at the principal office of City Bank Farmer. Trust Company, New York, or at the office of Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company, Chicago. Coupon debentures in denominations of $1,000 and $500 Registerable as to principal. Redeemable as a whole or in part, upon thirty days' published notice, to and including November 1st, 1935, at 105 and accrued interest, the redemption premium decreasing one-half per cent during each year thereafter. Interest payable without deduction for that portion of any Federal Income Tax not in excess of two per cent. Refund of certain California, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Washington taxes, upon timely and proper application as provided in the First Supplemental Trust Agreement.

The Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities, Philadelphia, Trustee.

Subject to the terms of the First Supplemental Trust Agreement, each $1,000 Debenture of this issue is convertible at the option of the holder thereof, at any time after May 1st, 1931 and prior to maturity or earlier redemption, into 80 shares of common stock of Appalachian Gas Corporation. Each $500 Debenture is similarly convertible into 40 shares of common stock.

The following information has been furnished by the Corporation:

Business: Appalachian Gas Corporation, through subsidiaries in the states of Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, supplies natural gas under long term contracts to public utility and industrial companies including United Fuel Gas Company (subsidiary of Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation), Hope Natural Gas Company (subsidiary of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey), Owens-Illinois Glass Company and The Libbey-Owens Glass Company. Through a subsidiary in Texas, the Corporation will supply natural gas under long term contract to Central Power & Light Company (controlled by Middle West Utilities Company).

Upon completion of this financing, Appalachian Gas Corporation will own a substantial interest in the common stock of Memphis Natural Gas Company which supplies under long term contract the entire gas requirements of the Memphis Power & Light Company, distributing gas for domestic and industrial consumption in and about the City of Memphis, Tennessee. It also furnishes gas under long term contracts to Mississippi Power & Light Company, Arkansas Power & Light Company and Louisiana Power & Light Company, which companies, including Memphis Power & Light Company, are under the supervision of Electric Bond and Share Company. The Appalachian Gas Corporation, through subsidiaries, also serves other industrial and domestic consumers.

Properties: The properties owned or controlled by the companies in the Appalachian Gas Corporation group located in the states of Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, consist of 372 gas wells, 313 miles of pipe lines including gathering lines, and the gas rights in more than 200,000 acres of land on over 160,000 acres of which the oil rights are also owned or controlled. The gas reserves of less than 50 per cent of the above acreage have been reported to be approximately 125,000,000,000 cubic feet. The properties in the state of Texas, controlled through Texas Gas Utilities Company, include certain gas rights in approximately 215,000 acres of land and, upon completion of the construction program now in progress, will also include more than 200 miles of pipe lines, including distribution lines.

Memphis Natural Gas Company owns approximately 210 miles of 18-inch pipe line, with a daily rate transportation capacity of 60,000,000 cubic feet, two modern compressor stations and other facilities and equipment necessary for the successful operation of its properties.

Earnings: Combined earnings of the companies in the Appalachian Gas Corporation group for the first year of full operation, as estimated by independent engineers, are as follows:

Gross Revenues	$5,704,549
Net Earnings accruing to securities owned by Appalachian Gas Corporation, depreciation and depletion, amortization charges and Federal Income Taxes of the respective companies	$1,864,143
Annual Interest Requirements of Convertible Six Per Cent Debentures	$ 569,130

After giving effect to the retirement of Memphis Natural Gas Company Bonds ($1,000,000 Texas Gas Utilities Company Notes held by Appalachian Gas Corporation are not included in above figures), the outstanding funded indebtedness of the companies in the Appalachian Gas Corporation group, exclusive of $9,485,500 Debentures of the Corporation presently to be outstanding, amounts to $11,469,500 as of January 1st, 1930.

There are outstanding certain purchase warrants and conversion privileges calling for the issuance of additional stock of certain of the respective companies; stock reserved for this purpose is not considered as outstanding stock in calculating the percentages set forth herein.

The above estimates do not include any earnings which may be derived from the future development of more than 100,000 acres in Kentucky and Ohio, which acreage has been referred to heretofore.

Purpose of Issue: These additional debentures are issued to provide funds available for the acquisition of additional properties and/or securities and for other corporate purposes.

Management: Union Management and Engineering Corporation supervises under the direction of the respective Boards of Directors the operations of Ohio Valley Gas Corporation, Ohio Kentucky Gas Company, Wayne United Gas Company, Ohio Southern Gas Company, Texas Gas Utilities Company, Memphis Natural Gas Company, and Allegheny Gas Corporation.

Gas reserves and estimated earnings have been reported upon by either Ralph E. Davis, Engineer, or Messrs. Brokaw, Dixon, Garner & McKee, Geologists and Engineers. Legal matters are under the supervision of Messrs. Chapman and Cutler, New York City, and Messrs. Koontz, Hurlbutt and Revercomb, Charleston, W. Va. Acreage figures, in the absence of surveys, are estimated. These debentures are offered for delivery when, as and if issued, subject to the approval of counsel and acceptance by us. In the first instance, temporary debentures may be delivered pending the preparation of definitive debentures.

Application will be made to list these debentures on The Chicago Stock Exchange.

WALL ST. FINDS PARADOX; DRAWS ITS INFERENCES

Stocks' Decline and Bank Rate Cuts Confusing.

incident for the stock exchange, was greeted by the most sweeping decline in the "averages" since the middle of December, so also the rise of the same bank's rate to 6 per cent last August, traditionally a warning of trouble ahead, was followed shortly by the most violent rise in stocks that last year's markets witnessed.

The inference rather generally drawn was that even so striking an incident as the money market developments of last week and nine months ago are sometimes powerless to arrest the momentum of a seemingly inconsistent sweep of speculative prices.

Calls for Reëxamination.

When the 6 per cent rate was announced last summer the nation-wide speculative mania was at its highest pitch of violence. When 3 per cent was fixed last Thursday the retreat from an ill judged professional speculation for the rise was in full swing. Yet the very fact that the high money of nine months ago, though its implication for finance and industry was ignored by the markets of the day, had impressive influence a few months later, caused the question to be put last week whether the favorable influence of the present very easy money rate may not similarly have been only deferred. That question calls for reëxamination of the whole position.

The position last midsummer was simple enough. Stock speculation was stripping trade and industry of its normal capital supplies, threatening the stability of foreign markets, and injecting into the field of consumers' purchases a stimulus of so unstable a character that its early and sudden disappearance was a certainty. The existing position is more complicated. We do not yet know—it is never possible to know in the immediate sequel to a financial readjustment of such violence as last autumn's—just how much of the preceding "boom" in trade was itself of an unreal nature.

On this occasion the action of staple prices was thrown into the controversy, a consideration whose meaning is not yet wholly clear. It is distinctly not true that all the traditional weather signs are unfavorable.

Retire in 15 years on your Present living Budget

by investing in safe 6½% First Mortgage Bonds

Follow the definite plan given in the new edition of this famous book, and your financial independence is won. The plan works just as surely whether you are now earning $1,000 or $100,000 a year.

The way is certain—each step plainly indicated and absolutely safe—independent of luck, business genius or speculation.

Every fact has been harvested out of the 49 years' experience of Cochran & McCluer in the first mortgage investment banking business.

The plan is so simple any one can understand it—so definite any one can follow it—and so certain no one can fail.

In addition to the Financial Independence Plan and the unique budget schedule, the book gives suggestions that enable you to enjoy more of the good things of life, both while building your independent fortune and after you have attained it.

We invite the most skeptical to read this plain, straightforward, interesting book. Phone, call or send coupon. We employ no salesmen, therefore none will call.

DURING 1929, as during each year since 1881, every Cochran & McCluer investor received every payment of principal and interest promptly when due.

Appalachian Gas.

I would appreciate some information about Appalachian Gas corporation.—E. F. N.

Appalachian Gas corporation was incorporated in Delaware on Oct. 14, 1929, to acquire controlling or minority interests in natural gas companies operating in eastern states. Through subsidiaries it supplies natural gas under long term contracts to public utility and industrial companies, including United Fuel Gas Co., a subsidiary of Columbia Gas and Electric corporation, Hope Natural Gas company, a subsidiary of Standard Oil company of New Jersey, Owens-Illinois Glass company, and Libby-Owens Glass company.

Appalachian Gas corporation owns more than 99 per cent of the common stock of Ohio Southern Gas company, controlling interest in Wayne United Gas company, Ohio Valley Gas corporation, and Ohio Kentucky Gas company, and has substantial interests in Allegheny Gas corporation.

The company owns or controls 372 gas wells, 313 miles of pipe line, and gas rights in more than 200,000 acres of land in West Virginia, Kentucky, and Ohio. An extensive system of interconnected gas pipe line systems controlled by Columbia Gas and Electric corporation, Standard Gas and Electric company, and Standard Oil Company of New Jersey is located in this territory.

As a result of recent financing, the corporation has outstanding $2,500,000 of convertible 6 per cent debentures, due in 1945, and 2,117,001 shares of no par common stock out of a total authorized issue of 10,000,000 shares. Each $1,000 debenture is convertible into 100 shares of the corporation's common stock.

The stock represents participation in a new business venture and is, therefore, highly speculative at present. The debentures are semi-speculative.

Detroit Edison.

Would you please advise me as to whether or not Detroit Edison first 5s of 1933 are secured by mortgage and your opinion of the same?—C. M. N.

Detroit Edison company first mortgage 5s, due Jan. 1, 1933, are secured by a first lien on the entire property except the Connors Creek power plant and Huron River water powers.

They are further secured by pledge of the capital stocks of Edison Illuminating company of Detroit and Peninsular Electric Light company.

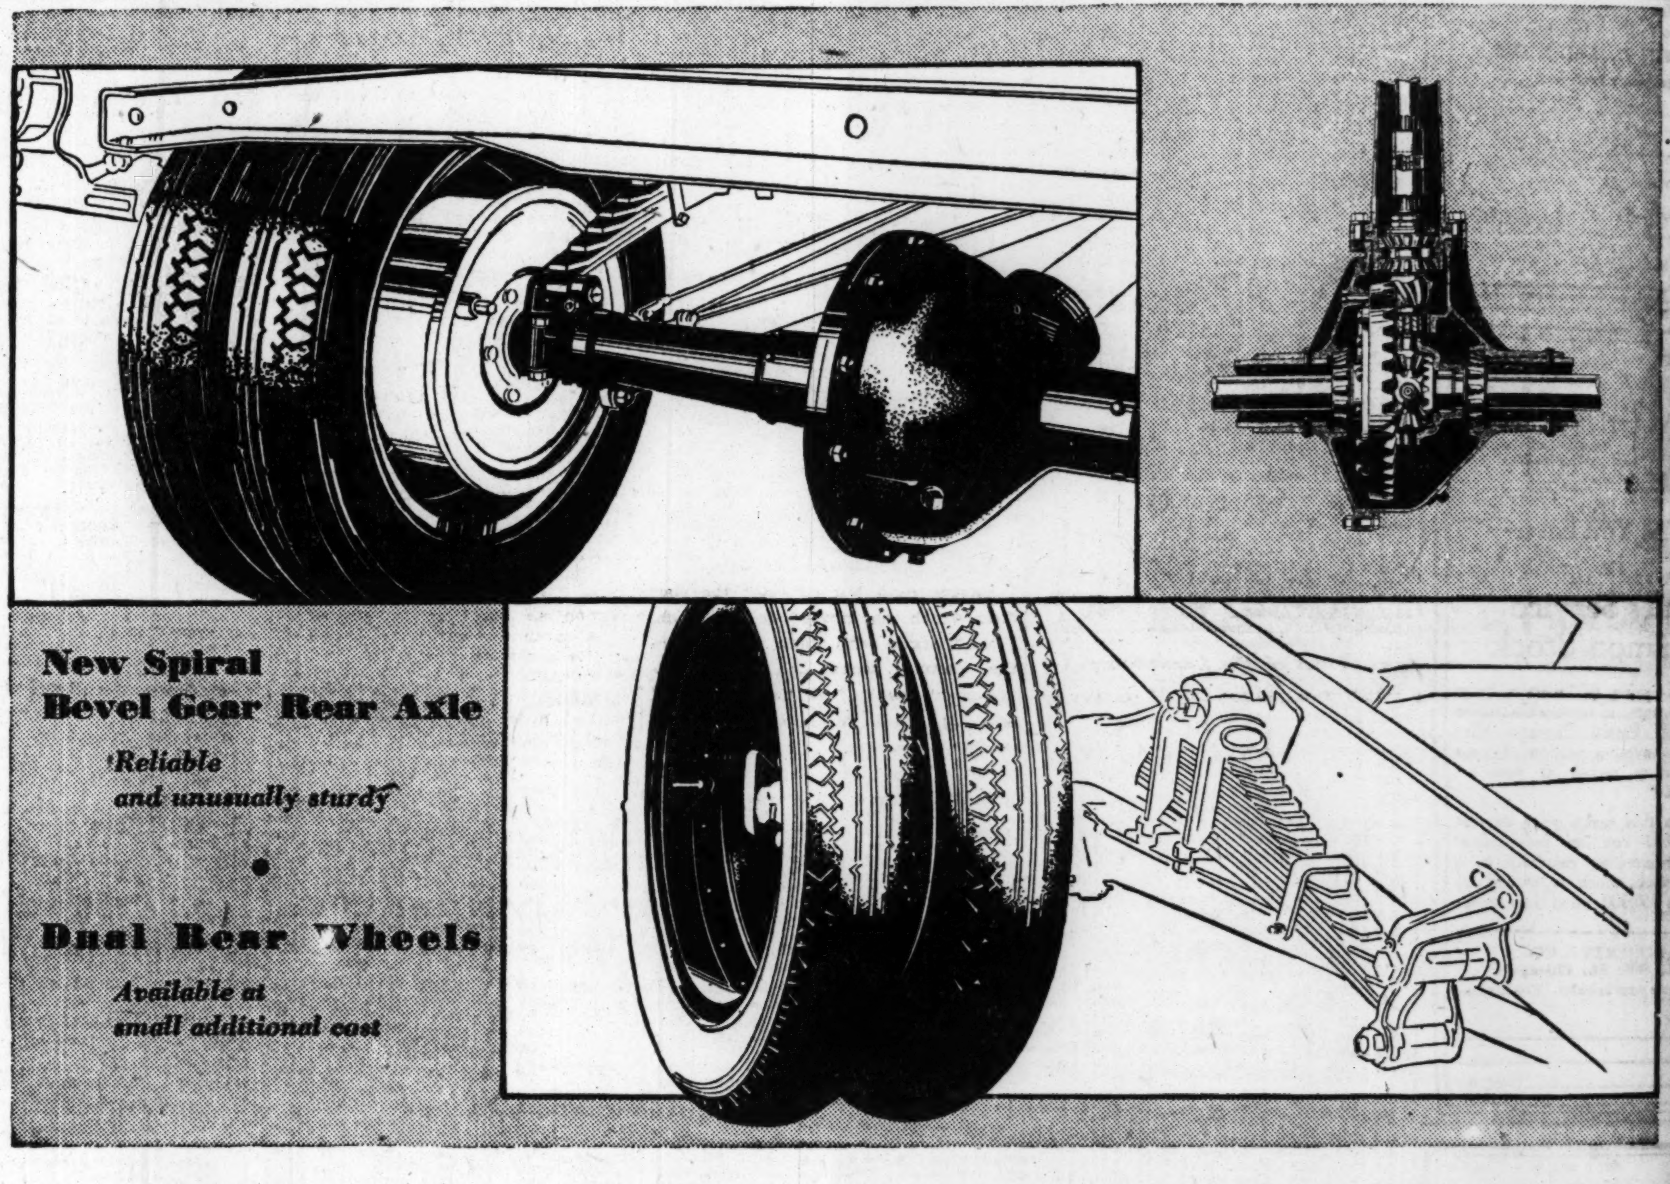
WINNIPEG CONSTRUCTION.

Construction work in the city of Winnipeg and in the Winnipeg district, which is completed and the balance of which is planned, totals $35,840,000.



New Spiral Bevel Gear Rear Axle
Reliable and unusually sturdy
Dual Rear Wheels
Available at small additional cost

Unusual features increase the value of the FORD TRUCK

THE Ford 1½-ton truck offers you long, reliable haulage service at remarkably low cost. Many features of the chassis combine to make the Ford truck a value far above its price. Important among them is the new rear axle, which is exceptionally sturdy. It has a spiral bevel gear of special design, with straddle-mounted pinion. Two gear-ratios are optional. The housing is unusually strong. The axle shafts are heavier, and because of the three-quarter floating type of construction, they serve only to turn the wheels, without carrying any of the weight of truck or load.

The new wheel and tire equipment is a feature which you will find both convenient and economical. Dual rear wheels can be installed at small additional cost. Balloon tires of one size are used throughout, with the dual equipment, so that all six steel disc wheels and tires are interchangeable all around. Only one spare need be carried.

Other features which add to the value of the Ford truck are the efficient four-cylinder engine, which develops 40 horsepower at 2200 r.p.m.; the 4-speed transmission, which gives a wide, flexible range of speed and power; the new front brakes, which have been enlarged to the same size as those on the rear wheels, providing increased braking area and a high degree of safety; and the new front axle and spring, which are heavier and stronger, as are front radius-rod, king-pins, wheel bearings and thrust bearings.

These and many other features indicate how well the Ford truck is designed for reliable service under every condition. You can inspect the truck at your Ford dealer's.

In addition to the Ford 1½-ton truck chassis, there is a commercial-car chassis to meet light-delivery requirements. A wide range of body-types is available for each model.

Ford

1½-ton truck chassis, $520

With Stake body and closed cab $675
With Panel body $800

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre-Paris train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received, just before sailing, a letter from Hermione Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't know the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey sees her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the servants and Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying in the apartment, as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells her that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey escorts her back to the apartment. The door is locked, but Geoffrey arouses Eduardo, who says he thought Miss West had come in long before.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner, where she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment she finds the gallery open for the first time and she goes in only to discover a number of the pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and the maid said they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is lying and believes she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender. Jeanne denounces Catherine to the invalid.

INSTALLMENT XXXI.

SPELLBOUND.

Jeanne went on with bitter scorn.

"Why does that fat singer urge madame to make her will? Madame is indeed insane if she cannot see into the hearts of Mme. Cushing and Mlle. West. Always this talk of the will, this fear that madame will die and leave these people penniless! Tell me—have I ever hoped that madame would leave me a single sou? Am I taking away with me more than I brought here? No, a thousand times no! Madame is turning away the one being who has tried to stand between her and these grasping——"

"Stop! Look, Jeanne, what you have done!" cried Catherine.

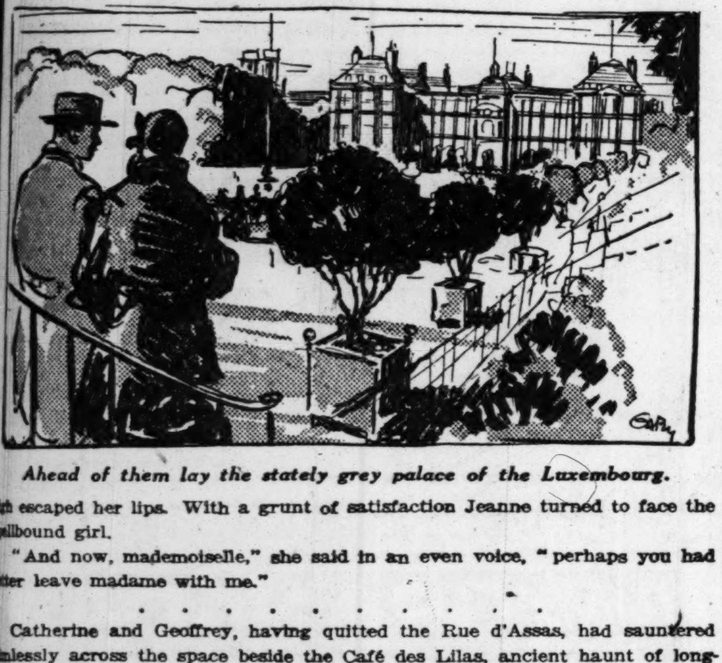
The form on the bed had collapsed. Mme. Bender had fainted.

Instantly a miracle happened. Jeanne, her entire bearing transformed, every sign of hysteria vanished, cast a single appraising glance at the dead-white face of her mistress, then going to a little medicine cupboard took out a bottle and measured a few drops of liquid into a glass.

Catherine watched the brisk, businesslike movements with amazement, saw her raise the limp body, murmuring, "Drink this, madame!" in a tone of complete control.

Parenthetically she noticed that the bottle was labeled "Digitalis."

In another second Mme. Bender's eyelids fluttered open and a trembling sigh escaped her lips. With a grunt of satisfaction Jeanne turned to face the spellbound girl.



Ahead of them lay the stately grey palace of the Luxembourg.

"And now, mademoiselle," she said in an even voice, "perhaps you had better leave madame with me."

. . . .

Catherine and Geoffrey, having quitted the Rue d'Assas, had sauntered aimlessly across the space beside the Café des Lilas, ancient haunt of long-haired poets, and turned into a narrow avenue of flowering chestnuts which leads, like the neck of a bottle, to the Luxembourg gardens. Now that they were alone the girl had hastened to pour out the story of all that had happened during the last week, her pent-up feelings finding relief in the recital. Yet that her companion, in spite of his evident sympathy, did not take the situation as seriously as she did was plain from the question he asked.

"But you aren't actually afraid of anything, are you? You don't think Mme. Bender is any the worse for what you've just told me?"

She bit her lip and considered for several seconds before framing a reply.

"I don't know what to say. On the surface things are going on much as usual. Mme. Bender was prostrated for two days, exactly as long as that woman kept to her word about leaving, but the minute Jeanne gave in and said she would stay my cousin revived again. Now she's just as she was before."

"Do you think this maid actually meant to go?"

"Not for a moment! I'm sure it was only a bluff on her part, but it was a most effective one. She's got her mistress now exactly where she wants her, more than ever under her thumb. I was blind not to see it before! Hermione was right. It's terrifying to think that any human being can be so completely dominated by another."

He let his eyes dwell on the straight parallels of chestnuts stretching ahead before speaking.

"I wonder if there's any use trying to persuade her to go into a nursing home? It seems to me she would be better off with expert care."

"Of course! I have thought so from the beginning. But it is very difficult, as the doctor pointed out to me when I spoke to him. She has got some morbid dread of being under restraint, and if one overruled her there's no telling what might happen. That, I begin to see, is at the root of her fear about losing Jeanne, who probably keeps her frightened with tales of French asylums."

"I understand! She believes Jeanne is all that is standing between her and a sanatorium."

"That's exactly it. The wretched creature gave it away during that tirade of hers. I tell you, she's fiendishly clever! It may only be the result of egotism and jealousy, but anyhow she's made Germaine believe she is the one person who has a disinterested affection for her. Every one else is an enemy—even me," she added in a low voice.

He glanced at her quickly. Her cheeks had flushed, there was a mist of tears in her dark eyes. There was no doubt about it, she was both humiliated and hurt.

"That's absurd!" he exclaimed hotly.

"Absurd or not, it's true! I can't bear to speak of it. You see, ever since that afternoon I have noticed a change in Germaine towards me. There's a barrier between us, she isn't frank any more and I know only too well it's because of those vile accusations Jeanne made against me. She thinks—O, it's too shameful!—that I am staying there simply for what I hope to get out of her."

"Can't you make her see how false all this is?"

"How can I? If I protest against the insinuations, the fact of doing so amounts practically to an admission. It's not as though she said anything openly, it's only a sort of subtle reproach in her manner. No, there's nothing I can do."

"Except," he suggested, "to leave there altogether."

She turned for a moment in his direction, then shook her head.

"I can't do that," she answered firmly. "I'd like to, but I daren't."

"Why?" he demanded. "It's not as though you could help matters by staying. What can you do?"

"Some one ought to be there," she replied obstinately, "if only to keep an eye on those servants. She's so utterly alone! Why, she even refuses now to see Hermione—another result of Jeanne's work. If I go away she'll be completely cut off from the world."

He nodded thoughtfully.

"I see your point," he said. "But, after all, you can't be with her long. What about your visit to Italy?"

"That's off—at least for the present. As a matter of fact, I have written to the Hardwickes—the people I meant to be with—to say I couldn't join them till later, if at all."

He raised his brows in astonishment. The news came as a welcome surprise, for the thought that Catherine had only a few weeks more in Paris was troubling him sorely, yet for all that he could not resist a protest.

"Are you sure that's a good idea? Aren't you sacrificing yourself rather needlessly?"

"I hope not. Anyhow, I've got to do it. I feel an awful sense of responsibility towards Germaine, and I must do what I can to straighten things out for her before I can leave her with a clear conscience. You would do the same in my place."

Seeing the futility of argument, he said no more. Secretly his heart exulted over the knowledge that he was not yet going to lose this girl who meant so much more to him than he yet dared to admit, even to himself.

In silence they crossed the street and passed through the iron gates into the gardens. Ahead of them lay the stately gray palace of the Luxembourg, and in the center of the amphitheater before it the round basin of water sparkled in the sunlight, white-winged boats gleaming on its bosom and a fountain lifting its plume of diamond spray.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

If all the world were to witness "Journey's End," it just seems to me there couldn't be another war!

Having read, but not seen the play from which this movie has been made, I can't argue with those who declare the picture lacks the legitimate's pognant appeal. "As tea to cognac" was Mr. Burns Mantle's comparison. Well, the screen adaptation of R. C. Sheriff's masterpiece may be tea to Mr. Mantle, but it was cognac to me. Human contact is missing, of course, when you get down to points, but, while watching the picture the illusion of that contact is so perfect that—you don't get down to points.

As a study of men under stress, "Journey's End" has rarely, if ever, been equaled. Their nerves strung to the breaking point; decency, honor, humor, pity under the steady fire of frightful suspense, Capt. Stanhope and his men carry on in dugout, trench and No Man's Land. And here again the director has scored smashingly. "O, this IS war!" you whimper to yourself as, with pounding heart, you watch the raid from which young Raleigh brings back his German prisoner and Osborne goes to his death. "This IS war . . ." as you live his gallant days with hard boiled, beloved Stanhope, who, though he must be buoyed up by whisky, gives every ounce he has and demands that his men shall do the same. [I suppose the censors said, "such a nice man; too bad he drinks!"] "This IS war . . . !" as bonny young Raleigh "goes west"—as Hibbert, the coward, starts unburdening his unclean mind; as the kindly, philosophical Osborne reads "Alice in Wonderland" to Raleigh while the two of them await the moment of departure for the raid—

Osborne—

"The time has come, the Walrus said,
To talk of many things—
Of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—
Of cabbages—and kings."

Raleigh—

"And why the sea is boiling hot
And whether pigs have wings——"

Osborne—"Now we're off! Quick! Let's talk about pigs! Black pigs or white pigs?"

Raleigh—"Black pigs. In the New Forest you find them quite wild——"

Osborne—"You know the New Forest?"

Raleigh—"Rather! My home's down there . . . ."

[I could understand that, al lright, because one time I went around the race track with Ray Harron and the only way I managed to keep from dying of fright was to shut off my mind to thoughts of speed and danger and think inconsequentially—"There's a chicken. That's a tree. Pie for dinner."]

Colin Clive as Stanhope is unforgettable. David Manners as Raleigh goes to your heart. Anthony Bushell is almost too convincing as Hibbert, the coward. Ian Maclaren makes Osborne a delightful, restful fellow, and Billy Bevan as Trotter gives a normal singing-in-the-bathtub note to the proceedings, for which you are almost pathetically grateful.

There isn't a woman in the cast. One is spoken of—that's all. The picture is absolutely faithful to the play, and when you consider how the producers COULD have garbled the original in transition—give thanks!

Direction by James Whale is the last word in adroitness. Mr. Whale knows men—cameramen included—and how to get the best they have to offer. There are striking photographic effects. The recording's splendid! Those whining shells . . . .!

Don't, I beg of you, miss this picture, for there never was such another war cinema as "Journey's End"!

See you tomorrow!

University of Illinois Gets Newman Medal for Educational Acts

Champaign, Ill., May 4.—[Special.]—The Cardinal Newman award for 1930 was conferred on Dr. David Kinley, president of the University of Illinois in ceremonies held in the chapel of the Newman foundation here this afternoon.

David E. Shanahan, speaker of the Illinois house of representatives and chairman of the state board of the foundation conferred the award on Dr. Kinley. Dr. John A. O'Brien, director of the Newman foundation, presided.

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson of Illinois and Michael L. Igoe, minority leader of the Illinois house of representatives, were among those making short addresses. Many prominent Roman Catholic clergymen from various parts of the state were present.

The Cardinal Newman award is conferred each year on a person, irrespective of religious or political faith, who has made an outstanding contribution to education, science, literature, philanthropy or statesmanship. Dr. Kinley was the unanimous choice of the state committee composed of Speaker Shanahan, Mr. Igoe, Edward Hines, Francis J. Lewis, David J. Bremmer, John P. McGoorty and Edward N. Hurley, all of Chicago.

"The highest honor conferred by the Newman foundation at the University of Illinois is the Cardinal Newman medal awarded annually to the person who has made an outstanding contribution to science, literature, education, or statesmanship," said the citation as read by Mr. Shanahan.

"At a time when voices were calling for a closing of the door of higher education to many," it continued, "opening it only to those especially favored by natural endowments, you stood unswervingly for the American ideal of democracy in education—opening it to all the ambitious young men and women who could meet reasonable standards and profit by the course pursued. By so doing you have furthered not only the dissemination of culture among the masses, but the progress of democracy in America."

Oak Park Church Organ Memorial to C. P. Anderson

Dedication of a pipe organ in memory of the late Bishop Charles P. Anderson of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, and a celebration of the third anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. Mansel B. Green began yesterday at the Episcopal Church of the Good Samaritan, Oak Park. Francis E. Aulbach, president of the west side choir association and organist of the Church of the Epiphany, gave a recital at the organ dedication in the evening. The Rev. Mr. Green, former Northwest mounted policeman of Canada, took charge of the church three years ago when it had only five members. Today the church has 300 members, and recently built a new church and rectory.

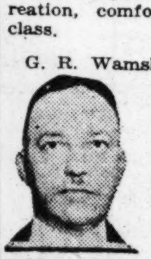
The Question.

What would you buy first if you were very wealthy?

The Answers.

Irene Davis, 4880 Kenmore avenue, home girl—I would like a yacht; I would enjoy it for the summer months. I would sail far from worries and cares, but I don't know where. A yacht is recreation, comfort, and class.



G. R. Wamsley, 3735 Ellis avenue, advertising—An ideal, completely modern home with a gymnasium, and a Roman type swimming pool in a room with mosaic walls and ceiling, and art tile floor.

Mrs. James Florek, 5252 South Washtenaw avenue, saleswoman—I would buy a nice home and manage to put some money in the bank for the future. I always notice newspaper pictures, plans, and descriptions of small homes, always hoping some day we can build one of our own.

W. H. Virgil, 1009 Davis street, Evanston, salesman—I would buy a home out in the Skokie district, and would make it my hobby, although I am a single man. This desire is the outgrowth of the belief that the home is the foundation and source of the best things that this life affords.

Miss Marie Wierus, 5236 South Kenneth avenue, saleswoman—I would buy myself a car, some clothes, and start on a trip to Wisconsin, then west, probably to California. But always it would be from town to town, scene to scene. I should want to remember what I saw.

Quiet Mothers Pass Like Echo of War Cheering

19 from Nebraska Are on Way to France.

Converging from training camps in many parts of the country, thousands of khaki clad boys hustled eagerly through Chicago's railroad terminals back in 1917, bound for "somewhere in France" and the great adventure of war. Yesterday, crowds in the same stations fell silent and made respectful way for little knots of gray haired, unpretentious women. Each wore a small gold star.

Guests of the government to which each of them has given a son in the war, the Gold Star Mothers each seek the grave of that son "somewhere in France." The women arriving yesterday numbered nineteen, all of them from Nebraska towns. They will sail from New York on May 7 on the America, practically all of them to cross for the first time the ocean on which the troop ships set sail under convoy thirteen years ago. They left Chicago yesterday at noon, part on the Wabash and part on the Nickel Plate, although all had arrived over the North Western.

Comfortably dressed, each of the group was attired in the matronly type of ensemble, with wide lasts and low heels to their shoes, and loose fitting long coats over modest street dresses. Most of the gray tresses peeping out from under the narrow hat brims revealed that the majority retained their long hair, as it was when their boys went to the war.

A few of the band clasped small boxes filled with a couple of handfuls of plain black dirt—soil from the homeland they intended to bury in the fields of Flanders where the American boys now lie.

Two Chicago members of the Gold Star Mothers greeted a part of the Nebraska women. They were Mrs. Katherine Milliken, 6450 Blackstone avenue, and Mrs. George S. Wood, 4200 Drexel boulevard, who represented Mrs. Frank Kellogg, president of the Illinois chapter.

Some of those who passed through the city yesterday were Mrs. Maude Ogg of Plainview, Mrs. Oliva Rasmussen of Tilden, Mrs. Sophia Strand of Newman Grove, Mrs. Ernest Beguin of Rushville, Mrs. Ella Hensinger of Tilden, Mrs. Minnie Skinner of Erman, Mrs. John W. Graham of Meadville, and Mrs. Frank McAuliffe of Chappell, all of them towns in Nebraska.

THIS IS THE DAY FOR CHARITIES THAT HELP AGED PERSONS

Lavender tags, self-explanatory with their picture of an aged couple toiling over the hills to the poorhouse, will usher in the first spring tag day of the year for charity today. More than 3,500 women and girls will sell tags on all busy street corners and railway stations to raise $100,000 for the aged, under the auspices of the Chicago Federation of Aged and Adult Charities.

Mrs. A. H. Brumback, president of the federation, said yesterday that the forty organizations banded together hope to reach their goal despite the recent recession in business. Last year tag day receipts totaled nearly $95,000, and the year before $99,000. Each organization receives what its own workers raise. Mrs. Brumback said that care of the aged is as urgent if not more so than for the young orphans, who have a chance for adoption.

The charitable groups to benefit are: Augustana Central home, Augustana Home for the Aged, Baptist Old People's home, Bethany home, Beulah home, Big Sisters, Bohemian Charitable association, Bohemian Old People's home, British Old People's home, Cathedral Shelter, Chicago Christian Industrial league, Chicago Home for the Friendless, Church Home for the Aged, Danish Old People's home, Deaconess and Woman's home, Evangelical Old People's and Orphans' home, Florence Crittenton Anchorage, Goodwill industries, Sarah Hackett Stevenson Memorial, Holland home, and Home for Aged Colored People.

Others are House of the Good Shepherd, Immanuel Woman's home, Norwegian Lutheran Bethseda home, Norwegian Old People's home, Paulist settlement, Presbyterian home, Protectorate of the Catholic Woman's league, Resurrection Day nursery, Scottish Old People's home, St. Joseph's Home for the Friendless, St. Elizabeth's hospital, Susanna Wesley home, Swedish Baptist home, Swedish Covenant home, Swedish Societies' Old People's home, Western German Baptist Old People's home, Phyllis Wheatley home, Woman's Church Federation Protectorate and St. Joseph's Home for the Aged and Crippled.

JULIAN STREET.

Miss Skibeness attended the State college of Washington, the University of Mexico, and the American Academy of Dramatic Art in New York. She is well known, as Margot Andre, for her direction of the blind in the Little Theater achievements of the Lighthouse players of New York.

Mr. Street was born in Chicago in 1879. In his novel "Tides," he depicted the growth of his birthplace from a fur trading post, and in "Abroad at Home" he wrote of his boyhood here. He married Ada Hilt of Laporte, Ind., in 1900, and has a son, Julian Street Jr., and a daughter, Rosemary.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Story of Christ Acted on Stage as Great Drama

Freiburg Players Begin Chicago Season.

FREIBURG PASSION PLAY.

And others.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The Freiburg Passion play, transplanted from its native Baden and adapted into a theatrical pageant with dialogue [spoken in English] began an engagement at the Civic Opera house last night. The great auditorium was filled; and a quiet, church going mood prevailed as the performance moved slowly through its many episodes to the accompaniment of organ music and an occasional chorale.

The Freiburgers have met the controversial subject of the physical representation of Christ on the stage without compromise. Theirs is a literal, straightforward use of the story of His persecution, crucifixion and resurrection as told in the Books of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. He walks plainly and clearly through this dramatic chronicle as a character acted with simplicity and spiritual grace by Georg Fassnacht Jr. He appears in a majority of the scenes. If Passion plays are to be given at all, certainly there is no escape from this direct realism.

The crucifixion also has been treated with the same literalism. There is no evasion of detail in the staging of this stark tragedy. Nor is there a substitution, which might be sanctioned under the circumstances, of an effigy for the living body of Georg Fassnacht Jr. as the protagonist is placed upon the cross. That scene lasts seven minutes, and is a thorough piece of reporting, covering all the facts that have been set down. The junior Fassnacht's last line in the drama is Christ's last line of agony as the immortal story is told in the Bible—the outcry of bitter agony from the cross.

As this drama runs, there is a great deal of scheming and haranguing from the priests of the Sanhedrin. They are almost always present in a group, forming a gang of conspirators. They are the villains, molding the story of Christ's last seven days on earth into plot form for the theater. The arranger of the dialogue seems to have been familiar with the standard technique of playmaking. His copious use of villains, as the "opposing force," suggests, in fact, the sophisticated mind of a professional author rather than the naïveté of a Baden peasant.

There are about a dozen Freiburgers of the ancient tradition in the cast, playing the principal characters; the other rôles have been filled for the American tour with English speaking actors. The Freiburgers themselves have studied English speech, and they do fairly well in communicating their meaning, although their diction is blurred, not with a German accent so much as with the vagueness which comes when a language is used without being thoroughly understood. The rôle of Judas, acted by the senior Fassnacht [father of the player of Christ] was almost entirely muffled with faulty diction. But in a few soliloquies, he used German, and seemed to become a different man—and a much better actor.

The costuming is rich and elaborate, following the story book illustrators' theories of the garments of ancient Palestine; and the groupings and movements of the numerous auxiliaries in the pageantry form some vivid pictures. The stage settings are along the lines of old fashioned grand opera; and an arrangement of inner and outer scenes permits the action to move through the many episodes without delay. The pace to which the performance has been timed, however, is retarded to liturgical rhythms. There is no movement on the stage except with the slowness appropriate to religious ceremony. This, no doubt, enforces the mood of reverence due a passion play, but it also makes the watching of it an affair of much patience and nervousness.

The acting [if it is permitted to speak of a Passion Play in terms of artistic skill] ranges from the amateur to the minor professional in method and manner. It has the virtue, however, of making itself heard over the wide reaches of the opera house.

Betty McNair, Frank S. Sims to Wed June 17

BY THALIA ——.

Miss Betty McNair, daughter of Frank McNair of 1430 Lake Shore drive, and Frank S. Sims, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Sims of 112 Bellevue place, are to have one of the large June weddings.

They have changed the date, originally set for June 25, to June 17, but the time, 8:30 o'clock in the evening, and the place, St. Chrysostom's, are the same. A reception at the Blackstone will follow the service.

Miss McNair's sister, Miss Caroline McNair, is to be her maid of honor, and Mrs. Walter Sanger Hinchman, the former Virginia Wallace, is to be matron of honor. The bridesmaids will include Miss Helen Shimmin, Miss Priscilla Sims, and Miss Edith Kritzer of Chicago and two out of town girls, Miss Joy Fletcher of Philadelphia and Miss Faye Rattenbury of New Britain, Conn. Both of them were roommates of the bride when she attended Dana hall. Barbara Gammie, the 5 year old daughter of the groom's brother-in-law and sister, the John A. Gammies of Great Neck, L. I., is to be flower girl. George Goetz Jr. will serve Mr. Sims as best man, and the usher list has not yet been completed. The pre-wedding parties will begin a week from Wednesday with a luncheon and matinee party to be given by Mrs. Harold Lewis.

Mr. Sims and his bride are going to Honolulu for their wedding trip. When they return they will go to the Sims' ranch in northern Michigan to stay until after Labor day. They will then be with Mr. McNair until Oct. 1. Then they will move into their own apartment at 73 East Elm street. Mrs. Hinchman and her husband, who have been living in Kansas City since their marriage a year ago last fall, recently have returned to Chicago and are living out in Winnetka, near Mrs. Hinchman's parents, the Walter F. Wallaces.

The Kenilworth Garden club is planning something unique in the way of garden shows—unique, that is, for this part of the world. Their affair, to take place on June 4 and 5 at the Village Assembly hall is to be patterned after the Chelsea fair in London, which several members of the club have attended.

A stage arranged to represent a small formal garden, the main hall set with floral displays in effective and original groupings, outdoor tea service under marquees and colored umbrellas, and members officiating in reseda green smocks and colorful garden hats are among the features planned.

Mrs. Edward J. Phelps is president of the club, and Mrs. S. Douglas Flood, member of the National Garden club board, is active in getting up the affair. There will be exhibits from the various other clubs in the country round about.

The Charlotte Cushman club benefit performance of the Freiburg Passion play at the Civic opera house takes place this evening. Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick and Mrs. Joseph B. Long, honorary president and president of the club, head the boxholders' list. That also includes Dr. Malcolm Harris, Mrs. Charles Kohl, Mrs. Hayden Harris, Mrs. Walter Wolf, H. H. Porter, and Miss Marjorie Ward.

Members of the auxiliary board of the Children's Memorial hospital, of the social service committee, and of the junior auxiliary are to receive at the hospital on "Hospital day," May 11, when the city's various hospitals are to keep open house.

The group of women will include Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Oscar W. Johnson, Mrs. Frederick H. Rawson, Mrs. S. T. Chase, Mrs. Sangston Hettler, Mrs. A. F. Madlener Jr., Miss Katherine Drake, Miss Roberta Harvey, Mrs. William Drake, Mrs. Pickett Withers, Mrs. Joseph King, Mrs. James C. Hutchins, Mrs. Thomas Miller, and Mrs. Peter Theurer.

The Robert M. Curtises sailed on Saturday on the S. S. Belgenland for a European trip, that is by way of being a belated honeymoon. They only took a short jaunt south after their marriage in January, as the former Mrs. Barnitz was so busy "doing" the new house at 1444 Astor street that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Russell have.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lindsay of Winnetka have returned from Ocean Springs, Miss., where they had been for six weeks, occupying Mrs. Frederick Thomas' cottage there. The Lindsays' two youngest children, Marjorie and Isabel, were with them for their entire stay, and the other three went on for their respective spring vacations. Miss Beatrice goes to Dana hall at Wellesley, Mass., and David and John attend the country day school in Milwaukee.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 4.—President Hoover did not take a week-end trip to his fishing camp on the Rapidan because of the condition of Mrs. Hoover, who is improving but was not able to go there with him. She comes downstairs each day now in her rolling chair.

Alexander Legge of Chicago, chairman of the federal farm relief board, was prophetic in his statement last winter that he would "as soon eat in the kitchen as at the right or left hand of his host," replying to a query as to what seat he would occupy at table, in his official capacity. A day or two ago he did literally eat in the kitchen at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Williams, [the former, of the farm relief board] at the old Brooke manor in Maryland just outside the District of Columbia border line.

Young Chicago Sings, Plays; Critic Praises

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Orchestra hall belonged to the Civic Music association yesterday afternoon. On the rising seats at the back of the stage there were something like 500 junior choristers, the combined choruses of the organization. The floor of the stage was occupied by some eighty orchestral players, somewhat older than the singers, but still by no means classifying as aged, the Civic Orchestra of Chicago.

It was the association's spring festival and the program was given entirely by subjects of its activities. The choristers were assembled from pretty well all over the city. Under the direction of Mrs. William Stanley Hine there were delegations from Blackhawk, Chase, and Welles parks; under Mrs. Russell Hendrickson, one from Gage park; Mrs. Stella Trane Jackson, Hamilton and Ogden parks; Mrs. Anna Kheiralla, Fellowship house, Chicago Orphanage, Cook County Juvenile Detention home, and Park Ridge School of Girls; Miss Hazel Meisterling, Davis square and Fuller park; Miss Gertrude McManus, Hamlin park; Miss Marian O'Connor, Chicago Nursery and Half Orphanage asylum; Miss Jessie M. Olin, Calumet, Grand Crossing, Tuley parks and Russel square; Miss Helen Wheeler, Sherman, Cornell, Palmer, Bessemer parks and Scanlan school; and Miss Elizabeth Dicks, McPherson school.

Both singers and orchestra were interesting beyond the ordinary. The tiny, chirping voices of the youngsters combined into something altogether appealing and touching as under the direction of Felix Borowski they sang groups that included folk songs, sacred songs, operatic songs, and modern classics. Like many other singers they were somewhat more interested in songs of cheerful tempo. They sang, for instance, the English, "Lavender's Blue" with more spirit than other more leisurely folk songs, and the spiritual, "Little David, Play on Yo' Harp," than some of the other sacred pieces. In fact, this one had to be repeated.

The orchestra, conducted by Franz Polesny, was heard in an altogether creditable performance of Wagner's "Rienzi" overture, and a more than creditable one of the Strauss "Tales from the Vienna Woods" waltzes, one that had tempo, spirit, and the tricky hesitations in rhythm that make Strauss waltzes more persuasive than most other waltzes.

At the same hour the Studebaker theater was crowded to the last row of seats by an assemblage of Chicago Slovaks who came to hear their own mezzo-soprano, Maria Halama, give a song recital of some of their own music. She is entitled to credit regardless of nationality, for she has a clear, brilliant voice that does things easily and surely. Just what she was singing about will never be related in this column, but the tone and quality of her voice are enough to carry her far in music. She was assisted by Frederick Dvonch, violinist, and Stefania Handzel, pianist, with Vladimir Polivka serving as accompanist.

When the curtain is raised on "The Chimes of Normandy" at the Civic theater tonight, Henry Thompson will appear as Henri, Marquis of Corneville, in place of Barre Hill, who is reported on the sick list with laryngitis. Mr. Thompson is a dramatic tenor who has sung with the Beecham, Royal Carl Rosa, and Covent Garden Opera companies in England, the French Opera company in Montreal, and in concert during a series of seasons in this country.

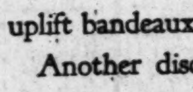
Kleinert's



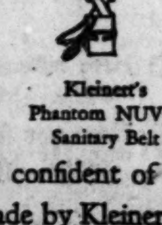
Kleinert's Mode Dress Shields in all colors

Women kept asking us for shields that would really match their frocks and here they are—Kleinert's Mode Dress Shields—in the same charming colors you are choosing for dresses and blouses. And when you don't want sew-in shields, there are Kleinert's Bandolairs—skilfully shaped uplift bandeaux with shields attached.

Another discovery in comfort is Kleinert's Phantom—the narrowest possible sanitary belt. It's made of a wonderful new material—NUVO—which cannot cut in nor slip down. Because of its construction, the greater the strain the more firmly it holds—comfortably, securely. The Phantom is invisible beneath your most fitted frocks and folds into the tiniest space for traveling.

After train and motor trips your skirts will be fresh and unwrinkled if you wear one of these dainty Kleinert's Sanitary Aprons shaped to fit smoothly under princess lines. And in emergencies, you feel serene and confident of its adequate protection, because it is made by Kleinert's, famous more than half a century for fine rubber goods.

Kleinert's New Shaped Sanitary Apron



Kleinert's Phantom NUVO Sanitary Belt

our stylist says:

TO BE SMART NOW YOU MUST BE FEMININE — WITH STRICT ATTENTION TO ALL THE NICETIES OF GOOD GROOMING. EVERY FROCK MUST HAVE ITS DRESS SHIELDS AND EVERY SKIRT ITS PROTECTIVE APRON OR STEP-IN.

Kleinert's Mirelle Powder is marvelously soft—free from any trace of grit—bland and smooth. An effective general deodorant and also a great aid in keeping reducers hygienically clean and lengthening the life of the rubber.

MOSCOW CALLS TROTZKY MENACE TO SOVIET PLANS

Considers Rise of Power Danger to Stalin.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, May 4.—Leon Trotzky, former war minister of soviet Russia and right hand man of the late Nicolai Lenin, is an exile in Islanbul, Turkey, but he still wields tremendous power, if an editorial in the Moscow Pravda means anything.

According to the Pravda, one of the official papers, the soviet régime now has two wings, the left headed by Dictator Josef V. Stalin, and a right opposition whose virtual head is the former war chief whom Stalin exiled. Troszky's adherents, admits the paper, may make such gains in influence at the 16th soviet congress, soon to be held in Moscow, that it is not impossible they may deal Stalin a fatal blow.

Violently Attack Troszky.

Characterizing Trotzky as a cunning, unprincipled, and treacherous politician, whose camouflaged actions are notorious, the Moscow organ not only accuses him of playing up to both factions, but also holds him responsible for all the setbacks the Stalin régime has suffered in its industrialization plan.

Trotzky's supporters are charged with putting obstacles in the way of the five year industrial plan and also of hampering the collectivization of the farms and the extermination of the Kulaks, or rich peasants, measures upon which the success of the proposed Stalin schemes depend since they are vital to the food supply of the proletarian cities.

May Try Comeback.

The 16th congress, asserts the Pravda, may well become a sensational one, for if Trotzky's gains there are sufficient it may pave the way for his eventual return to Russia.

Such a turn of events is felt not to be impossible despite the efforts that the Stalin group have made to stage a display of party unity by giving in to the demands of numerous malcontents in the soviet régime. A definite warning is sounded that the Communist party may have to face a crisis with Trotzky, the menace.

Ordered to Stop, Autoist Tries to Crush Policeman

The driver of an automobile which Patrolman Walter Duffy had ordered to stop for having 1929 license plates attempted to crush the policeman against a lamp post at 107th street and Vincennes avenue last night. Duffy evaded the trap, but was unable to overtake the car, which sped away. He followed in another car, firing twice at the tires of the fleeing machine, but was outdistanced. There were three youths and a girl in the car.

Hangs Self with Rope Tied to Light Fixture in Home

William Curtis, 57 years old, 6022 Rhodes avenue, hanged himself yesterday morning with a rope tied to a light fixture. With his wife, he had come to Chicago from Ohio recently, where he was a farmer. His health had failed and he hoped a less active life would improve it. Failing to benefit by the change, he became despondent. He and his wife had been living with a cousin, Mrs. Anna Williams.

Open National Music Week in Radio Program

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

National music week had a start in radio yesterday.

The responsibility for the important New York "concert of good music" through W-G-N 8:15 to 9:15, due to illness of the scheduled soloist, fell upon the studio male quartet and orchestra. However, Negro spirituals and other harmonious selections put the male quartet over in good style, and the orchestra found no difficulty in rendering high class compositions. A talk on music week was given during this program.

Libby Holman, musical comedy headliner, was the attraction on the W-G-N 7:30 to 8 orchestra program. Miss Holman has the blues in her voice, so she was a real radio headliner for those whose musical sympathies run to "St Louis Blues," "Can't We Be Friends," and "Moanin' Low" songs.

To another group of radio listeners, Toscha Seidel, violinist, through WJJD, 4 to 4:30, was the day's stellar soloist. On this program also was John Barclay, baritone. The half hour was too short for the quality of performance of both soloists.

The classical concert by the WENR staff, 9 to 10 o'clock is looming important as the summer season approaches. The orchestra is first class in every respect, the pipe organ comes in large with its own color, and the work of the various soloists is seemingly without fault.

The Sunday evening club services, through WMAQ, beginning at 7:30, is one of the great broadcasts of Sunday during the season.

Funeral Services Today for Mrs. W. F. Grower

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today at Graceland cemetery chapel for Mrs. Emily Stell Rooks Grower, wife of William Frederic Grower, 2329 Jackson boulevard. Mrs. Grower died early Saturday morning after an illness of two weeks. Though she was born in Shelbyville, Ky., her maternal grandparents, the Stells, were among Chicago's first residents. At the time of her death Mrs. Grower was completing a term of several years as vice president of the Chicago Municipal Art league. She was an active member of the Klio, the West End, and the Chicago Woman's club.

JOHN D. GIFTS SOFTEN FRENCH IRE AT "BORAHS"

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, May 4.—The philanthropic activities of the Rockefeller family in recent weeks have had the effect of allaying the friction in Franco-American relations inspired by tariff differences and certain aspects of the American diplomatic policies.

"Incompatibility frequently manifests itself between the French and the Americans," writes La Liberte, "but their good points always intervene to prevent any permanent rift in their natural affection. If a Borah disturbs their friendship, a Herrick intervenes and reëstablishes good feeling. Just when the French are beginning to meditate upon the extreme differences in mentality that separates the two races, we are obliged to take off our hats before some unexpected act of spontaneous generosity. Just when we are thinking what egoists those Americans are, we are obliged to change our thoughts into an exclamation of what generous fellows they are."

Similar reflections appearing in other newspapers say the gift of John D. Rockefeller Jr. to University City and another gift from the Rockefeller Foundation, announced by S. M. Gunn, for the preservation of the manuscripts in the French national library prove absolutely false the often heard declaration that Americans are materialists and not interested in intellectual things.

FINDS PAINTING SOLD FOR $400 IS MASTERPIECE

New York, May 4.—[Special.]—The story of how a painting bought at $400 at the auction of the Havemeyer collection a few weeks ago was identified as an original portrait by Titian worth about $150,000, was disclosed today by S. W. Frankel, publisher of the Art News. Mr. Frankel has just returned from Detroit with the first photographs of the restored masterpiece.

The original painting was revealed after overpainting had been removed and the canvas was placed on exhibition at the Detroit Art institute Friday with a series of paintings by Rembrandt. Dr. William K. Valentine, director of the Art institute and authority on painting, made the purchase.

WIFE OF NATHAN STRAUS, RETIRED MERCHANT, DIES

Mamaroneck, N. Y., May 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Lina Gutherz Straus, wife of Nathan Straus, retired merchant, who is widely known as a philanthropist, died today at her home. She was 77 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Straus devoted the last forty years to philanthropic work, since 1914, when Mr. Straus retired from the firm of R. H. Macy and Abraham & Straus.

They worked together in the Zionist movement, and many years ago became interested in the pasteurization of milk, establishing a laboratory for the distribution of such milk to the poor in 1892. Mrs. Straus prepared much material for publication on the relation of Pasteurization to health.

Born in Mannheim, Germany, Mrs. Straus came to New York in 1875 and was married to Mr. Straus in the same year.

Surviving are her husband and three children, Nathan Jr., Hugh Grand Straus, and Mrs. Sissie Straus Lehman.

DRYS FLAY QUEEN AND SON FOR VISIT TO TWO SALOONS

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 4.—Queen Mary and Prince George have caused the executive committee of the Grand Lodge of Scotland of the Independent Order of Good Templars, a dry organization, to protest, by their visit to two model saloons—one of which, conducted by a clergyman, has been blessed by the archbishop of Canterbury.

A resolution, passed at Edinburgh by the executive committee, says:

"Prince George visited a so-called public house, stood behind the bar and shook hands with regular customers, thereby countenancing what a royal relative, the late Prince Leopold, declared to be the only enemy England had to fear. We regret this all the more, as her majesty the queen recently visited another model public house in the same district."

ARRESTED IN STREET FIGHT.

Joseph Barker, 724 South Lotus avenue, a milk wagon driver, was charged with disorderly conduct on Saturday night after a street brawl at 55th street and East End avenue.

5 DIE AS POLICE QUELL MULATTO RIOT IN S. AFRICA

WORCESTER, South Africa, May 4.—(AP)—Four mulattoes and one Negro native were killed and 17 other persons injured in a three cornered battle with police today.

Capt. Barter's head was cut open with a hatchet during the fight in the streets and his condition is critical. The police intervened during a row between mulattoes and Negroes and were finally forced to open fire when stoned by the mob.

As the mob outnumbered them, the police were compelled to retreat. Reinforcements of 50 police were rushed from Cape Town, but the local police finally got the situation under control, though it was feared trouble might break out again. The authorities say the row was started by drink maddened mulattoes, known in South Africa as "colored persons," and not by the natives, who are pure Negroes.

A New Style in Milk

The New Style in Clothes

The new styles put a premium on the slender youthful figure. Hence . . . milady is again practicing "Watchful Weighting."

Dieting for the overweight is made less of a burden, less weakening, by the regular drinking of milk.

"Horrors!" you say, "Milk is fattening . . . and besides I get tired of it when I have to drink it regularly."

Pardon us, but milk isn't fattening, when consumed as part of a balanced diet . . . and you won't tire of this amazingly different new style of milk. "Selected" has a "Sweet Natural Taste," because we safeguard it with extra precautions at every step.

For persons who are underweight, the daily habit of drinking two or more glasses of "Selected," in addition to the regular meals, will round out the hollows and add needed poundage.

"Selected" Milk is finding wide favor in offices, factories, etc., where milk is enjoyed with lunches. Ask us for information.

It costs only 17 cents a quart to enjoy "Selected" milk — Drink it yourself, give it to your children, and to the other milk drinkers of your family.

You will say that you never found so much real satisfaction for the outlay of three pennies more. It is easy to make a trial of "Selected." SPEAK to any Borden milkman; PHONE Franklin 3110; or clip and MAIL the coupon.

his Art Show Full of Work Well Done

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

ow for a stunning four star. Tomorrow the Chicago Galleries association, 220 North Michigan open their annual spring exhibition of paintings and sculpture by artist members. It is one of the brilliant exhibitions of the season. Each artist apparently has to provide the show with the work he can do and in every with but one or two exceptions, paintings that have not been before.

for a moment before starting list of paintings we might mention the exquisite bit of sculpture by beth Haseltine. She has conceived the colt, Pegasus, a graceful delicate baby horse standing erect the four slim legs and gently turning his head to sniff with puzzled nostrils, velvety soft, at the pair of surging wings which are sprouting his shoulders. It is a delightful of modeling.

car Gross offers a superb portrait Carl Preussl, one of the most distinguished paintings in the gallery. Collins submits an adorable portrait of his young daughter "Muggins" who has attained the ripe age nine months and can sit alone in baby carriage. Beatrice Levy gives one of the most charming portraits of her career. It is of an old and beautifully handled. Holger offers a colorful landscape the Realm of the Smokies". O. Berninghaus is responsible for "Harvest", a gorgeous canvas, the painted blue in the corn kernels a triumph in effective coloring.

"Pitcher and Fruit" by Josephine Reichmann is clear, cool, orderly realism at its best, a delightful picture. Marshall D. Smith has a highly decorative "Old New Orleans". "Disciples" by Frederic Victor Poole unusual. Gerald Frank offers two paintings and Francis Chapin Joseph Allworthy each give a remarkable still life. Frederick V. Tellander has a stunning modernist canvas, original and vivacious, the "Arc Triomphe". Lucie Hartrath offers beautiful landscape, "After the"; Stark Davis a gorgeous parrot in "Fruit"; and Charles P. Killgore a romantic and decorative epic "The Fiesta".

Among the other artists represented Pauline Palmer, Frank V. Dudley, th Sherwood, Alice Siems, John vid Brcin, Emory P. Seidel, Felix sman, Joseph Birren, Marques itzel, Karl Ouren, Mabel Torrey, Stafford, Karl Crafft, Anna Hills, F. Stacey and Irma Renée Koen. The exhibit will continue to June 1.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Every state but Pennsylvania has officially adopted flower, according to a recent survey made by the American Forestry association. The results are printed in the May issue American Forests and Forest Life magazine.

Illinois has what flower? It shares the violet with New Jersey, Rhode Island, and Wisconsin. Hand in hand with the violet for popularity is the rose, with Georgia selecting the Cherokee rose; Iowa, the wild rose; North Dakota, the prairie rose; and New York, a rose.

New Hampshire has its lilac; Vermont, the red clover; Michigan and Arkansas, the apple blossom; Delaware, the peach blossom; District of Columbia, the American Beauty rose; Ohio, the red carnation; Florida, the orange blossom. Oklahoma adopted the mistletoe in 1893, said to be the first state to complete such procedure. Minnesota followed, but selected a species not found in the state and later changed to the showy ladyslipper, frail woodland blossom of the orchid family.

Montana named the bitterroot as its flower, Louisiana and Mississippi have the magnolia, and West Virginia and Washington have the rhododendron. Kentucky first named the trumpet vine, but in 1926 changed to goldenrod. Kansas is the sunflower state, while the cone and tassel of the white pine, "first born of the flowers," designate Maine.

The stowaway field daisy, which waves in glory over many a conquered hay field, is the state flower of North Carolina. California recognizes the poppy, Arizona the cactus, Massachusetts the Mayflower or trailing arbutus. Missouri likes its hawthorn tree and Idaho pays tribute to the syringa. Oregon has named the Oregon grape, South Carolina the yellow jasmine, Maryland the black eyed Susan, with Tennessee, Virginia and South Dakota selecting, respectively, the passion flower, the dogwood, and the pasque flower.

The yucca or soap wood recently replaced the cactus in New Mexico in popularity. Wyoming honors the Indian paint brush or painted cup, Texas the blue bonnet, and Colorado completes the list with the columbine.

Our neighbor has a large police dog that barks at all the passing cars. Not long ago there was another dog chasing cars and Jack, aged 4, came running to me, saying, "Mother, the police dog must be sick."

When I asked him why, he replied, "Because he has another dog helping him bark." MRS. D. A.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Rolls and Coffee Cake.

An old fashioned iron roll pan is a substantial and serviceable utensil. The products baked in it have a most gratifying crust, and for people who like little pieces of fresh bread and can eat them without gaining about two pounds a week or more, the following old fashioned soda roll is recommended: One cup of bread flour, one cup of sour milk, one-half teaspoon of soda, one teaspoon sugar, and a little salt. Sift the flour twice with the other dry ingredients. Beat the sour milk well with the egg beater and then beat the flour gradually into it. Have the iron roll pan hot and well buttered, drop in the batter, and bake the rolls for fifteen minutes in a 500 degree oven.

Little bits of dough, like a batter, whether yeast dough or the quick sort, can be baked in as hot an oven as that without being browned too much or burned, but they must be removed instantly, and these rolls should also be removed from the pan at once or they will lose their crispness. Well baked, they come out of a clean, smooth, well buttered iron well in perfect shapes, and where they touched the iron they will be almost glazed.

To make a quick coffee cake use the following formula: One and one-half cups flour, one level teaspoon salt, two to four tablespoons sugar, two teaspoons baking powder, one egg, one-half cup milk, two teaspoons butter, and most of the grated rind of one small lemon.

For the top take two tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon flour, and the white of one egg. Mix these and spread them over the top. This top is different from most and highly satisfactory. The bread or coffee cake is excellent for breakfast, for luncheon, or afternoon tea.

Any Parent Can Have Information on Baby Health

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

A "Sex Education Booklet" by Mrs. Bevans will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

National Baby week must have filled the very air with waves of thought on the subject. With so many thousands of people thinking and reading about babies at the same time, with such a great wave of interest in one subject there must be consequences. Such concentration must bear fruit.

How interesting it would be if we could actually know what the results of Child Health day and National Baby week have been—not in mere figures which often say too much or too little, but in the caring and the feeling which often flower in a way that defies the statistician.

One of the outstanding facts which these special days bring to our notice is this—that parents without money have at their disposal the best information and skill available on baby and child care, if they will only reach out for it. In some instances, information is even thrust upon them by welfare societies, district nurses, baby stations, and other agencies, as well as the public schools. In addition, the United States government and the various state governments have a veritable wealth of knowledge which has only to be asked for to be obtained, in almost every case free of charge.

Their books and booklets cover, one might say, the whole field of baby and child care. They start with prenatal care and carry through. Diets are given, for instance, for babies and children of different ages. Schedules of living and the management of children are covered. Sex education, sun baths, instruction for the mother who must travel with her baby—all these are written of by people of authority in the various fields. Psychological or behavior clinics are growing in number. Many magazines and newspapers have articles and a service department for the interest of parents.

All these means are at hand for the use of those parents who cannot afford the frequent advice of physicians and the cost of expensive books. Let us hope that Child Health day and National Baby week have made many of these fathers and mothers aware of how easy it is to get information on the subject of child and baby health.

"Anything But Company."

Ever since we have been married I greet my husband at the door with the query, "What would you like for dinner?" Can you imagine our mutual embarrassment the other evening when, in response to my usual greeting, he exclaimed, "Anything but company!" and then saw in the living room several callers whom I had invited to stay and have dinner with us. Navy Blue and White Steps Into Popularity

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Those two old affinities, blue serge and white linen, have returned to Paris daytime fashions. This is good news to most women, for there is no combination so youthful, fresh and universally becoming as this general favorite. When the spring sun begins to make fur and velvet look dusty, it is refreshing to change into a new sartorial skin of crisp navy blue serge and white linen. Chic Parisiennes have eagerly seized upon this rejuvenating fashion. Paris couturiers announce that they can't make enough navy blue and white costumes. Worth say that they're selling more blue than anything else for afternoon wear this spring.

Jean Patou, who is the creator par excellence for the modern young woman, shows many navy blue costumes, lightened by lingerie touches of pale pink or white. He makes this delightful little suit of navy serge. Its short jacket has borrowed its cutaway front and pointed back from the Spanish toreador's bolero, but the square shoulders, standing collar and roll revers are smartly Patou. The beltless skirt mounts to a high natural waistline. It flares toward the bottom in front and in the back has three inverted box plaits which accentuate the long limbed effect. A hip pocket is set into the asymmetrical yoke at the right side.

The sleeveless blouse of white linen, trimmed with hemstitching in a geometrical design, has a tiny sailor collar. Two white linen flowers with picot edged petals form the boutonniere. Either a béret of white dotted blue tricot or a cloche of starched linen piped in blue would be chic worn with this ensemble. Navy blue, low heeled Oxfords, white doeskin slipon gloves, and stockings that match your skin as closely as possible complete the picture.

That Much Envied 'Bandbox Look' Takes Work to Acquire

by Antoinette Donnelly

A catchword will greet your eye every now and then that serves to summarize a whole sermon. The "bandbox look" was one that held my interest long enough to run over a group of acquaintances and pigeonhole them according to the meaning of that look.

"Bandbox" is an old fashioned word for use in connection with a glorified girl. Its appearance in print the other day recalled one of those ridiculous impressions a child can build out of a word. As a small one myself I recall rushing out the door to see the bandbox out of which a certain beautiful caller was overheard to have stepped.

Anyway, in an article on women and beauty parlors the "bandbox look" jumped out at me. Its definition followed as "the look that comes only with care for appearance."

It is pretty generally recognized that every woman cares for her appearance, so the bandbox lookers ought to be fairly common property. But are they?

Isn't it just another of those things that some women are born with, some acquire and some never seem to get the hang of regardless of how much time and money they spend on themselves? You see among small girls the potential bandbox lookers and those with the discouraging promise of never acquiring it. One youngster with a flair for neatness parks her clothes at night in tidy rows, the other takes the order to put her things away tidily as a punishment, each looking most of the time the counterpart of their respective performances.

However, even among the small ones there is a marked tendency to acquire what they seem to have been born without. Beauty improvement consciousness seems to strike deeper and deeper into the fiber of the femme, no matter what her age, as time goes on. The small ones hear the grown ones talk about it; the grown ones hear their neighbors and the neighbors listen to the various voices preaching from beauty pulpits, signboard, advertising page, woman's page, and so on. So that the circle seeking the bandbox look grows and grows.

No need to describe what it is, for when you see it you know it as well as I. But if you want to know why Jane has it and you haven't maybe you will find the puzzle solved for you by studying Jane and noting how truly and conscientiously and consistently she does care for her appearance.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

Party Boy and Home Girl Ought Not to Join Forces

BY DORIS BLAKE.

He likes boisterous people and their cocktail parties. She hates them. She does not enjoy meeting people. He does, and makes up readily with the members of any new group he happens to be thrown with. She is afraid that if they marry instead of the few selected friends of her taste, her house will be overrun with crowds out for a good time only.

She loathes the type of story that is heard where cocktails and spirits flow recklessly. She has none of the modern parlor accomplishments practiced in the vicinity of the punch bowl petting, mauling or being mauled, imbibing, story telling, smoking, et cetera. And he, to sum him up, is traveling representative for the order of Hail, Fellows, All Wet, and Reckless.

Alone and away from the maddening crowds, she says, they seem ideally mated. But when any of his friends step in, there is a quarrel. They wonder if they should marry. She says that they have a good many tastes in common—good shows, music; good clothes and a few other things about as relevant to the sturdy requirements of a long and agreeable life together.

Offhand, we'd say that if two people ever were born to meet and not marry, the above outlined two would be the couple.

With all due respect to good shows, music, and good clothes, they would hardly be expected to see a worried couple through a session of the mumps, say, or a period of nonemployment, or a financial crisis of any sort. Marriage not being one long Roman holiday, entertainment features have to be classified purely as entertainment features, in a contemplated union. That's objection No. 1 to the proposed match.

Objection No. 2 is the disparity in temperaments. The idea of the play boy marrying the homebody may have its defenders, but I'm not one of them. It might work if women were not so universally given to making over their men immediately they have them legally tied.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

She Teases Him.

"Dear Miss Blake: The girl I love kids me about an old girl friend. Is this politeness on her part? BOB."

Not so polite and it does grow tiresome. Pay no attention and she'll soon stop.

WANTED—MALE HELP.

Miscellaneous.

I WANT A MAN

Employed during the day who desires to add to his present income.

I DO NOT WANT YOU TO SELL ANYTHING.

I want you to work with me 2 hours each evening, 3 evenings each week. Must have lived in Chicago at least three years, be over 30 years of age and preferably married, with a real desire to improve the condition of yourself and family.

The work is congenial, requires no previous experience and will pay you hansomely for the time you invest.

See MR. FAX, 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., Room 346, 29 S. La Salle-st.

TURN YOUR SPARE TIME INTO DOLLARS!

You can earn from $30 to $50 per week explaining an entirely new banking service in connection with a loop national bank, to your friends and to people in your own neighborhood. This is something entirely new and has never been done by any bank before.

If you want extra cash and are willing to work for it and take instructions, call Wednesday, May 7, at 8 p. m., Suite 610, 330 S. Wells-st.

Permanent Position

Two men with ambition to become salesmen will be given a chance to qualify for exceptional opportunity with corporation rated AA-1, operating nationally. Men with desire to build future independence will find earnings above average to start. Neat appearance and local references essential. Apply 10:30 to 3 Monday and Tuesday.
ROOM 1214, 5 N. WABASH-AV.

MEN TO OPERATE E. N. SERVICE STATIONS

in and outside of Chicago, with a national chain organization; handy and willing workers who can operate without a boss; immediate and continuous income, with a future; a security of $100 required for equipment, tools, and collections. Write or call.
E. N. Manufacturing Co.,
303 W. Chicago-av.

AMBITIOUS MEN

FOR OUR NEW 1930 DEVELOPMENT. Whether you have had any real estate experience or not, if you are 25 or over, we will place you in a position which will pay you from the start more than you ever earned before. We furnish excellent leads and unusually valuable co-operation.
PERCY WILSON & CO.,
3d floor. 100 N. La Salle.

Out of Town Manufacturer

will interview men for local sales force. Men over twenty-five, preferably with car, with or without selling experience. Must have A1 references and be willing to work. Apply Rm. 1010, 510 N. Dearborn-st.

HONEST, IF YOU ONLY KNEW HOW STUPID YOU ARE !! RENTING A BIG OFFICE LIKE THIS AND JUST SITTING IN IT DAY AFTER DAY, WITH NO BUSINESS OR ANYTHING! IT'S NOT ONLY DUMB — IT'S POSITIVELY SHAMEFUL !!
OH I DUNNO!
WITH EVERYTHING GOING OUT AND NOTHING COMING IN — I SHOULD THINK YOU'D CUT EXPENSES BY GETTING RID OF THE THINGS YOU DON'T NEED AROUND HERE!
YEAH?? WHAT'S ONE THING AROUND HERE I DON'T NEED?
THAT TELEPHONE, FOR INSTANCE !! THAT'S AN EXPENSE AND YOU NEVER USE IT !!
I DON'T HEY ??
ONLY THIS MORNING I HAD FOUR WRONG NUMBERS ON IT !!

NEW MEXICO RANCH
FOR SALE.
53 acres of land on the west bank of the romantic Rio Grande del Norte, the opposite bank to the wonderful State Highway between Taos and Santa Fe, fifty miles from Santa Fe.

Besides having a frontage of nearly half a mile on the Rio Grande, which river is becoming more and more noted for its excellent trout fishing, this property is peculiarly beautiful and one of the most remarkable sites for a home that could possibly be imagined. Numerous springs emanate from the base of the 1,000 foot cliff that backs the property on the west and furnish more than an abundance of water for any extensive orchard or garden that might be desired.

It is so situated that neither early nor late frosts would endanger any fruit that is adaptable to this part of the country.

Lowest Rate in Chicago on Household Loans $100 to $300

By reason of the large volume and by limiting our service to the larger loans, from $100 to $300, "Household" has been able to reduce its interest rate to almost one-third less than the charges permitted by law.

Here Is the Cost

On 20 Month Payment Plan:

$100 Average monthly cost	$1.32
$200 Average monthly cost	$2.63
$300 Average monthly cost	$3.94

Other amounts at same rate.

WE DO NOT NOTIFY your employer, neither do we make inquiries of your friends, relatives, or tradespeople.

NO ENDORSERS. If you are unable to call at our office, phone or write and we will send a representative to your home.
